About Tasmania

Tasmania is Australia's smallest and most southerly state, and it is the only island state of Australia. It is located 250 kilometres (150 miles) south of the Australian mainland, separated by Bass Strait.

Tasmania has a cool temperate climate with four distinct seasons and rarely experiences hot or cold extremes. The population of Tasmania is approximately 512,000 with nearly half (216,000) residing in the greater Hobart area.

Tasmania boasts pristine white beaches, access to the freshest and largest variety of produce and multiple cultural experiences. The beauty of Tasmania is complemented by the friendliness of its locals. Tasmania offers high levels of public safety, short commuting times, an inspiring lifestyle and vibrant welcoming communities.

Tasmania is just a short 55 minute plane trip from Melbourne or 90 minutes from Sydney. Regular flights are scheduled in and out of Hobart that align with international flight arrival and departure times.

About the School

Our main campus is located five kilometres from Hobart's city centre with expansive grounds overlooking the picturesque River Derwent and the University of Tasmania is next door. The Hutchins School has modern classrooms, state-of-the-art science and computer laboratories, three libraries, high-speed broadband connection, a Performing Arts Centre, a chapel and a newly redeveloped boarding house. Our extensive sporting facilities include three playing fields, a gymnasium, one fully equipped rowing training facility and six tennis courts.

Choosing a boys school has many advantages. At Hutchins we provide learning spaces specifically designed for teaching boys, this includes providing resources and designing programs that meet the educational and developmental needs of boys. Australian Tertiary Admission Ranking (ATAR) 2019

The ATAR is the primary means used to assess and compare the results of school-leaving applicants for entry to the University.

Co-operating schools

Interaction with girls is of great importance and this is achieved socially through drama, activities and events whilst still giving the boys the opportunity to learn independently in an environment tailored for them. In Years 11–12 a unique co-operating schools model exists where boys may attend subjects at our sister school St Michael's Collegiate, and our co-operating school, Fahan School.
