CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

2009 has been another challenging and successful year for the School.

It has been successful in terms of the School's achievements, be they academic, sporting, artistic or community-minded and everyone is to be congratulated for their efforts.

2009 has been challenging in terms of unexpected issues that have arisen, for example the H1N1 flu epidemic that threatened the School early in Term 2. Thanks to a clear policy and an excellent response and adherence to that policy, the School was able to continue to operate. I thank you all for your response and in particular to those staff who remained fit and willingly took on additional responsibilities.

Another challenge that arose in February was the opportunity for the School to participate in the Federal Government's Building the Education Revolution (BER stimulus package). While this was a once-in-a-generational opportunity for the School, the challenge for us was to lodge detailed submissions and gain approval within a very short time frame. The School applied for two of the three classes of funding available, those being minor refurbishment works for primary schools and significant project works for a new library learning centre.

Within days of the BER stimulus package being announced, a project team was formed consisting of Board members Chris Holloway and Ian Johnstone, who have engineering skills, being directors of Johnstone McGee and Gandy, in addition to the Headmaster, the Business Manager Jenny Self, Maintenance Manager Ken Barnes, architects Heffernan, Button and Voss and quantity surveyors Matrix. Shortly after Fairbrothers was appointed as the preferred builder of the library learning centre and David Williams builder for the Junior School project.

Detailed drawings and costings were received for the Board to consider and fine tune. Costings went to the Finance and Audit Committee to consider and report back to the Board. The Strategic Planning Committee considered the practical layout of the plans to ensure they achieved the educational and curriculum outcomes that were hoped for, with a view to the increasing use of technology in education. The Planning and Development Committee ran the project team and dealt with architectural drawings and costings.

After many Board meetings, we were able to deliver our successful submissions for both the Junior School entrance refurbishment, worth approximately $250,000 from the BER funding, and the new library learning centre in the Senior School, for which we received $250,000 from the BER funding and contributed close to the same from other sources, including a generous donation from The Hutchins Foundation, to make it a $500,000 project.

The library learning centre, when completed by late next year, will no doubt make a significant contribution to the overall operations of the School and the educational outcomes for boys from all years, not just the senior years.

In addition to these extensive works we have also undertaken significant and well-overdue renovations to the Boarding House and more work is currently being planned for this building as we remain strongly committed to boarding at Hutchins.

Strategic Plan

Last year we launched our Strategic Plan and it gives me much pleasure to say that already many of those objectives have either been achieved or are well on the way to being achieved. Six strategic visions were the core to the Plan and in order to progress these, six change teams were formed and volunteers from staff sought to serve on these teams. As a measure of the commitment and the spirit among the staff at the School these teams filled very quickly. The Board were very privileged to be given an annual update at the end of Term 2. The level of pride and enthusiasm shown in the six presentations from the teams was impressive and assured the Strategic Plan is on track to delivering positive change. To all the staff involved I thank you on behalf of the Board of Management.

Mr Scott Harvey

Board of Management

I believe the Board of Management reflects an excellent mix of skills and personalities and is well qualified to undertake the complex and varied tasks confronting our school.

This year has seen one change; Mr Ian Johnstone completed in March the maximum allowable term of ten years. Despite this, Ian remained on our BER project team until the successful submission was completed. Ian's involvement with Board matters actually goes beyond that time period, having been appointed in an ex officio role to the Planning and Development Committee in the mid '90s before his 'official' appointment to the Board in 1999.

Ian's knowledge of all things Hutchins extended well beyond the physical surroundings, given his engineering background, and covered matters of educational, financial and strategic challenges and opportunities confronting the School from time to time. His leadership and business acumen from running a very successful business were obvious and have been a great asset to us. We have been very thankful for Ian's wise counsel over the years. The Hutchins community is deeply indebted to you Ian for your extensive and lengthy contribution to the life of the School.

This year we welcomed Mr John Groom. John is a director and owner of Hobart-based business Acrodata which provides document management solutions to the professional services, corporate and government sectors. John is an old boy of the School and brings with him IT skills in addition to legal skills to further complement the skill base present on the Board.

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

The Board comprises three sub committees; these sub committees work closely with the Headmaster and Deputy Headmaster. The Planning and Development Committee is chaired by Mr Charles Brothers assisted by Mr Chris Holloway and myself. This committee continues to evaluate the School's buildings and facilities and of course is heavily involved in the BER projects and continues to assess the ongoing refurbishment of the Boarding House.

this committee has overseen the development by the Business Manager of a ten-year financial plan

The Finance and Audit Committee is chaired by Mr Lance Balcombe with assistance from Mr David Morris and myself. This committee works closely with the Business Manager Ms Jenny Self and has spent considerable time reviewing the budget for next year in an effort to ensure the School continues to deliver in a financial sense.

In addition, this committee has overseen the development by the Business Manager of a ten-year financial plan to enable us to project the impact, for example, of sudden changes in student numbers or the commencement of another major building project on the overall financial wellbeing of the School.

Mrs Pam Windsor, Mrs Megan Ayliffe and Mr John Groom have been of great assistance to me on the Strategic Planning Committee. This committee works with the Headmaster and has spent considerable time on monitoring the strategic planning process and on approval of a re-branding project that is evident in our new signage.

In addition, this committee has been involved with curriculum developments on a national basis as well as important improvements in curriculum. The committee also recommended the change in title from Principal back to Headmaster to better reflect our traditions, history and culture.

I thank my fellow Board members for their support throughout the year, for volunteering their time and expertise to the School and particularly for their attendance at several long meetings to ensure the building works that recently have commenced were possible.

The Headmaster

I would like to thank our Headmaster Mr Warwick Dean for his continued strong leadership and management of the School. The Board and the Headmaster have established a relationship based on a clear understanding of the principles of corporate governance. There is no doubt that it is a difficult task being the Headmaster of Hutchins but Mr Dean has managed this task very well this year and in doing so has upheld the values we hold true.

Staff

I would also like to recognise the efforts of the Deputy Headmaster, Mr Barrie Irons, and the Heads of Schools, Mr Ian McQueen and Mrs Jenny Manthey, and thank them for their dedication and enthusiasm. We all wish Mr Chris Rae a speedy recovery from his serious illness. Thank you to Mr John Overton and many staff who covered for Mr Rae.

I would also like to recognise the efforts of all staff for their dedicated teaching and guidance

I also thank our Business Manager, Ms Jenny Self for the complex work undertaken in running a business the size of Hutchins and the Headmaster's Personal Assistant Mrs Carol Marshall for their assistance and support at Board meetings.

Thanks also to our Director of Events, Marketing and International Relations, Mrs Annie Weatherburn, for her efforts in continuing to expand our international reputation, which resulted in another Austrade export award for the second year in a row.

I would also like to recognise the efforts of all staff for their dedicated teaching and guidance. Their efforts are critical in providing for the welfare and development of our boys. I thank the staff for their willingness to embrace change to ensure the School achieves its educational targets and to ensure we offer the best outcomes for our students. I also particularly thank those long-serving staff members who are leaving or have left this year – Mr Alan Dear (29 years), Mr Lance Morrisby (23 years) and Mrs Robyn Collis (21 years). We thank them for their tremendous service to our School and wish them well.

School Community

Hutchins is fortunate to have a community that is passionate about ensuring the growth and success of the School. On behalf of the Board, I thank all who have made a significant contribution by volunteering their time and expertise.

The Hutchins Foundation continues to be an important element in the ongoing wellbeing of the School, and its Directors, like the Board, continue to monitor its investments, raise funds and allocate those funds as and when the School requests them.

The Hutchins Old Boys' Association and its committee of volunteers have this year launched a strategic vision for the Association. With 4,000 members worldwide, it continues to ensure that this network of supporters is kept up-to-date about developments at Hutchins.

The Parents' Association continues to provide strong support with their many fundraising activities and projects that greatly assist the School.

All of us working together give the School its identity and help to shape our future.

2009 has been another successful and extremely busy year

Leavers

To the young men of 2009 Year 12, I thank you for your contributions to the School and trust the Hutchins experience will stand you in good stead for whatever you choose to do in the future. Remain proud of your school and make the most of your future opportunities.

Overall 2009 has been another successful and extremely busy year in our history. We look forward to meeting the challenges of 2010.

Scott Harvey
Chairman of the Board

HEADMASTER'S REPORT

Mr Warwick Dean

Our 163rd year has been a very busy, very productive and very successful year and I wish to acknowledge the Board of Management and The Hutchins Foundation and thank them for their enduring support. I also wish to thank, on behalf of the School, the Parents' Association for their significant fundraising and contributions to fun events and facilities enjoyed by all. In fact there are many parent support groups to which we are indebted for their enthusiastic and ongoing support.

In August Hutchins was presented with the opportunity to demonstrate our long history of successful association with St David's Cathedral. The School took up the vision of old boy Mr Max Darcy and commissioned the installation of a stained glass representation of the School's crest in the West side of the Cathedral. The service of dedication – which included a similar installation of St Michael's Collegiate School's crest on the East side of the Cathedral – was a most moving event.

The Commonwealth Government in its economic response to the financial crisis injected significant funding into education infrastructure projects and the evidence of our uptake of that opportunity is presented in the Junior School as an entrance point and welcoming foyer for visitors to the School. Above the new entrance is another classroom to meet the increasing demands of enrolments. Also it is a pleasure to note the building of a library learning centre and an archive centre on the senior campus and we expect completion in September 2010. This outstanding facility will comprise a modern library, four new classrooms and additional offices for staff, two display foyers, a careers centre, a seminar room with conferencing facilities, and, as mentioned, a state-of-the-art archives and museum facility. These facilities will be available to all students and members of our community.

In terms of technological infrastructure another opportunity is already in use as the Hutchins connection to the Australian Academic and Research Network – AARNet gives us the capacity to use at a gigabyte/second speed across high speed broadband. Fast, high quality connections to almost any place on the planet are possible and we anticipate the global education village being the norm in support of our studies from 2010 forward.

In the Arts I am pleased to report the sound progress and successes of our new Faculty of Music and I thank Mr Luke and his staff for their endeavours. The synergy between this faculty and the Faculty of Performing Arts is achieving much to raise even further the excellent standard of the Arts at Hutchins, special thanks go to Mrs Weeding and her staff. The development of a new Marine School of Studies approaches the consolidation of existing studies and expansion of study opportunities in: marine sciences, merchant shipping certification, resort and marina management, elite sailing training and associated courses. I thank Mr Starkey for his work in bringing a unique opportunity to our students.

Change to the structure and staffing of the Centre for Excellence has concluded and I congratulate Mrs Jenny Johnston and her staff for their work. The Centre has been re-named the John Bednall Centre for Learning Support after the Headmaster whose vision it was. As a facility for learners with special needs and for students of high intellectual capacity the Centre is an extraordinary achievement and its work outstanding.

Further opportunities to demonstrate the commitment of Hutchins to providing a community of excellence are evidenced through achieving awards and recognition in the State and National Export Awards, State Work Safe Awards, OH&S Awards and Finals for recognition as an Employer of Choice. These awards and recognitions reflect our ongoing commitment to provide for all at Hutchins a safe, healthy and productive environment where endeavour and achievement are encouraged, recognised and celebrated. Well done to Mrs Annie Weatherburn, Mr Daryl White and to Mrs Alex Terhell for their most professional contributions.

I wish to publically thank Deputy Headmaster, Mr Barrie Irons, Business Manager Ms Jenny Self, and my PA, Mrs Carol Marshall, for their wonderful support and achievements in 2009.

While all this was happening you may recall we were visited by the H1N1 Influenza virus and I wish to thank everyone for the amazing co-operation and thoughtfulness at that time.

At this time last year I was pleased to launch The Hutchins School Strategic Plan. It is ambitious and focuses six key strategic directions on excellent outcomes for a place of best practice in teaching and learning, in this State, nationally and beyond. I am delighted to report that much has been achieved by an extraordinary set of six strategic change teams in staffing, curriculum development, finance and infrastructure, enhancing our reputation, community connectedness and in developing technologies to support all that we do. To the members of those teams and their leaders we are most appreciative indeed. As an example of such work our new-look website is now available for greater ease of use, better delivery of information and superior communication.

Other highlights from the work of these strategic teams are that we continue to develop outstanding statements of curriculum and teaching and learning best practice as a guide to ensuring that, at each stage, we are able to accurately describe and clearly report on what a student at Hutchins should know and be able to do. Our well above average NAPLAN results are an example of the value added at Hutchins in the areas of literacy and numeracy.

We also continue to develop a five-year financial plan and secure the School for the future. On the matter of financial planning it is noted that recent electronic and print media reports do not fully describe the facts in relation to independent schools and their sources of funding. On the latest figures I have seen, average government recurrent funding per student for government schools was $11200; for independent schools it was $5300. Estimated savings to governments from services supplied by the independent schools' sector amount to $2.6B.

Enrolments in independent schools have gone from 5% of the school population in 1980 to a current 13%. Increases notified by government for 2009 funding are 5.6% for primary and 3.5% for secondary; regrettably this does not cover the increases in education costs on independent schooling and yet it is worth noting that apart from Darwin, in each capital city of Australia, 50% of all students are enrolled in independent schools. At Hutchins, our financial strategy is still to maximise opportunities and programs of excellence to students and whenever possible to pursue and to pass on to parents any opportunity to hold our fees to a minimum.

There have been many opportunities for sports teams, camps, community service, outdoor adventures, music and performing and visual arts events and most importantly, the opportunities for our boys to seek and make new friendships, to experiment with and enjoy new experiences in learning and relationships and, in a supportive and happy community, to enjoy just being a boy. And then there is that most vital ingredient present in all great schools: a fantastic staff.

To our staff one and all, thank you for a great year of commitment, achievement, support, teaching, learning, nurturing and importantly, fun. I know I speak on behalf of all students, but particularly students of Year 12, when I pass on our gratitude and sincere thanks for a job well done.

Success has not only been achieved in the classrooms of the School. In 2009 The Hutchins School Co-curricular Program has been extremely successful. Notable performances were the achievement of state finals in: Debating, Second Soccer, U16 and U18 Rugby, First Cricket and First Tennis. As well Hutchins achieved Premiers results in: Aggregate Boys Athletics, Australian Rules Football – Firsts and Seconds, First Basketball, First Badminton, Cross Country Junior and Aggregate teams, First Soccer, First Water Polo, First Hockey, Seconds Tennis, Sport Shooting and Swimming Aggregate Boys Shield. In Sailing The Hutchins School Team won the Australian Schools' Teams Champions for the third consecutive year. In Rowing the School had its most successful season in years and one recalls the prestigious Head of the River winners in Open and Under 16 crews and numerous other victories.

As well there were triumphs in the Dance Troupe – which won State Dance Eisteddfods and commendable mentions in the Sydney Dance Eisteddfod; Drama productions were brilliant with stars Roland Lawrence, Robert Mallett, and Connor Sweeney in The Venetian Twins and Third World Blues; Music conducted a tour to Brisbane and achieved success in the Clarence and Hobart Music

Eisteddfods and, in community services, The Hutchins School again won the Red Cross Winter Blood Challenge.

Thanks go to our Director of Sport and Co-curricular, Mr Wayne Brown, and all coaches, managers and assistants of co-curricular activities. The strength and spirit of the Co-curricular Program is our coaching staff and their dedicated efforts to achieve success in our programs are most praiseworthy.

A number of staff changes have occurred this year and most of you will be aware of the illness of Head of Senior School, Mr Rae, and we wish him well in his recovery. From 2010 the position of Head of Senior School will be taken up by Mr Duncan Warlters from Guilford Grammar in Western Australia. Retiring from Middle School this year will be Mr Lance Morrisby, Mr Alan Dear and Mrs Robyn Collis, and I wish to thank them for what amounts to over seventy years of exceptional service.

To the young men who are about to leave us for a wider community I draw your attention to a reminder that at Hutchins a culture of leadership and a sense of community and service based on Christian values has been a strong focus and will continue as an integral part of our vision and mission for the future.

We have laboured to provide a supportive, stimulating community which works together to develop your character and you have rewarded us and our labours with an exceptional year of achievement in all that you have undertaken.

Year 12 2009 is littered with examples of 'having a go' because you were needed, or because what you did was the right thing to do; of giving your best even in times of adversity; deliberately making others feel included and welcome; standing up for someone else; taking on studies, sports, activities and being helpful to the benefit of others and of serving others and not yourselves. What you have done here has mattered and many of you have left behind much of which you and we can be proud, especially the lessons and standards that remain as evidence of manly behaviour for Years 9 to 11 to mimic.

Growing in Gratitude

I began the year as a tourist. Fresh from walking around Battery Point and a boat tour around the Tasman Peninsula, the school year commenced with a whirr of unfamiliar activity. I soon realised that I would not be a tourist for long. A recent visit to my hometown, Sydney, reminded me that I am a fortunate man to now live in one of the most peaceful and beautiful cities on the planet.

Indeed, gratitude has been one of the themes of the year. The scriptures are full of inspiration to give us gratitude, even in times of great difficulty. I guess in the past people used to say 'count your blessings'. Being thankful has been a key aspect of Christian belief and worship, yet it is only recently that anyone has researched this effect. Studies have suggested that people who take deliberate steps to be grateful report fewer physical symptoms, are more optimistic, more likely to fulfil personal goals, are better sleepers and more likely to report helping another person (Emmons, UCLA 2008). I have been encouraged by the ability of Hutchins boys to look at their lives and be grateful.

Vital to this is a regular introduction to people beyond Australia and their plight. We met Justus Miwanda from a group called International Needs. Justus spoke to the boys of his work in Uganda with AIDS orphans. As he spoke of the malaria prevention that cost only $2, our boys responded with generosity.

Abraham joined us from Cambodia to tell us of the work he is doing with 1,000 families who were displaced by the government in 2006. Without sanitation, housing, employment or education facilities, they were removed from Phnom Penh and placed in a field 22km outside the city. Abraham decided to build a school, assist with housing and start a church in Andong. Our thanks go to Wellspring Anglican Church at Sandy Bay for sponsoring his visit.

The rock band 'Simeon' joined us earlier in the year to speak of their work with Christian Blind Mission Australia who help the disabled in developing countries.

Creating a habit of giving has been one clear way we can show our gratitude to God and help others simultaneously. Giving is a lifestyle in the scriptures and the following amounts were raised by the boys from the weekly collection in Senior School chapels: Anglicare Victorian Bushfire Appeal: $450; Christian Blind Mission Association: $634; International Needs Uganda: $309; Anglicare Hobart Christmas Appeal: $513.

I am thankful also to the families who donated over 300kg of pantry items and toys for the Christmas Appeal. Practical help is a great way to learn a mindset of generosity and empathy for others.

We joined with other Tasmanians for the Parliamentary Prayer Breakfast at the Hotel Grand Chancellor to pray for our State with particular concern for those struggling due to the global financial crisis.

At the Parliamentary Prayer Breakfast

JAFFA and LOADED

An important part of my role at Hutchins is to encourage the regular meeting of boys who respond in faith. The Middle School JAFFA group on Friday at lunchtime has been the first step in that process. I am grateful for the assistance of John McQuillan (leaver '06 and youth worker at St David's Cathedral) and our Community Chaplain Mark Nash in running this group. Daniel McQuillan (Year 10) also assisted.

Confirmation and Baptism

Alexander Elford, Edward Heath and Thomas Avery were confirmed in St David's Cathedral with two other Hutchins boys, Peter Humphrey and Andrew Flett as Cathedral candidates. Elijah Elford was baptised at the same service, while throughout the year the following baptisms occurred in the chapel: Layne Alexander (Year 4); Charlie Bovill

JAFFA lolly tasting competition

Community Chaplain

We farewelled our Community Chaplain Mark Nash who has taught classes, taken services and run lunchtime meetings. In 2009 Mark retired from professional basketball (ex-Adelaide 36-ers, Brisbane Bullets, Hobart Chargers) and we trust that God will guide and strengthen him as he takes on new challenges in 2010. His popularity has been a wonderful element of the year's ministry team. Indeed, it was a perfectly matched ministry team. Rev'd Mark Holland has been appointed for 2010 and he will work closely with the Junior School.

School Bible Reading

Our school takes the Christian faith seriously and I believe it is imperative that we have a school Bible reading to help us focus our attention. After discussion with a number of key staff, Philippians 2:1-11 was chosen. An encouragement to humility is followed by the example of Jesus Christ: 'who, being in very nature God, did not consider equality with God something to be grasped... and became obedient to death – even death on a cross.' (Philippians 2:8)

At the start of each term boys will be reminded of the reading and the importance of Jesus Christ as the foundation of Hutchins as a school.

The Reverend Matthew Gray Chaplain

CAPTAIN OF SCHOOL

I strongly believe that the purpose of a leader is to produce more leaders, not more followers, and how evident this was throughout 2009 at Hutchins.

The values and expectations of The Hutchins School provide chances for students to challenge themselves, take risks and learn about what they believe in. These opportunities may arise when all is going well, or more importantly, in difficult times. Indeed, it is in these times of difficulty that we can truly learn about who we are as men. Young men with strength of character are the result of a Hutchins education.

Leadership

Leadership has been demonstrated throughout the School, but it is not only the officially recognised leaders and their successes that are important. It is also the daily acts and attitudes of many students who bring pride and an inclusive, positive culture to the School. Being successful at Hutchins is about showing integrity and being honest, supportive and accountable. It is about having good character. These students have a great deal to be proud of and I congratulate them. Just one example of this quiet leadership is the assistance given to students in the Early Learning Centre by senior students. By giving up time to assist younger students, the immediate effects of role modelling, a strong and positive culture, a shared sense of concern, belonging and commitment are evident. These junior students will go on to act as role models themselves, furthering our culture of connection.

I would also like to acknowledge the hard work and dedication of the Prefects and other recognised leaders within the School.

A sample of the initiatives introduced by the prefect body this year included the introduction of an International Student Representative Council. This was an important step forward in the life and culture of Hutchins, with increasing numbers of overseas students attending the School.

The further integration of junior and senior students was helped through BBQ lunches and visits in mentor times and study lines. This integration is extremely important if the culture of a close student community is to be continued in future years.

A comprehensive overhaul of the activities and structure of the Valedictory Week saw a complete change in the culture surrounding the departure of the leavers.

One-on-one tutoring of Years 7 to 10 students in specific subject areas, for example Maths and English, was undertaken by Year 11 and 12 students.

The support and hard work of the prefects and leaders within the School has made a significant difference to the daily lives of the students. I would like to thank them for their countless hours of dedication to their chosen area of leadership.

Hutchins Culture

The Hutchins mission statement reads, 'The Hutchins School is an Anglican School whose supportive, stimulating community works to build character of boys.' The true sense of what the Hutchins community means was presented to me earlier this year after telephoning Mr William 'Lockie' Rait, a 1929 leaver to congratulate him on the occasion of his 100th birthday on behalf of The Hutchins School. I spoke to Mr Rait about his experiences at Hutchins and marvelled at his achievements throughout his life. Later in the year, as it came time for me to sit my final exams, I received a card from Mr and Mrs Rait wishing me well in my upcoming exams. I was moved by this gesture as it highlighted the strength of the Hutchins community. Despite being separated by eighty years of uncommon history, we had an immediate bond: a bond generated by the virtue of our common education and common experiences at Hutchins. A sense of belonging and immediate interest in each others lives, something quite rare in modern society, was born from this interaction. I value it greatly.

On behalf of the students, I wish to thank the staff for their continued dedication to providing the students of Hutchins with the best possible education available. I would also like to thank the staff for creating an environment where we, the students, feel that the teachers not only genuinely care about our learning but also care about us individually. This is yet another example of the strength of the Hutchins community which provides us with a strong sense of belonging.

For the Year 12s 2009 has been an exciting yet daunting year. The unity of the group throughout the year was captured and confirmed as we left our final assembly together, as the war cry rang out across the School. Tears were shed and memories shared as we enjoyed our final moments at Hutchins together. What an incredibly talented and integrated year group you have been. You have excelled in all areas, whether academically or in sport, drama, music, SPA, debating or information technology. The example you have set for the following year groups will be invaluable. An unbreakable bond has been formed between each and every leaver through the Hutchins community – common experiences, common education and a common shout of ZEEMALAH!

I cannot conclude without making mention of a person whose name is synonymous with what truly defines the Hutchins strength and character – Mr Chris Rae. His unassuming nature, total dedication and professionalism are examples that all Hutchins students and staff aspire to. He is genuinely interested in each student's hopes and aspirations, which creates the strong respect that each student holds for him. We wish him well in his recovery.

It has been a privilege to have been the School Captain at Hutchins for 2009. I must thank all those who have helped me through the year, not only staff, but also those boys who have supported my endeavours and made my goals for the year a reality.

Finally, to those who continue as students, the School motto reads 'What You Do Matters'. So believe in what you do, because it is this belief that gives you the courage to do more than you think is possible. And as I was told at my enrolment interview fourteen years ago, make the most of the opportunities that are presented to you at Hutchins, because you too, will be a leaver in no time at all.

Edward Pascoe

STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE COUNCIL REPORT

Recent reforms of the leadership principles of The Hutchins School have allowed the Student Representative Council to service the School community in more diverse and comprehensive ways. Under the initial guidance of the Director of Student Leadership, Mr John Overton and then more recently, Mr Wayne Brown, the Year 11 boys who form the Executive Council have worked hard to ensure the success of all of the SRC activities in 2009. Highlights for the year include the Mothers' Dinner in Term 1, RecLink program (supporting children with disabilities to participate in sporting activities) and lunchtime activities to promote an increased participation of all students and bring cohesion from all sectors of the School.

The charity event for the Victorian Bushfire Appeal was an overwhelming success. The Mothers' Day Dinner was run completely by the SRC boys for the mothers of Hutchins. The boys, aided by Mr Tony Smithies, raised funds from raffles, the chocolate wheel and from the tickets. The Dinner will be repeated as a yearly event and is something that all mothers should pencil in as an enjoyable event to attend.

Michael Titchen was responsible for the administration of the Executive and early every Thursday morning he faithfully recorded the minutes of our meetings. Michael was also responsible for the successful organisation of this year's 40 Hour Famine.

Alexander Elford and Samuel Downie enjoyed great success in their responsibilities to the ELC. Regular groups of Senior School students organised daily lunchtime activities in the ELC. These links were further strengthened through a 'Buddy System' whereby students in Years 11 or 12 were invited to devote a study period to assist in one of the ELC classrooms. All service opportunities have strengthened our sense of being a K-12 community.

Larry Owen and Simeon Thomas-Wilson had responsibility for the Junior School Portfolio. Weekly attendances at Junior School Council meetings allowed Larry and Simeon to inform the Executive of the needs of Junior School students. SRC initiatives to accommodate the Junior School have included sporting clinics, pizza lunches, barbecues, a social and regular lunchtime games.

Oliver Burke and Richard Pearce as holders of the Middle School Portfolio surveyed students and provided invaluable feedback about ways in which the involvement of the SRC in the Middle School could be improved. Lunchtime activities, together with barbecue lunches to raise money for the Victorian Bushfire Appeal were also popular events. They also compiled a survey for senior students on the effectiveness of the Middle School and the results are currently being assessed.

Michael Short and Macaulay Hagan represented the Year 9 and 10 student views.

They ran the Year 9 and 10 meetings, took minutes and reported back to the Year 11 congregations. Some of the finer moments of 2009 from Michael and Macaulay include Youth Week and the plans for the re-development of the canteen area.

I would like to thank both Mr Overton and Mr Brown for their guidance and support this year. I have thoroughly enjoyed my role as President and I wish the 2010 Executive all the best for next year and to continue the great work the boys accomplished in 2009.

Henry Williams
SRC President

International SRC

The International SRC sees its main role as appreciating and integrating the various cultures within The Hutchins School community and to develop and sustain a strong relationship between the local and international boys. The major event for the ISRC this year was related to the celebration of Harmony Day. Harmony Day was introduced by the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (DIAC) ten years ago and celebrates the cohesive and inclusive nature of our nation and promotes the benefits of cultural diversity. It is celebrated on 21 March each year and thousands of schools, community groups and organisations across Australia host Harmony Day events. Also this year the ISRC introduced and hosted a Table Tennis Tournament in the Senior School which had over 50 participants and was a great success. As a result of the overwhelming reception, we hope that the ISRC Table Tennis Competition will become an annual event.

Events aside, the ISRC sees its greatest achievement of the year to be its successful proposal to increase the level of integration of local and international boys within the classroom through the means of teamwork and group projects, especially in Years 5 to 8. This is to ensure that any barriers between local and international boys are broken early so that by the time boys reach the Senior School there will be much greater unity within the classroom which ultimately leads to our giving our international students the skills they require to be successful, capable and able to contribute to society with confidence once they leave the School – which is ultimately, the biggest responsibility we have to these students.

Rohan Nanthakumar

SENIOR SCHOOL LEADERSHIP

Leadership at Hutchins continues to be an important emphasis in the School life of senior students.

In 2009 the SRC (with representatives from Years 9, 10 and 11) again showed enthusiasm and excellent organisational skills in their portfolios that extended throughout the School. Fifty-seven Year 12s took on leadership positions at the start of the year, with varying degrees of effort and success, but most completed their role responsibly. Twenty-two Year 12s were appointed to the position of Prefect – considered to be the largest number ever in one year. Exciting opportunities were offered to students to develop their skills in leadership.

Independent Boys' School Coalition Leadership Conference at Christ Church Grammar School, Perth

In mid January Edward Pascoe and John Wilson (senior and second prefects elect) attended this conference. They wrote:

Activities included a number of high quality speakers (such as recently retired cricketer Justin Langer and world-class sailor Peter Gilmour) as well as leadership development activities such as learning to be part of a team on a tall ship (SS Leeuwin). The conference also included a visit to the SAS barracks ... we walked away [from the Conference] ... with a greater understanding of ways in which to lead people and how to involve their ideas and values along with ours.

Marcelle Bernard seminar

The entire Year 10 group had the opportunity to improve their public speaking skills in Term 1 after listening to this highly entertaining motivational speaker. Not only were they encouraged to Act as a Super Speaker, they were given a good example!

The Reach Foundation

For the second year, a group of Year 9s and 10s attended a seminar that stretched the students' comfort zones as they were challenged to empathise with their peers. The Reach Foundation, established in 1994 by Jim Stynes (AFL Brownlow Medallist) and Paul Currie (film director), conduct powerful workshops that have had a meaningful impact on our students.

Rotary Youth Program of Enrichment (RYPEN)

This year Anton Roberts and Henry West represented Hutchins at this weekend when the theme was 'Make Dreams Real.'

They wrote: It was a great weekend... the camp focused on team building, leadership and co-operative skills between participants. Over the weekend we enjoyed rowing long boats, listening to interesting speakers (such as Stuart Cluess [who] always removes himself from 'drainers,' or people who drain you of inspiration and motivation...] [and] Dana Faletic, an Olympian for Australia from the sport of rowing [who] came to talk about her life and how she accomplished her dreams. [but] our favourite activities ... were not only meeting new people but meeting the challenges set the first day.

Model United Nations Assembly

Each year in May, two Year 10 students have the opportunity to represent the School and a country at the Model United Nations Assembly (MUNA) conducted by the Rotary Club of Deloraine. This year Matthew Allanby and Allen Chen enjoyed the hospitality of Mr and Mrs Bob Loone of Chudleigh and represented South Africa (and Hutchins).

In addition to meeting new friends, eating, (Matthew wrote: We had a fantastic dinner with so much food on offer that even 80 hungry kids could not eat it all.), and a disco, the serious side of arguing the views of South Africa on a variety of issues took place. [We had to] ... represent our country's views on resolutions dealing with AIDS, global warming, malaria, human rights, indigenous people, piracy and many more.

Greater confidence in public speaking, meeting new people and belief in one's opinion were benefits of the weekend.

Rising Generations

Michael Titchen (Year 11) and Charles Haward (Year 10) were selected to attend this leadership camp in NSW in July. They reported: In the middle of Term 2 this year we attended the four-day Rising Generations 2009 National Leadership Camp held at Collaroy, NSW. This was the first year Hutchins had sent delegates to the camp. The theme of this year's camp was 'A Hero's Journey.'

After the opening ceremony we were split into tribes: our families for the rest of the camp. The tribes were led by knowledgeable mentors who encouraged us to think about what it means to be a leader. Highlights of the camp occurred when all delegates participated as tribes in whole camp activities such as the NLC Olympics, the surprise Saturday morning boot camp and NLC Idol.

Some of the excellent speakers who developed the camp's theme, 'A Hero's Journey,' included David Bussau, whose work in micro-economies in the developing world is well known; David Koch from 'Sunrise' spoke about his charity work, and we learnt important lessons from fellow Tasmanian Robyn Moore.

THE HUTCHINS FOUNDATION

This year has seen The Hutchins Foundation become significantly more involved in the on-going activities of the School and its broader community.

Events

The year started with the Foundation again supporting the start-of-year dinner for staff and their partners. This event was held at the Old School, and is a wonderful merging of tradition with the current life of the School. The Foundation also conducted the New Parents' Dinner. This serves to introduce the Foundation to new parents, to promote the philanthropic base which underpins the Foundation, and to welcome new parents to Hutchins.

During Anniversary Week the Foundation conducted a Past Chairs and Benefactors Lunch to which all past Chairs of the Board of Management, Foundation, Old Boys' Association and Parents' Association were invited, along with current benefactors. This was the first time such an inclusive event has been held and it was well received. The week was also marked with the dedication of six new plaques in the Memorial Garden for recent benefactors, and the Foundation also supported reunions for ex-staff and old boarders. The significant expansion of Anniversary Week celebrations to encompass the wider community is an important development.

Programs and Projects

The Follow Your Dreams program of Foundation Awards for students is now in its second year, and attracted thirty-two applications in Term 1. This program is designed to encourage boys to pursue activities, not necessarily academic, for which they have a genuine passion.

Robert Mallett and Connor Sweeney both received awards for assistance with specialist singing lessons. Joseph McGrath received an award to help him with training and coaching for equestrian events, Benjamin Lieutier received support for specialist art materials and Stuart Ednie will receive assistance with paying for flying lessons, Luke Chamberlain received an award to assist with the purchase of woodworking tools, James Wheller used his award to help purchase a new performance keyboard and Henry West purchased special night training lights to help him pursue his competitive cycling dream.

The 2009 Hutchins Art Prize was held in October. The quality of works was outstanding, as was the overall conduct of the event. Special thanks go to the Art Curator, John Ancher, and the Hutchins Art Prize Committee chaired by Peter Forbes-Smith for a truly great event.

The Hutchins Foundation Bursary program is now in its third year, with a number of talented students who might not otherwise have done so now attending the School. One of the "spin-offs" of this program is that it has also successfully attracted interest in Hutchins which has resulted in additional enrolments from unsuccessful applicants.

Towards the end of the year we updated the long-serving staff plaques in the Bell Tower. The plaques have been redesigned into a format which will allow them to be updated as staff retire rather than waiting for several years for the updates to take place.

The Foundation has also provided financial support for the new archives section in the library learning centre development due to be completed by late 2010. The Foundation sees this part of the development as strategically crucial as we seek to build our sense of community and preserve our traditions.

Bequests and Membership

Bequests remain a key element in the long term strategy of the Foundation and this area of activity is overseen by the Bequests Committee headed by John St Hill.

The Foundation has also recently revised its membership qualification criteria and will be launching a membership campaign in 2010.

Governance

The Board of the Foundation continues to operate well and I thank the Directors and all Foundation members, supporters and friends for their valuable contributions. This continuing support helps to secure the continuing success of Hutchins.

2009 has been a particularly challenging year with the global financial crisis significantly impacting on the Foundation but it has emerged in good shape with a solid base. Business Manager, Ms Jenny Self, has provided invaluable support throughout the year.

Jenny Inglis
President

The Colman family viewing the staff plaques

PARENTS' ASSOCIATION

The Parents' Association has again provided significant support to the School in 2009, spending approximately $70,000 on projects.

These projects included the purchase of six interactive whiteboards which have proven invaluable in classrooms across the School, vertical shades for the Senior School quadrangle, play equipment for the ELC, Junior School and After School Care, equipment and furniture for the Conference Centre, exercise and gym equipment, specialist music software, a new piano for the Music Faculty, repairs to the Chapel organ and furniture for the Junior School Library.

One other project the Association has been running for two years has been the provision of the Just Say This – a booklet which guides parents in teaching their boys to drive, and is sent to parents the month their son turns 16. The feedback from the project has been extremely positive, and we hope to continue it in 2010.

Generating the money for these projects is a significant challenge. The main sources are fundraising activities and the membership fees which are charged with the School accounts in Term 2.

“... the Fair in 2009 – possibly the best ever”

The School Fair is the major fundraising event in the Association's calendar, and thanks should go to Carol Plunkett and her helpers for a marvellous Fair in 2009 – possibly the best ever. We had new rides and amusements for the students (and some parents!) and a number of new events, such as the 'invasion' by a group of bikies (organised by parent Greg Rowell) along with the post-fair concert by Old Boy, Cameron Tapp.

The other major event for 2009 was the inaugural Hutchins Race Day at Elwick in October. It was an extremely enjoyable day and, although it was not intended to be a fundraising activity, the event still managed to generate $6,000 for the Association for spending around the School. We hope the Race Day will become an annual event.

Because of the building program currently underway at the Senior School, it is highly unlikely we will be able to run a school fair in 2010. However, other major events are planned, including a welcome function in first term, a Masked Ball on 3 July, and another race day in October.

Your support for these activities – both attending meetings and helping at events is essential to their success. Over the last few years there has been a noticeable decline in attendance at Association meetings and a distinct drop in numbers of parents prepared to volunteer their time to plan and run activities. The commitment is not massive, the Association meetings are few in number and brief and are advertised well ahead of time in the pictorial calendar, Communiqué and website.

Ultimately it is your boys who benefit from a little extra parental support to the Hutchins community.

Martyn Hagan
President

HUTCHINS OLD BOYS' ASSOCIATION

2009 has been the 150th Anniversary of the first formal Old Boys' get together at Webb's Hotel (now Hadleys) back in 1859, and the occasion was marked when the annual Ray Vincent Lunch was held at Hadley's Hotel in November.

The Committee of the Old Boys' Association has been led by Nicholas Dwyer (1999) since March, and has made a major effort to develop a Strategic Plan for the next five years, not only to support the Plan being put in place by the School but also to give a strong focus to the activities of the Association over the next five years and beyond.

The Association continued its support for the School Fair, again running a successful bar which raised over $2,000.

During the year it instigated an 'encouragement award' program designed to assist individual and group activities from within the student body. Nominations for these awards is on the initiative of staff, and in 2009 two awards were made. The first was assistance to the Dance Troupe with expenses associated with competing at the Sydney Eisteddfod in July, while the second was an individual award to Lincoln Reynolds (Year 11). Lincoln is a promising young amateur boxer with national title aspirations and the purpose of that award was to assist him progress in that sport.

Two of our Old Boys turned 100 years old during the year. William 'Lockie' Rait in May and Algie Page in September. It is an amazing milestone, especially when you consider that both these Old Boys were contemporaries of the 'infamous' Errol Flynn, and knew living relatives whose lives pre-dated the establishment of the School in 1846.

In Anniversary Week we conducted the largest Anniversary Reunion yet, with just over 150 attendees at the Dinner on Saturday 8 August. We successfully competed against the students in Debating and Cricket during the year.

Long-serving staff member Chris Rae was announced as the 2010 Ivied Tower Award recipient at the Ray Vincent Lunch. The award recognises an Old Boy who has achieved a high level of success in his chosen career. Chris has been a dedicated and caring member of staff since 1972 and has served as a teacher, Head of Boarding, Head of House and Head of Senior School during that period of time, as well as being a highly respected coach of Australian Rules Football. He has been a positive influence on literally thousands of young men. The Old Boys' Association is proud to be able to recognise Chris's outstanding contribution not only to Hutchins, but also to his profession.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONSHIPS

Another exciting year has come to an end. What better way to finish the year than with the announcement that for the second consecutive year Hutchins was announced as Tasmanian Winner of the Australian Export Awards for Education and Training.

This award recognises the efforts and outstanding academic and pastoral program we offer to international students, relationships formed around the globe and the curriculum expertise we share with partners internationally. Supporting the School's international efforts has been the entire Hutchins community from the Board, Headmaster and academic teaching staff, to boarding house and administrative staff and as well most importantly, our Hutchins families.

How is your French?

During 2009 Hutchins expanded its French exchange school programs for students from Years 10 to 12. Two of the exchange schools are located in the heart of Paris: Jacques Decour and Lycee Racine. An agreement has been made between schools and Hutchins has invited both Collegiate and Fahan to join in the exchange of students as the schools in France are wishing to send to us girls and boys. Likewise, Collegiate formed an exchange with a school in the north of France – St Vincent de Paul and this year invited Hutchins and Fahan pre-tertiary French students to participate.

Two of our students – Cameron Willis and Macaulay Hagan have spent time at Lycee Racine. Each has said this exchange helped their French skills tremendously, preparing them for their examinations when they returned home. Two boys also participated in Collegiate's northern France exchange.

Hutchins is looking forward to once again having more French students attend the School. Previously Edward and Steve from Lycee Racine, Paris added a great deal to our French classes.

Have a Kilt?

Strathallan School in Scotland continues to be a popular destination for Hutchins boys. A kilt is worn at all formal assemblies but our boys are still remaining tight-lipped about the details of wearing the kilt, apart from the need to do so! This year we welcomed Michael McKenzie who went home in one piece which was a great achievement as most of the Scottish boys are attracted to Hutchins for the Rugby. Last year our exchange student scored two tries the day before departure in the finals and then promptly broke his arm. Advising his parents that we were sending their son home in this state was one of the tougher aspects of my role at Hutchins.

More Exchange Opportunities

Next year we will see an exciting exchange program be introduced to The 2nd High School of Beijing (attached to Beijing National University). The introduction to this school was made possible through our long-standing and valued partnership with Hwa Chong Institute in Singapore. This exchange offers an extensive academic and language development program and will be escorted by our Chinese teacher, Mr Erik Marr. We are also currently working on an agreement with a school in Nanchang, China.

Singapore will once again be offered and Canada will be recommenced. Our exchange program to India at The Doon School and Mayo College are both being offered during 2010 and we encourage students to apply for this outstanding cultural exchange. These schools are high-ranking schools and are fully-supervised with extensive academic programs, facilities and outstanding boarding accommodations. Escorted travel from arrival into Delhi is organised by Hutchins for our exchange students.

Finally, we have now added Woodbridge School in Suffolk, England as an exchange destination. Collegiate girls also participate in this exchange and so our boys will travel with Collegiate girls as a group exchange.

International Students

Our longer term fee-paying international students have all enjoyed excellent guidance and care offered by The Hutchins School. Hutchins is in high demand overseas and has a world reputation as a leading academic, sporting, arts and performance school in an Australian destination conducive to study. My efforts have continued to focus on expanding diversity as new countries begin emerging as recruitment markets such as France, Italy and Spain in order to enhance the mix of cultures in our boarding house environment. Maintaining the strong existing markets of Germany and our Asian region continues.

This year we were delighted to see that one of our German students, Nicolaus Leslie, went on to graduate. His intended six months' stay turned into a total stay of around twenty months and Nick graduated with excellent results (within the top third of the School).

Nick made solid friendships during his time at Hutchins, participated in state level Hockey and mastered our Australian accent so very well, it was sometimes easy to forget it is his second language. His mother Cati and father Barrie visited at the end of the year to attend Speech Night and leavers' celebrations. Nick will now be spending the next few years at UTAS undertaking a degree pathway in International Relations and Law with the intention of completing his Masters in Germany to focus on German international diplomacy and politics.

New to the boarding house this year was our first full fee-paying French student, Martin Coisson. Next year we look forward to more students from France as well as two more Spanish boys and an Italian boy.

Finally, many of our long-term students from Asia were farewelled by the Hutchins community. Many had been with us for a number of years and have grown from young students into fine young adults now ready to embark on their careers at various universities around Australia.

To our Hutchins boys from Thailand, Hong Kong, China, Taiwan, Korea, Malaysia, Vietnam and Singapore who are returning to Hutchins in 2010 to continue their studies, we look forward to your return and to the contribution you make toward a greater cultural understanding for all in the Hutchins community.

FROM THE ARCHIVES

The Olga Braham Gallery and Archives office is no longer, with demolition progressing daily. Packing up the entire Hutchins Archives and Heritage Collection afforded the opportunity to learn more about its contents, record much of that information and ensure that the various parts of the collection are adequately cared for until the new building is ready. In the meantime, Business Manager Jenny Self is enjoying custody of the magnificent Alan Field Payne bookcase, while the Jessie Thorold clock (with chimes disabled!) is gracing the back wall of the temporary library in the Bill Toppin Room.

The Jessie Thorold clock – donated to the School by the wife of Headmaster C C Thorold in memory of her brother Clive Wellington Were, killed at the Gallipoli Landing, 25 April 1915.

We managed also to complete the cataloguing and packing for some 225 items of the textile collection – including uniform, banners and quilts. Thanks to Mrs Alex Hagan for her assistance. Mr Richard Lord has continued his retrieval of details of Hutchins history, working on a complete list of Hutchins staff; Mr David Brammall has been examining photographs in an attempt to identify subjects, objects and dates; Mrs Catherine Dean is converting the original Hutchins Roll of Scholars to digital form and continues her research on the women of Hutchins; student volunteer Benjamyn Schneider has scanned school magazines and began cataloguing the medal and coin collection before his final exams; Zachariah Lieutier also contributed time and muscle-power at a critical stage of the move.

In April we had a memorable visit from Carol Cole, great-granddaughter of J R Buckland. Ms Cole spent some time in the Archives examining documents of the Buckland period (1846-92). Term 1 also saw many hours expended on the design and layout of a new museum and archival storage space. In July we hosted a visit to the Archives from members of the Australian Society of Archivists [Tas Branch].

August brought a visit from Waimea Heights Primary School student Ellie Fraser, who was researching the history of the Queenborough Cemetery, on which the Senior School was built after its decommissioning in 1960.

The digitisation process continues, with a clear record emerging of the considerable contents of the Collection: honour boards, shields and pennants have been recorded, with trophies, framed pictures and photographs in progress. The transfer of donation lists from handwritten files to the database has begun; eventually this information will enable us to trace much 'lost' provenance. In the search for suitable candidates as photographic subjects for an Old Boys' publication we came across a photograph, purported to be of Frederick Angus Brock (1855, no. 233), whose 1888-89 sketchbook was discovered.

During the year we were awarded $4,000 for a Preservation Survey to follow last year's Significance Assessment. At a recent History Societies and Museums workshop held by the Australian Society of Archivists, the search was begun for a suitable conservator to carry out the preservation survey in 2010. Earlier in the year, a workshop organised by the Australian Society of Archivists in Canberra provided expert advice on many aspects of managing archives. The inaugural Small Museums Network meeting held in November signals an exciting development, with the linking of community museums and local historical societies around the State – and eventually nationally – set to offer information and shared resources. Already the School is registered with the Collections Australia Network, and our new external website will allow the school community, historians and researchers to gain information from our collection.

'Boa Vista', New Town, birthplace of F. A. Brock (later home of The Friends' School), 1889

JOHN BEDNALL CENTRE FOR LEARNING SUPPORT

The John Bednall Centre for Learning Support is a facility that aims to uphold the values of diversity, equity and individuality for all boys who attend Hutchins. The Centre is a busy place that has many responsibilities in meeting the needs of the Hutchins community. We provide support and guidance across the School and continually monitor and assess students who come under our care.

Importantly the Centre for Learning Support caters for students at both ends of the learning spectrum. Our Gifted Programs provide extension opportunities for students within small group sessions. We offer the Jason Project, Future Problem Solving, Mathematics Extension, SOSE Extension and Philosophy to list a few of the possibilities. We are available to assist teachers in differentiating the classroom curriculum to help extend and challenge gifted students and provide mentors and experts where appropriate. Students with the need for additional learning support are withdrawn from class for extra tuition or assisted within the classroom. The Centre staff are also available to offer emotional support to students who have special behavioural needs.

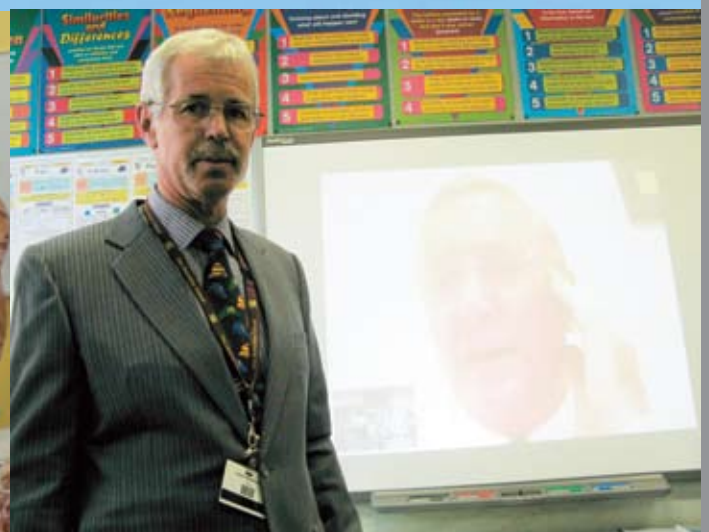

We began this year by welcoming two new members of staff – Suzanne Terhorst (Learning Support Teacher) and Jenny Johnston (Head of Student Support Services). Term 1 involved assessment and setting up programs for students needing extra assistance. Students from Years 3 to 6 undertook standardised assessments in Reading, Spelling and Mathematics. All students in Year 3, 5, 7 and 9 completed the National Assessment Program in Literacy and Numeracy. Results were available in September. This is another useful tool to identify students' strengths and weaknesses.

In Term 2, the Centre ran a Writers and Illustrators' Workshop for talented Year 6 boys and students from Collegiate and The Friends' School. Author, Anne Morgan, mentored the writers who then collaborated with the illustrators to develop books which were 'launched' in October. Term 3 saw a group of talented artists in Year 8 share an Artist-in-Residence program at Collegiate. This enabled the boys to work with well-known Tasmanian artist, Lindsay Broughton.

The Socratic Society, under the guidance of Mr Palfreyman, operates in the Centre at lunch times. The Centre has also established links with the University of Tasmania which has enabled talented students in Years 10, 11 and 12 to discuss options of mentor programs with university staff.

In Term 3 the Centre was renamed from the Centre for Excellence to the John Bednall Centre for Learning Support.

WEBBER LECTURE

The Hutchins School annual Webber Lecture was first delivered in 1998.

It was delivered by The Reverend Webber in whose honour this lecture was named in recognition of his outstanding services to the study of ethics.

Reverend Webber, following his term as Dean of Hobart, established a Studies in Religion course at the Tasmanian College of Advanced Education. He was a senior Lecturer in the History of Ideas section.

In 1998 The Reverend Webber delivered a paper titled Ethics: Ancient Standards for Modern Times. In 1999 Dr Simon Wagstaff followed him from the Sydney Ethics Centre. Professor Chalmers University of Tasmania, Reverend Father Michael Tate and Professor Harper delivered succeeding lectures and today such names as Lowija O'Donoghue, The Honourable William Cox AC RFD ED, Dr Natasha Cica, Mr Warren Reid and The Honourable Sir Guy Green have delivered papers of excellence in the tradition of considering important questions of ethics.

In 2009 we were honoured to have His Excellency, The Governor of Tasmania, Peter Underwood AC, deliver the Webber Lecture. His lecture, Electronic communication in the new millennium: is it affecting our social intelligence? captured a diverse and appreciative audience. Questions were raised concerning the impact and effects on society in general, and younger persons specifically, of the emergence of new high speed communications technologies and their possible impact on the art of good communication, privacy, the importance of face-to-face relationship building and the consequences of broad-based communications to a world-wide audience.

A most entertaining and thought-provoking evening was concluded with supper and much discussion. Thanks were expressed to His Excellency and Mrs Underwood for a most successful evening.

HUTCHINS ART PRIZE

The eleventh Hutchins Art Prize attracted a record attendance of 2,000 visitors over its twelve days in the Long Gallery, Salamanca Place. Feedback was invariably complimentary.

This year the exhibition was opened by His Excellency The Honourable Peter Underwood AC, Governor of Tasmania, who also announced the prize winners. His Excellency insisted on visiting the show before writing his speech. The perceptive nature of his address reflected this attention to detail. Around 400 guests attended the lively Gala Opening at which the Hutchins Jazz Guitar Ensemble played with verve and skill. Hutchins Hospitality students were efficient and smiling waiters.

The winner of the 2009 Hutchins Art Prize ($15,000, acquisitive) is Tasmanian printmaker, Milan Milojevic. Victorian installation artist, Fiona Cabassi, received $2,000 as the Hillcross Financial Services Runner-up and local PhD student, Yvonne Rees-Pagh, won the Artery Student Award of $500. The Road Runners People's Choice Award of $500 was won convincingly by Tasmanian Lindsay Broughton.

Artists from all over Australia specialising in works on paper view The Hutchins Art Prize as a major biennial event. This year 330 submitted entries. The 62 finalists consider their inclusion in the show as a significant achievement. It is not just the generous prize money that attracts entries from the nation's foremost works on paper specialists, but also the kudos of having their work hung in the company of their peers. The Hutchins Art Prize has earned its enviable reputation through many years of reliable achievement. Mainland artists are happy to invest in the considerable expense of freighting their work to and from Hobart knowing that they will be seen in a major and efficiently run show.

For the first time our five-judge panel, chaired by Kirsty Grant (National Gallery of Victoria), comprised representatives from separate States. Other members of the panel were Ron McBurnie (printmaker and lecturer from Queensland), Therese Kenyon (art gallery director from New South Wales), Maria Zagala (curator from South Australia) and Ian Ross (curator from Tasmania). Chris Hall, who is based in Thailand and was unavailable to judge in Hobart, took part in the pre-selection process.

Finally, thank you to our sponsors and volunteers. Their magnificent contribution enables the Hutchins Art Prize to function as a largely cost-neutral event. The Hutchins Art Prize Committee runs the Gala Opening and stages the show. The Hutchins Foundation is the solid rock of support underwriting a wonderful School initiative enshrining culture as a modern Hutchins tradition.

LIVING AND LEARNING THROUGH GIVING

'Be alert to give service. What counts a great deal in life is what we do for others.' Anonymous

An important influence on the development of social and moral intelligence in young men is a positive male role model. In my case it was my father and then later my father-in-law.

Together with his commitment to being a father, gardener, looking after the chooks and employee, dad made time to give to his community – the RSL, the Football Club, the Bowls Club, Scouts as the Regional Scout Master, helping the migrant community find work. The list seemed endless. When I asked him 'why?', he replied that it is just what you do. The strength of the community is a product of what we all give to it and one another. It was something you did not really think about.

I saw it too in my father-in-law. Every year he gave up part of his annual holidays to work at the Launceston Show with his local Rotary club. Some may say they were a product of a different time. That is true, but the sense of community as opposed to the sense of self is needed more today than ever. We can learn a lot from reflecting on the past!

As a school community we see the importance of developing these values and a commitment to community. To graduate with Distinction or High Distinction boys must complete Community Service Learning, a Tasmanian Qualifications Authority accredited subject, over two or more years and accumulate at least 60 hours of service. Not only do the boys engage in service tasks, they are also asked to reflect on and evaluate what knowledge and skills they have developed.

We need to foster and develop the skills of civic participation and an ethic of service and civic responsibility.

Communities need young men to be proactive contributors and that their contribution be sustained over time. It also develops skills for lifelong learning, such as communication, critical thinking, sensitivity to diversity, clarifying values and problem solving.

It is exciting to see the range and transformative effect on our young men as these activities address the real life needs in our school, in local community-based and faith-based organisations, and overseas. Oprah Winfrey, O Magazine, September 2002, said 'I've come to believe that each of us has a personal calling that's as unique as a fingerprint – and that the best way to succeed is to discover what you love and then find a way to offer it to others in the form of service, working hard, and also allowing the energy of the universe to lead you.' Many of the activities arose from such personal interests and passions.

Peter Symons
Director of Teaching and Learning

Giving life

Over 90 boys enrolled in Community Service Learning, realising a whole-school commitment to service and volunteering for a broad range of house, school and community activities.

No better example of this wonderful commitment is our achievement over the past three years in the Tasmanian Winter Blood Challenge. For a third year in a row we have achieved the highest number of donations over a three month period. At the Headmaster's Assembly, when representatives of the Red Cross Blood Service presented the School with the 2009 Challenge trophy, Mr Fishburn commented upon our achievements.

'Now, some of you donors are outstanding academics and scholars, winner of prizes. Some of you are acclaimed sportsmen whose wondrous achievements have been recounted here in front of assemblies – winners of events, premierships and grand finals. My final comments are addressed, however, to those of you who have never graced this stage and who may never come up here and be applauded. I wish that you today and in the future clap and cheer the achievements of your school mates as they come on stage. But I want you to sit back and smile unto yourselves and feel a warm sense of satisfaction and know in your own mind you have arguably achieved more than any on this stage, for you have saved lives of those struck down by disease and injury. You have given of yourself, nothing anyone else can give. So Hutchins thanks you, the International Red Cross thanks you, Samoa and Indonesia thank you and Mr Rae thanks you for you are the best, you are indeed champions!'

The Hutchins community is justifiably proud of their service, commitment and individual achievements as part of Community Service Learning and, more particularly, for achieving genuine community spirit, something rare and wonderful.

The Tasmanian Winter Blood Challenge

SCIENCE FACULTY

There are many ways students can be involved in Science at Hutchins, including Science conferences and forums in Australia and overseas, Science competitions testing knowledge, processes and skills; research investigation awards; Forensic Science camps; and engineering challenges.

5th Asia-Pacific International Student Science Conference

Mr Ross Towns took six Hutchins students to the 5th Asia-Pacific International Student Science Conference in Singapore. George Dargaville (The Effect of Salt on Blood Haemolysis), Charles Haward (Hamstring Flexibility), Anton Roberts (Effects of Recycled Water on Agriculture) and David Lord (Factors affecting a Gaussian Gun) – all from Year 10, and Samuel Crofts and Michael Manthey (Hydrogen Fuel Cells) from Year 9 presented findings from their experimental research investigations.

Michael Manthey (FL) and George Dargaville (FR) with the other delegates

2009 AIP Physics Quiz

The Hutchins team of Christopher Ryba, Thomas MacDonald, Lachlan Poslek and Tomos Lelong (all Year 11) inferred, deduced, calculated and postulated their way to a stunning victory in the Physics Quiz over teams from Elizabeth College, The Friends' School and the Hutchins Year

12 team. This is the first time that the Quiz (now in its 14th year) has been won by a team of Year 11 students.

ICAS Science Competition

High Distinctions were awarded to:

Year 7: Ian Fulton, Andrew Mackay, Stipe Mamic, John Pereira

Year 8: Lachlan Fraser, Hugh Johnson

Year 10: Thomas Dobie, Charles Haward, Isaac Woo

RACI Titration Competition

Individual Certificates of Achievement for measuring within 1% of the correct concentration were:

Year 11: Matthew Keep, Xinhao Li, Lachlan Poslek; Year 12: Samuel Allender, Ji Hoon (Greg) Dong, Daniel Jones, Matthew Kang, and James Lord.

National Chemistry Quiz

1st in Tasmania in Year 11: Lachlan Poslek. 2nd in Tasmania in Year 11: Thomas MacDonald.

High Distinctions were awarded to:

2009 UTAS Science

Investigation Awards

Prize winners were: George Dargaville: 2nd Year 10 Section; Anton Roberts: 3rd Year 10 Section; Isaac Woo: People's Choice Award.

Twenty six Year 9 students competed in the 2009 Science and Engineering Challenge. Activities ranged from constructing a hovercraft, designing an electricity grid, communicating in code and bridge busting.

Peter Crofts

Forums

This year Hamish Coupe attended the National Youth Science Forum in Canberra in January, while Christopher Ryba (Year 11) was one of only two students representing Tasmania at the Professor Harry Messel International Science School.

21st Century Science and Engineering

This was a new elective subject in 2009. Led by Dr Peter Wilson and Mr Kent Moore the students were involved in researching, designing and developing a hydrogen fuel cell. Experiments were conducted to test the efficiency of existing cells, as well as factors affecting the production of hydrogen. An electrolyser was made by the end of the course. It is intended that classes in future years will be able to go further with the manufacture of the fuel cell.

DESIGN AND TECHNOLOGY

The Faculty of Design and Technology encompasses design and problem solving developments in areas such as Robotics, Design and Technical Graphics, Computer Graphics Design, Housing and Design and Design and Production with focus areas in metal and wood.

All students are introduced to the thinking strategies of the design process. These strategies are developed, streamlined and applied to each individual's design. Ideas are developed through a process of research and development of concepts that are turned into real physical solutions. Understanding the design and physical limits of materials and the realisation that options must be considered are part of the thinking and doing process.

Skills are developed that assist with the building of self-confidence and, along with directional adjustments from teachers, can lead to some amazing results of self expression and character.

Hugh and Oliver Johnson, Thomas MacDonald assisted by Mr Berndt and Mr Turbett made a good showing at The Wooden Boat Festival in the schools competition.

Special mention is in order for the following: Richard Giblin and Nicolas Schuecker-Rush for inspirational work in both Designer Maker and Design in Metal. Benjamin Tither was outstanding in Design Graphics.

Alistair Court, Mathew Heywood and Campbell Whiteley are to be congratulated on entering The Tasmanian Design Award with their concepts and models of an electric programmed candle. Ross Giblin's and Angus Ware's Computer Graphics and Design final presentations were outstanding. Matthew Sansom was selected as the best presentation in our Housing and Design class. Samuel Downie, Joseph McGrath and Jack McGrath were standouts in the senior Production and Design areas.

There were looks of satisfaction and pride on many faces as the results of their planning and decision-making were realised and then carried home.

Tom Turbett
Head of Faculty

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE

Statistics for the School show that we have achieved a 100% increase in the number of International students coming to study at Hutchins over the past four years.

These figures include short term and exchange students who may be with us for a term or two to improve their English and get a taste of a different education system. More and more students, however, are choosing Hutchins as a great school at which to complete their secondary schooling and move on to their further studies and careers of choice.

Our ESL students this year come from a wide range of Asian and European origins, such as China, Hong Kong, Thailand, Germany, Vietnam, Korea,

France and Taiwan. It's a wonderful tribute to the students themselves and to the local students, that young men from such different cultural backgrounds are able to live and learn together without friction. The students have had some excellent learning support from their ESL tutors and have also benefitted from pre-tertiary preparatory courses in Chinese and Korean for native speakers.

Our studies have been rigorous and demanding, as usual, but we have also managed to have a lot of enjoyment in the difficult task of learning and perfecting a new language.

Early in the year, our Year 9 and 10 students represented the School at the annual Harmony Day celebration in central Hobart, with two boys – Matoom and Pun – even taking the stage to present to a large crowd a speech composed by their class. We had some wonderful excursions over the course of the year. The senior secondary boys travelled down to Bruny Island and visited the penguin rookery and some beautiful beaches. Year 9 and 10 boys explored the different trails of the Tahune Airwalk and the Middle School students were lucky to have a perfect day for a picnic at Taroona, followed by ice-skating.

All of the boys made good to excellent progress with their English this year and will start 2010 feeling well at home at Hutchins.

Simon Moore
Head of ESL

DESIGNING NEW SPACES – LIBRARIES AND LEARNING

Ubiquitous access to technology, instant information services and a vibrant print collection to ensure reading for life are all part of our 'Library Commons' at the Early Learning Centre, Stephens and Nettlefold Library, as well as our focus in designing learning spaces in the new library learning centre.

In September this year, the Nettlefold Library relocated into the Toppin Room until the completion of the new library learning centre in 2010. A feature of the new facility for all classes will be a large seminar room enabling high definition video conferencing through our AARNet (Australian Academic and Research Network) membership.

2009 has been an eventful year in each of the libraries. The Hutchins community maintains a giving program through the Annual Library Appeal. The donations enable the acquisition of high quality curriculum and reference materials. All students enjoy increased access to ICT with the netbook trollies located in the libraries as well as high speed internet bandwidth from AARNet. Staff and students take advantage of the interactive whiteboard in the library seminar rooms. All the library learning spaces reflect our culture of the Thinking Curriculum with spaces for independent study, instruction, group discussion, collaborative work or using 21st Century ICT social networking tools. The sheer success of the chess tables and their large tabletop chess pieces has meant that the 2009 Year 12 Leavers have donated another as their parting gift to the School.

The Library Leader program continues with boys in Middle and Senior Schools working in the library to earn service hours. This program will be ongoing, as Library Leaders will select new resources or publish their original reviews on our school webpage.

We have been fortunate to have three very different author visits in the Early Learning, Junior and Middle Schools. In Term 2, we hosted the Hobart leg of Andy Griffith's Just Macbeth! tour. This was a very exciting event, as Andy is a very famous and popular children's author. His Just...! series, illustrated by Terry Denton, is an enduring favourite with many. To help celebrate the launch of Just Macbeth!, a group of Year 8 Drama boys performed an excerpt from the play, bringing to life Andy's hilarious reworking of the classic Shakespearean tragedy.

2009 has been an eventful year in each of the libraries

Later in Term 2, Prep boys enjoyed an afternoon with Jeannette Rowe, an artist and teacher who is renowned for her bold and colourful children's books, particularly the Whose ...? series, including Whose Nose? and Whose Tail? Jeannette talked to the boys about how she made up the first book as a present for her daughter, and showed them how she draws the different animals in her books. We now have some lovely pictures ready to be framed for the ELC.

In Term 3 we were pleased to host another book launch, this time on a sporting theme. The well-known AFL series Specky Magee is enormously popular with our Junior and Middle School boys, so they were thrilled to see the co-authors, Garry

Lyon and Felice Arena, on stage at our school promoting the seventh title in the series, Specky Magee and the Battle of the Young Guns. Die-hard Garry Lyon fans had some great questions to ask, and the audience of Hutchins and local school students were enthusiastic competitors for the trivia quiz prizes of autographed books and posters.

In other reading promotion activities, this year we again participated in the Premier's Reading Challenge, with boys from Prep to Year 6 undertaking the challenge to read ten books in ten weeks. Also, we entered a Year 6 team in the CBCA-Tas Reader's Cup.

The ClickView service, managed by Library Technician, Mrs Susan Hall, provides video-on-demand in the classrooms, computer labs or libraries or take home on a usb. Backed up by a terabyte server, it maintains constant archive of recorded digital television, learning objects, podcasts and images as well as hosting a large amount of professional development media for teachers. This year, the functionality has increased. A new service, called ClickView 24-7 records and stores all shows from up to six channels as they are broadcast on free-to-air digital television.

The Teacher Librarians – Jill Abell and Kate Reid; Librarian – Katie Holloway; Library Technicians – Leanne Weeks and Susan Hall; Library Assistant – Anna Kirkland; and Archivist – Margaret Mason-Cox thank the volunteer parents, particularly Sorrel Standish-White, as well as all students who help with daily tasks.

INFORMATION MANAGEMENT

An Information and Communication Learning Technology (ICLT) Plan for e-learning, effective teaching and engaged students has been guided in 2009 by the School's Strategic Plan where 'ICT is the enabler.'

Adding to this e-learning vision for Hutchins is the mission to be a 'school of the future' in using 21st Century tools and e-learning strategies to engage and empower all students, staff and the wider community. The strategic intent for the enabling of a high performance organisation with fast, secure and reliable communications for the year included high speed broadband connectivity and a new website. This strengthens the capacity for our students, teachers, parents and our community to communicate, collaborate and access resources and services across national boundaries to global connections. High definition video conferencing and other high demand interactive applications and unified communications are now available to, from and across our internet backbone.

The Year's Highlights

At Easter time, The Hutchins School connected via fibre optic cable to Australia's Academic and Research Network (AARNet) for all its internet services. AARNet, a private not-for-profit company whose shareholders are the 37 Australian universities and the CSIRO. AARNet provides high-capacity and leading edge Internet services for education, scientific research and cultural organisations and their research partners. It serves more than one million end users who access the network through local area networks at member institutions. The Hutchins School is the first school to do so in Tasmania – via the University of Tasmania at speeds of up to 1 Gigabit per second.

Since lighting up the optical fibre at Easter time, video conferencing via AARNet's hosted booking and recording service has given Hutchins the capacity to support a global curriculum focus and connections with other schools and classrooms interstate and overseas as well as field trips to rich media content providers for education such as Questacon. Wherever we link up with K-12 educational programs in collaborating schools, universities, science, technology and research centres, museums, or galleries, our on-net subscription membership basis of AARNet gives us free ISP connection.

Years 5 and 8 students connected to Questacon's digital studio for Polar Palooza. In celebration of the Antarctic Treaty's 50th anniversary and many years of peaceful Antarctic exploration, students joined international and Australian scientists as they shared personal stories of adventure and polar research with high-definition videos of wildlife from both poles, as well as remarkable NASA satellite visuals showing shrinking of the sea ice.

A new external website was launched by the Headmaster in December which incorporates the alignment to the School's branding. There are now two distinct web presences for Hutchins being further developed and representing different types of communication:

1. The Hutchins School public website (for prospective students and their parents, existing students and their parents, and the greater community)
2. Hutchins Central (for staff, existing students and their parents).

The Student IT Leader team was chaired by Angus Ware, and co-vice chairmen, James Lord and Matthew Kang. The Leaders included Shervin Aflatooni, Tomos Lelong, Benjamin Cross, Joseph Hawksworth, Christopher Ryba, Nikolaus Charles, Stuart Ednie, Matthew Keep, Cameron Burnett, Nicholas Forbes-Smith and William Sander. This year, the activities ranged from participation in computer programming projects and competitions, designing large communications screens for daily news, PD for teachers, Sharepoint training and House site-building, Middle School lab leadership, MS Flight Club, audio and auditorium tech box services, and digitisation in the Archives.

Through the Federal government's Digital Education Revolution strategy, senior students have enjoyed increased class access to ICT services through the addition of five portable trollies, each housing 26 netbooks.

Pre-tertiary senior students from the Computer Science, Information Systems and Graphics Design classes travelled to Launceston campus of UTAS at Newnham to visit the UTAS HIT (Human Interface Technologies) Lab and School of Computing and Information Systems and the Inveresk School of Architecture and Design. It was a successful day as former Hutchins students studying at UTAS were available to meet with students to enable them to discuss their courses, study and life at UTAS Launceston.

A Final Enabler!

Andrew Flett (Year 10) was part of a group that won an international web publishing competition, ThinkQuest, with his interview of Stephens House Leader, William Colvin. As part of a group of five students from Singapore and Hong Kong, they designed a portal to allow young people to explore various leadership theories and qualities. They hoped that the mindset that 'only leaders can lead' will be challenged and that each of us has the power of influence to make a positive impact on our community. The sponsoring organisation, Oracle gave assistance to Andrew to travel to San Francisco in October with the other five students to attend the workshops in and around ThinkQuest Live's headquarters. Their winning website – LEAD Portal – Bringing out the Leader in YOU! can be viewed at <http://library.thinkquest.org/08aug/02289/>

OUTDOOR EDUCATION

Highlights of 2009

Over the years we have all developed a real connection with the Stephen Hay Memorial Park at Southport. Students in Years 3, 4, 5 and 7 continue to enjoy their time here and always look forward to returning to face new challenges.

The Junior School classes undertook long adventurous days and often short, sleepless nights. Highlights are camping out, riding waves at the beach and firefly activities after dark. Despite short nights, it is a real pleasure to see our Junior School boys so excited to be learning new things in the outdoors.

A new program was introduced into JS outdoor education. Students in Year 6 were given four adventures and they could choose two. During winter, students undertook learning activities in the snow and cold. Some travelled to Mt Hotham while others travelled to Mt Wellington, Mt Field and Ben Lomond. In Term 3 students then undertook a trip to Canberra or Bruny Island. Many thanks to Mr Eaves, Mr Polegaj and Mr Prebble for their leadership and enthusiasm. The following Year 9 students are thanked for their support of Junior School students as they undertook their camp: Tom Beadle, Nicholas Rowell, Arjun Dubey, Aden Crocker, Edward Heath, Hugh Mathys, Jeremy Yang, Mitchell Tan, Lachlan Smith, Allan Rushworth, Benjamin Cretu, and Nicholas McVilly.

The Year 7s started their year with an introduction to paddling, long walking, mountain biking and horizontal caving that gets them ready for Year 8. The intrepid group of Year 8s visited the Freycinet National Park during July. In groups, they undertook a circuit of the peninsula moving around campsites carrying everything they needed on their backs. This is a significant undertaking as boys also climb, walk and ride over the week.

The Hutchins/Fahan ski tour to Mt Hotham went ahead again in sunny September! Both boys and girls improved their ability to slide the slopes. Congratulations to Charles Holmes, William Bowden and Justin Heatley-Hart for representing Hutchins in the Tasmanian schools downhill ski/snowboard events. Charles is to be congratulated for winning a division of the downhill slalom. Thanks to Ms Emily Grant and Ms Amanda Beltz from Fahan for their organisation.

Well done to the boys who worked towards a Duke of Edinburgh Award this year: Bronze: Tom Beadle, Nicholas Rowell, Lachlan Smith, Mitchell Tan, Nicholas McVilly, Jamie Briant, Peter Humphrey; and Silver: Allan Chen and Zachariah Lieutier. Thanks also to Mr Prior for continuing to co-ordinate the boy's efforts.

... we watched you learn more about yourself and your abilities

Well done to all Year 9s who undertook their particular challenge. Regardless of the choice of adventure, the effort required was still big. Some new challenges were introduced this year. A group of students looking for a new challenge undertook three days of intense racing as they traversed Hobart's urban landscape in teams, in an attempt to locate clues, answer questions and undertake challenges. The highlight was dropping groups at random places throughout Sandy Bay with no knowledge of what to do or where to go until just before the bus pulled away.

Mr Kingston and Mr Mirowski lead a group of students through four days of intense learning about being in and around the surf. They undertook surf survival training, learned how to help injured people out of the water and to look out for each other. They also surfed some of Tassie's best breaks!

A special mention for Timothy Clark, who may well have become the first student of Hutchins to undertake the challenge of Kokoda. Tim set out on this journey in the early months of the year and completed the seven day trek in October. We admire him for his sense of adventure, his willingness to undertake this huge challenge and congratulate him on his success. Thanks also to Tim Hazell from Prospect for his contribution.

Finally to all students – Well done to you! You have undertaken some hard challenges this year; we watched you learn more about yourself and your abilities. Now you are ready for what 2010 has to offer!

What are you looking forward to in 2010? – Freycinet, biking, Thailand, surfing, Tasman Peninsula, walking, Bruny Island, kayaking, Maria Island, climbing, Overland Track, skiing, Mt Hotham, talking, India, helping, Southport, camping.

A big thanks to Mr Ben Duggan who works tirelessly to ensure you all have a great learning experience and who, after about 100 days and 70 nights away, deserves a well-earned rest.

Thanks also to the following people who have shaped outdoor education this year: Peter Symons, Jonathan Quinn, Tim Polegaj, Anthony Prior, Ryan Carstens, Rob Knight, Cameron MacDougall and Nick Hancock.

EARLY LEARNING CENTRE AND JUNIOR SCHOOL

What is learning? It is an integral part of our nature. To learn continues, hopefully for as long as we live. For hundreds of years we have known that Reading, Riting and Rithmetic are important.

The Three Rs

We need to ensure that our boys are articulate, literate and numerate, that they have the core foundation skills. According to our national benchmarking tests, we are faring very well. We are well above the national benchmark for Tasmania and Australia in English and in particular Numeracy.

However, children's development is a process, not a race or competition! All children are unique individuals who learn in different ways and at different rates. Learning cultivates individual passions and talents and equips children with the skills that allow them to enquire, problem solve, analyse and create.

This is the first year that the ELC and Junior School have had a Deputy whose main task is to look after the learning needs of our students and staff. Mrs Sue Hasenkam in her new role has worked extensively with staff and has reviewed SOSE and Science 'Scope and Sequence' documents and they are now completed. All Integrated units of work (from K to 6) have been differentiated. The 'Standards and Criteria' and the subject overviews have also been written for most subjects. We have put a lot of work into refining our three Rs!

However, there are other Rs that are equally important – Relationships and Respect, Rights and Responsibilites, Reflectiveness and Resilience. All Rs are vital in revealing the potential of each child.

... children's development is a process, not a race

Rights and Responsibilities

The dignity of every human being should be respected.

It is just over 50 years almost to the day since the United Nations Declaration of the Rights of the Child. Most of the boys here are in very privileged positions and they are able to take for granted those rights, unlike many other children around the world. However, with those rights comes accountability, for we are all responsible for our own actions and with privilege comes even greater responsibility. At Hutchins we endeavour to help the boys understand the importance of taking on responsibilities in areas such as helping those less fortunate than themselves through the work we do with charities and in caring for the environment, from planting vegetable gardens, to recycling and reducing our carbon footprint on this precious land.

Respect and Relationships

Confucius said respect yourself and others will respect you but we must also learn to respect our differences, particularly in this global world.

Respect for ourselves guides our moral thinking and our values. It sets the foundation for our respect for others and our environment.

Relationships are what life is all about. All students need to develop interpersonal skills. The quality of our relationships, our feelings of involvement with and of compassion for each other makes a difference to whether or not the world around us flourishes.

At Hutchins in all that we do and say – implicit and explicit – we strive to give our students the very best of examples; in and out of the classroom, of respect and relationships.

Reflection

Reflection allows us to learn to understand our strengths and weaknesses. This can be harder than the other Rs. It requires self-awareness, open mindedness, courage, honesty and humour. It also requires the ability to critically evaluate our own learning.

The search for new possibilities or ways of doing things allows us to reflect on the higher and most important things in life.

Teaching

The great teacher is the enabler, the one who enables and empowers their pupils to take on wings and give them the tools of all the Rs, including reflection. Teaching is often referred to as 'iceberg' work as so much of what we achieve goes on beneath the surface in the minds and hearts of our young people and may not surface for years to come, but which does not alter the effort that good teachers put in.

EARLY LEARNING CENTRE AND JUNIOR SCHOOL

I thank all the ELC and JS classroom teachers and specialist teachers as I know the incredible passion they all have for teaching and acknowledge their professionalism, integrity and high calibre. Our thoughts and best wishes go with Mr Tim Polegaj who will be travelling and teaching overseas for two years, Mr Ivor Leonard who will be teaching in Middle School and Mrs Wendy Sakul who will be leaving to concentrate on other pursuits.

Resilience

Effective learning is almost impossible without resilience. We all need to develop the ability to overcome adversity and obstacles. As Thomas Edison once said 'I haven't failed; I've identified 10,000 ways this doesn't work.' We cannot change students' experiences or history but we can help them feel valued for who they are. This improves their chances of developing resilience and importantly it makes a difference to how well they learn. By allowing children to explore their world, by offering different challenges and different ways of solving a problem, by modelling a positive attitude, ensuring that every child is heard, providing a pastoral team with a strong spiritual base and excellent core values, we hope that these beacons will help prepare our students to find the inner resources including resilience to cope with discontinuity and change.

One story of courage and resilience that I often reflect on happened in Sarajevo where there has been conflict for centuries between different religious and ethnic groups...

On 27 May 1992 in Sarajevo a group of civilians were standing in a queue for bread when a mortar shell fell from the sky. Twenty-two men, women and children were killed. The next day in the same place, amongst the rubble, dressed in formal evening tails and perching on a fire-charred chair was Vedran Smailovic, a well-educated cellist. Amidst the sniper fire, Vedran played for 22 consecutive days, one for each of his friends and neighbours who were killed in the blast. Knowing he might be shot he played the most beautiful music he could, Albinoni's Adagio in G Minor. For two more years of the siege he continued to play every day, in graveyards and bombsites. His music was stronger than the war. His courage stronger than fear. In time the fighting stopped. The music and the city and the people lived on, in part thanks to one man's display of respect, responsibility and resilience. He revealed his full potential, something we all aspire to.

The Friendship Seat for the Early Learning Centre Playground

The John Bednall Centre for Learning Support was given a grant by the School to have a special seat designed and made. This seat was designed and made by an old boy, Simon Ancher, and a group of ELC boys was involved in the design process. The seat was installed in the playground of the Early Learning Centre and is beautifully crafted out of timber. It has added another element of interest to the grounds. The seat is used as a strategy to assist the children in having positive social experiences in the playground.

Social isolation or exclusion are realities in every school and are often observed as early as Kindergarten. We need to acknowledge the negative effects on the development of self-esteem and, in order to acknowledge these realities, the seat was made. If a child is experiencing loneliness they are encouraged to sit on the seat and their peers are encouraged to seek them out and invite them to play.

The Friendship Seat therefore, provides students with a non-threatening playground strategy to use to be included in play and also gives peers an important role of inclusion in the playground. It will make loneliness everyone's responsibility, so that loneliness becomes a less lonely experience.

ELC AND JS MUSIC

Junior School Music

This year proved to be another rewarding one in terms of learning, creating and performing through a variety of musical experiences. All boys have the opportunities to be involved in Assemblies, Choirs, Open Day, Eisteddfods, Chapel Services, Grandparents' Day, Soirees at each year level, Year 4 Wakakirri, String Groups, Christmas Nativity Play and Presentation Night.

We were pleased to welcome Miss Kathryn Glover as classroom music teacher in Term 1. Miss Glover taught Junior School classes from Kindergarten to Year 5 while Mrs Robin Short was on leave.

We also welcomed Mr Brendan Conroy an accomplished cellist to the staff. Sadly, we said goodbye to Mrs Annabel Watkins who introduced some of the younger boys to the challenge of playing double bass! We also said goodbye to Ms Mischi Sigrist our classical guitar teacher. We thank her for her wonderful and long service.

String Program

The success of this program has been very rewarding with over 100 boys from Years 3 to 6 playing a stringed instrument. This level of achievement could not have been reached without the support and dedication of our very talented teachers.

Our Junior String Group performed in the Ensemble Showcase Concert in Term 1, Grandparents' Day in Term 2, the Spring Concert in Term 3 and Junior School Presentation Evening in December. Boys also attended the TSO children's educational concert in Term 1 entitled Mr Tix, which provided the boys with much orchestral information in a light-hearted manner.

Choral Development

Our boys love to express themselves vocally and all have the opportunity to sing in class choirs on a weekly basis. Boys may further develop their vocal skills by singing in 'The Treble Singers' which is open to boys from Years 3 to 6. The older boys are able to join the 'Senior Trebles' which caters for boys in Years 6 to 8.

In Term 2 every boy in Year 3 and 4, under the direction of Miss Glover, performed at the Hobart City Eisteddfod. The adjudicator was amazed and thoroughly delighted to see 98 young men performing together. They were a credit to our school.

Year 6 Symphonic Band

Under the direction of Mr Scott Cashion, boys in Year 6 may play a variety of band instruments from the brass, woodwind, string and percussion families. Tutors assisting Mr Cashion include Mr Les Johnston, Mr Dean Hunt and Mr Glenn Schultz. An exciting development in the band program is the addition of three tuba players.

Presentation Night was the culmination of their year's work with 61 boys presenting a very polished and exciting performance of 'Traffic Jam.'

Early Learning Centre

Our youngest performers always delight with their innocence and enthusiasm for all things musical. They have presented items at weekly Assemblies, Grandparents' Day, Anniversary Week, Soirees, sung in choirs and entertained the folk at Queenborough Rise.

The Year 2 boys sang with dignity and sensitivity when they paid tribute to the Year 12 leavers at the Valedictory Service with a moving rendition of 'Until We Meet Again.'

The Christmas Story presented by the Prep boys, was a delight. For boys so young they performed with such professionalism – excellent diction from the narrators, beautiful singing and great acting. The Kindergarten item also delighted audiences when they presented their song 'Christmas is Nearly Here.'

Presentation Night

Our theme for Presentation Night was centred around the 3Rs – Respect, Responsibility and Resilience. The ELC boys presented their own version of the 3Rs by choosing another set of 'R' words – Reduce, Reuse and Recycle. We think they will all become very responsible young citizens! To stand on the stage at Wrest Point in front of 1000 people, is no easy feat – they did themselves proud!

The Year 4 boys presented a cacophony of 'Recycled Rhythms' by using their homemade instruments from recyclable materials – a masterpiece not seen or heard on the stage before! The Year 3 violin players and the string orchestra items were very true indicators of the growth and success of the string program.

Yet again, the Drama Group, under the direction of Mrs McCreary and Mr Berry, completely captivated the audience with 'If the shoe fits...' Perhaps the climax of the evening was the singing of the massed choir with all boys from Years 1 to 6 on stage – a total of 303 boys. Their singing of 'We are the World' was a fitting tribute to the life and music of Michael Jackson.

Thank you to my fellow colleagues who continually give support and encouragement, and strive for excellence in providing a well-rounded music education for our boys in Junior School. Mrs Anna Quinn, our accompanist, Mrs Rosemary Seddon for her invaluable clerical assistance, Mr Andrew Bainbridge for always being there and our Head of Music, Mr Christopher Luke, for keeping us all in harmony.

"You know so much about dinosaurs Tyson! You must be a dinosaur expert!"

This comment was made by Henry to Tyson one afternoon early on in the year. Tyson confesses every day to being completely mad about dinosaurs. He states quite clearly to anyone who asks that he is going to be a palaeontologist when he grows up. He is regularly referred to as 'the dinosaur expert' in our class.

The notion of 'being an expert' is fascinating. We had a discussion as a class group to gauge the boys' understandings of this concept:

Mr Gilkes: "What is an expert?"

Michael: "An expert knows about dinosaurs, volcanoes and animals."

Will: "Not just that. Like Dashan is an expert on birds. It means that you're very good at something."

Tyson: "They know lots of stuff. I'm like a dinosaur expert because I know lots about them. I can read their names, know what they look like and what they eat."

James K: "An expert knows everything about the things that they are an expert on."

PREP G SHARE THEIR EXPERTISE!

Mr Gilkes: "How do you become an expert?"

Max: "You study and learn."

Quinn: "When I first became an expert on crystals I went to a shop and I bought some and I thought this would be cool to get into."

Tyson: "I didn't know much about dinosaurs when I was a baby but I looked at movies and dinosaur books and my mum told me lots. I practised saying the long names."

Thomas: "You have to learn and then you just do something you want to do."

As the photos here show, Prep G are now 'experts' in a number of areas. Commenting on a friend's expertise to acknowledge an achievement or strength has become a part of our class culture over the course of the year. (For example, "You've constructed a really tricky car out of K-Nex. You are a construction expert!", "Mr Gilkes! I now know how to tie my shoelaces! That must mean I'm a shoelace expert!" etc)

These 'build ups' and affirmations have helped to create a really cohesive group – boys who are not afraid to take risks in front of their peers, to show their competence as learners and to actively seek out new and exciting areas of expertise.

SWIMMING LESSONS BY 1S

Alden Rankin, Jack Campbell, Henry Reeve

Yesterday we went to the Collegiate Pool. We went to Learn to Swim. I am in Emma's group. We had to do a pin drop. Adam was my other one. We did a back torpedo and a tummy torpedo. We learnt how to get in the water properly and safely.

William Lickiss

Yesterday we went to have swimming lessons at the Collegiate Pool. My instructor was Mr McAloon. Lochie, Jack Marios, Henry, Alex Betts, and Thomas and Ethan and, of course, me was in my group. The water was really, really, really warm. I'm good at freestyle. Before it started we had to sit on our towels and listen. My favourite activity was the torpedo race. This is what we had to do: we had to have a race doing torpedoes with a body-board.

Jack Rossiter

Yesterday we went to the Collegiate Pool and my instructor's name is Adam. On Friday mums and dads will come and we get changed by ourselves. We sit on our towel and swimming is my favourite thing to do. I like going under and we did torpedo near the rope and when we got good at the torpedoes we could go to the deep end. All three of us went down to the deep end of the pool and our instructor put a pole in the water and we had to go down it and we had to blow bubbles.

Max Denehey

Yesterday we went to swimming lessons at the Collegiate Pool. I was in Mr McAloon's group. We did do some jumps in the water. It is very fun and I got very wet. My swimming bag is a Hutchins bag. Lochie is in my group and so is Jack Rossiter. We did back stroke.

Thomas Midgley

Yesterday we went to the Collegiate Pool. My instructor is Mr McAloon. He teaches us bubble-arm-breathe. The people in my group are Jack Rossiter and Thomas. He teaches us a torpedo race. We had to do a torpedo and touch the other person. We had to do back stroke. We had to push off the wall. We had fun and we had to float on our backs. They weren't all the people. Alex Betts and Lochie and Ethan are in my group too.

Jack Marios

Yesterday we went to the Collegiate Pool. We get changed by ourselves. Then we go out and sit on our towels. We did back tornadoes and normal tornadoes. We did jumping jelly beans. My instructor is Mr McAloon. Max was not in my group. It was fun. The people in my group are Thomas and Lochie and Jack Rossiter and Jack Marios and Henry and Alex Betts. We did back stroke. We did a glide contest and I came last. We did a relay race. We had to swim to a partner with a kick board and give it to your partner.

TEACHER: Mrs Lesley Salter
TEACHER'S ASSISTANT: Mrs Amanda Thomson

My favourite memory of the ELC was going to the fire station in Year 1. We went onto a fire truck and the fireman told us all about the air tanks.
Patrick Alcock

My favourite thing in the ELC was in Year Two when I went tree planting. It was really wet and my favourite thing was looking for the stakes so we could plant a tree. That was fun.
Nick Allardice

In Year 1 and Year 2 I liked doing choir because it is with Mrs Short.
Selby Allen

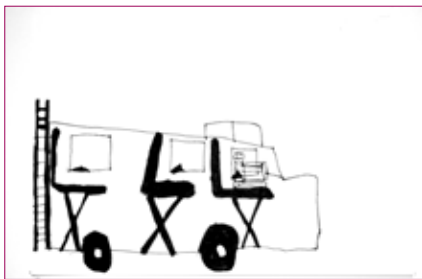

My favourite memory of the ELC is Maths.
Max Beattie

My favourite memory would probably be my birthday when I was in Year 1 because it was a cream cake.

Gregory Beckett

My favourite memory is playing footy down on the oval at lunch time.

Oliver Burrows-Cheng

My favourite thing was going to the fire station. One group got to go on the fire truck and the other group got to squirt the hose.

Jackson Coad

My favourite memory of the ELC was playing football on the oval at lunch time with my friends. I loved doing leaf prints with Mrs Salter.

Will Cottier

I really liked going to the Marine Discovery Centre in Prep and there was a big fish in a big room and in the water one of the fish got stuck in a pipe. In Prep I really enjoyed building the Tornado Machine, we got key cards and we could only go in if we had our card.

Lewis Drury

My favourite memory is going on the fire station excursion. We got to go in the old fire station as well as the new one.

Luca Gentile

My favourite thing to do in ELC was maths. I like addition the best.

Sudhaunshu Hardikar

My favourite memory of the ELC is playing handball at lunch time.

Brendan Heatley-Hart

My favourite memory is when we went to the Marine Discovery Centre in Prep because we got to see a hermit crab and an eel.

Andrew Kemp

My favourite memory was doing an experiment in Kinder, playing squirt with all the class in Year 1.

Jordan Kiley

My favourite memory was going to the fire station in Year One. When we went there was a fire and I saw the firemen getting ready to go to the fire.

George Mazengarb

My favourite memory is of the Marine Discovery Centre in Year 1 because I got to touch a real, live baby shark.

Alexander Mackay

I went to the Marine Discovery Centre in Year 1 and we got to touch all these sea creatures. And my favourite one to touch was the sea cucumber.

Lachlan Prescott

My favourite memory was kicking a really good goal in sport this year.

Angus Pullen

My favourite memory in Year 2 is everyone bringing their cake in for their birthdays.

Josiah Ralph

My favourite memories were in Year 1 going to the fire station on an excursion. At the fire station we got to sit in the front seat of the fire truck and got to spray the hose around.

Joshua Seaman

My favourite memory of the ELC was marbling with Mrs Salter.

Nick Smart

My favourite memory was playing squirt with Mr M.

Isaac Stearn

My favourite thing in Prep was going to the Marine Discovery Centre.

Dylan Taylor

My favourite part of being at Hutchins is reading.

Collins Wang

3R'S WORK IN 2009

Testing paper planes

My plane was a really bad plane. Its best distance was 4m. Patrick

My plane came last because I put a pencil in it. Mitchell R

It was fun making and flying the planes. Jack

My plane didn't go to well because it turned around too much. Tim

The paper airplane test was fun. Will

It was fun. Mine flew 2m. Toby

Sam, Will, Finn and Mitchell with their plane designs

Tasmanian Environments Trip

My tongue stuck to a big, very cold rock at the top of Wellie. Fergus

It was cold. Jack

Brrr it was cold on Wellie. Some people ate snow. Kade

It was freezing cold on Mt Wellington and I did not have a jacket. Mitchell

I was very cold. Tim

It was fun on Wellie. Will

Tasmania Project

I loved making the devil face. Will

I liked the devil project because we got to see the devil trap.

I learnt a lot about the weather. Mitchell

Aborigine Project

I had to do lots of dots on our turtle picture. James

We did an emu. It looked really good when we finished. Tim

When we did the painting the classroom was a mess. Fergus

I did a kangaroo with Finn. Mitchell

We worked in a group of four. My group did the turtle. Patrick

Year 3 Robinson

THIRD ROW: Will Polley, Mitchell Rickards, Hamish Allan, Patrick Betts, Hugh Jubb, Mitchell Hurst, Bas Horne, Oliver Lamb

SECOND ROW: Tom Taglieri, Toby Mison, Timothy J Maclachlan, Liam Kinne, Finn Macrossan, Fergus Charles, Kade Rossiter, Henry Chambers, James Anderson

TEACHER: Mr Paul Robinson

Launching Rockets

The first time my rocket exploded! The second time it went the highest. Patrick

My rocket flew 12 metres. Tim

My rocket was painted black with Essendon colours. Finn

I didn't make one, but I launched someone else's. Will

I got a certificate for my design. Hamish

My rocket flew the furthest in the whole of Year 3. Liam

My small canister rocket worked well. Toby

Hobart Sim City Council

My house was three stories high with a super slippery slide. Patrick

I made a good bridge, but it didn't win the design competition. Nick

My business was a pet shop. Will

My business supplied energy. Oliver

I made the city dump. Jack

My business was the theatre. Tim

I was buried in the council cemetery. Fergus

Mason, Declan and Toby after completing their A10 Warthog

Making Model Planes

It was hard to use the glue while making. Tim

It was really cool. Sam

It was really fun until I mucked up the paint.

The glue tipped on our fighter and quickly set – what a mess! Fergus

It was fun making the planes. Jack

Hamish and I made a spitfire. Jack W

I made a Hurricane with my friends – I've made others since. Liam

I made an A10 Warthog. Toby

Mythical Flying Creatures

I liked making the dragon and it looked great when we had finished. Tim

Smaug was the hardest thing we made. Mitchell

I love making Smaug. I liked gluing the squares on. Patrick

I liked free choice while the others worked on the dragon. Hamish

I loved making the big wings on Smaug. I liked sticking the squares. Finn

Bas, Oliver and Henry helped to make Smaug the Dragon.

The Solar System

The sun was huge compared to Pluto and the other planets. Bas

I held Pluto. Mr Robinson joked that it was the heaviest, but it was actually the lightest. Mason

When we ran around the oval I carried Uranus. Sam

Our Sun was 20 metres around. Pluto was the size of a 20c. Jack W.

Year 3 recreate the Solar System

Footy Colours Day

Kade, Fergus and I were the bombers gang. Go Essendon. Finn

Collingwood rocks. Declan

Only three people went for Fremantle in the whole school. Fergus

Hawthorn had the most supporters. Mitchell

Footy colours day was fun – the blues are the best. Will

Port Adelaide did not have any supporters. James

Making Cooler

We made a triangular prism shaped cooler using card, polystyrene and foil. It was cool. Bas

I think our cooler is going to work really well. Nick

Our cooler has enough insulation to keep our Tim Tam cool. Oliver

MEMORIES OF 3V

In Year 3 I enjoyed doing automatic response, the Tim Tam house experiment, camp at Southport and house assembly. I enjoyed footy colours day because I went to the Grand Final and my favourite team won. Koh Kawaguchi

I enjoyed launching the rockets because it was exciting to see how far my rocket would go. I liked being able to go on the oval whenever you want, having more room to play and doing dot paintings. I liked having my own tub in my desk. Charlie Moss

In Year 3 I enjoy playing violin, Library, PE, sports, Footy Colours Day, House Assemblies, having Miss Vivarelli as a teacher, learning about flight and writing pirate poems. Ben McTaggart

I liked having more room to play because we have more room than we had in the ELC. Most of all I liked making new friends. Rhett Wiggins

In 3V I enjoyed using the violin, recorder and going to choir. I also enjoyed having a sausage sizzle, it was delicious! Tenzin Phuntsok

THIRD ROW: Tom Davie, Samuel Carmichael, Henry Mitchell, Liam Scott, James Browne, William Stadler, Hamish Johnston, Rhett Wiggins

MEMORIES OF 3V

I liked the Tim Tam experiment because it was fun to see if they would work. I also enjoyed watching 'Round the Twist' and camp at Southport. It was awesome!
Hamish Johnston

My favourite things about Year 3 were swimming in the interschool swimming carnival because it was fun and challenging. I enjoyed doing the Tim Tam experiment because it was fun to work with friends.
James Browne

In Year 3 I enjoyed playing the violin because I am quite good at it. Crafting in Art was also very fun along with drawing and painting.
Tom Davie

In Year 3 I enjoyed lunch times and my favourite subject was Music, because I play piano and enjoy making my own music. T-Ball in Term 1 was awesome. School is awesome!
Joe Bailey

In Year 3 I enjoyed Miss Vivarelli being our teacher and the Tim Tam experiment. I also enjoyed Inter-school carnivals because I got in all the different teams.
Sam Canny

In 3V I enjoyed our Flight assembly because it was funny looking at us dressed up in our flight clothes and listening to the songs. I also liked creating aboriginal art because we did dot paintings and made our work stand out.
Connor Noble

In Year 3 I enjoyed Footy Colours Day, the Tim Tam experiment, T-Ball and 'Round the Twist.' I enjoyed creating Blue Sky City because you got to design your own house and business. House Assemblies were great fun because you got to hear about the news from the year.
Henry Mitchell

I enjoyed the Tim Tam experiment because we got to make houses for the Tim Tams. I liked T-Ball in first term, because it was fun and everybody got to have a hit. I enjoyed making my flight poster and showing it in assembly.
Fraser Brumby

I enjoyed Art, making new friends and I had a wonderful time. I enjoyed Library, Sport and having Miss Vivarelli as a teacher.
Alex Titchen

Winter Sports were awesome because Fraser and I were on the same team. The Swimming Carnival was cool because I got two firsts. I also got one third, but I was against Year Fours.
Ben Green

This year in 3V I liked playing before school, having my tub in my desk, Cross Country, creating my flight time-line, measuring the sizes of the planets, making new friends, watching 'Round the Twist' and doing the Tim Tam experiment.
Oscar Chau

This year I enjoyed football, Winter Sports, PE and going to the oval because it is fun. I liked the Tim Tam house project because we all worked well together.
Will Stadler

I liked playing football because I love it. I loved Art because I was very creative. I also liked Library because we got to use the computers. I liked House Assemblies for all the news about Stephens.
Liam Scott

In Year 3 I enjoyed the Tim Tam experiment because we got to make our own houses with a bed for our Tim Tam. I also enjoyed making Blue Sky City because I got to make four companies including my house.
Baxter Crawford

Backgammon buddies, Timmy and Jackson

The Beach Boys – Connor, Timmy, Fraser, Ben and Ben.

I enjoyed playing football and Winter sports. I liked going to the canteen. I also enjoyed playing on the oval.
Will Mathot-Dewis

I enjoyed making our Tim Tam houses, having Grandparents' Day, more room to play and being able to go to the oval at recess and lunch. I enjoyed tennis because I could play it all year and I really improved.
Timmy Mison

In Year 3 I like the playground and the handball courts. I like being able to go on the oval whenever we want and using a computer.
Hugh Oxbrough

In Year 3 I enjoyed playing Castles in Sport because it was fun! I also enjoyed Winter Sport because I like playing soccer and I got to learn some new techniques.
Ryan Marshall

I liked Art because we got to put our skills to work. I liked making Blue Sky City because we got to make houses.
Sammy Carmichael

In Year 3 I liked the Swimming Carnival because I came first. I also enjoyed Art because we got to make Picasso faces.
Jonathon Towns

All Aboard the Lady Nelson

On the Lady Nelson we can see the sea stretching out over the horizon as the mast of the old wooden ship rises up towards the clouds. We can hear the captain calling out directions to the crew as the sails are set, we help out, hoisting the sails as the ship increases its speed. We pull hard, the sails are heavy. Surrounding us is the vast ocean, spraying on us, making us feel all cold inside. We can taste the salt from the water on our lips. We take turns in steering the majestic ship, touching the cold, hard wood on the steering wheel.

No boundaries, no restrictions.
Nothing!

Our hearts pump with excitement as the realisation hits us that 'we' are in control. Around us we can hear our friends laughing as they pretend to be pirates. We hear the echo of our voices as we shout out 'Hutchins' as we pass under the bridge. The waves, the sea, the wind, all of it; It fills you with joy, enlightens you. But most of all there is that sense of freedom, how you can do what you want. No boundaries, no restrictions. Nothing!

All the Fun of the Fair!

All four of us are sitting on the gee whizzer. We can feel the air rushing through our hair. We are all screaming very loudly. As we go around the corner we all get squashed to one side. We can see the people on the jumping castle (trying to do back flips but failing to do so), children laughing and squealing as they run through the Laser Tag Challenge. We can see people enjoying the taste of the delicious, creamy ice creams, cool and refreshing their lips and the sweet, sugary, sticky fairy floss melting in their mouths. We are halfway through the ride and we start to feel a little sick, We can feel something coming up – Oh No, too much thinking about food. We continue on nonetheless (We have no choice) waiting for it to end. The school fair is great, an opportunity to escape from the world, to be free, to do what you want, to be a kid!

A Great Show – Little Shop of Horrors

We are sitting with our classmates trying not to make a sound. The crowd cheers as the actors finish their song. It's like the plant is really alive, it scares us. We can feel the drama; its making us scream inside. We feel scared of what will happen next. We feel intertwined with the story, like its part of us. We feel the hatred and all the emotions. We can hear everything clearly but it's really loud! We wish the sound booth people would turn the volume down, the sound drills into our heads. We sit back in our seats and wonder if the plant or the humans will win. We don't know.

Roll Up, Roll Up – Questacon Science Circus

We are sitting on the hard floor of the auditorium as we watch the Questacon Science Circus. We can see the strips of foil in the air as the scientifically magic stick Steve is using is repelling the foil. We can see Steph walking off to set up her part of the circus. Steve is still moving the stick as he explains how it works. Not only can he repel the foil but control it as well. We hear Steve saying how the stick uses static electricity to repel the foil because the negative and positive charges. We feel happy about watching the science circus as it is entertaining and highly enjoyable. It's a good experience, to know you are learning things but still having fun.

Lights ... Camera ... Action – It's Wakakirri

It's all tension as we wait in the small room. We have been practising for months now, waiting for this wonderful day, Wakakirri. Backstage we can see the black curtain and wonder what we will do when it opens. It makes us feel really nervous. We feel this strange feeling pumping through our blood, adrenaline perhaps. We taste a tinge of fear. It tastes horrible. We touch the fabric our costumes are made of and it feels comforting. We taste the stage make-up on our lips and it reminds us of where we are. We hear people talking in front of the curtain but cannot see them. We hear our friends whispering excitedly.

I'm just a Jack 'Hayes' in a box

Now we feel really nervous. The curtain goes up. We see the bright lights and hear the cheering of the crowd. It feels great! We hear the music begin and feel our bodies doing all the moves we have rehearsed. We hear the crowd cheer even louder than before. We feel proud that everything went well. We want to touch the action replay switch so we can do it all again. It feels fantastic on the inside. We see the curtains move down and see the happy, smiling faces of the characters as they move into the wings. We touch the hands of our friends as we high five. Well done boys!

crashing on the shore of the beach below the cliffs. We can hear the crackle of the burning sticks as the campfire is lit and we smell the burning gum trees. We taste the smoke as the wind blows in our direction. It's cooling, nice. It takes our breath away as we watch the sparks fly through the air. We feel excited about the things that we will do while we are here. The possibilities.

We wander down to the beach; we can feel the sand moving between our toes as we step on to the warm sand. We can taste the salty water as the spray from the waves is blown towards my face. We see the waves and they crash onto the shore and race towards us. Inside our wetsuits we feel warm as we run towards the sea. We feel the wind is rushing by. We can practically taste the sea water on our lips. The sea looks inviting, calm. All we want to do is run in, to be lost in the eternal crashing of the waves. We love camp.

All we want to do is run in, to be lost in the eternal crashing of the waves. We love camp.

Pack Your Bags – We're Off to Camp!

We are lying on our seats as the bus grinds to a halt. As we look out the window we can see the grass longer than you can imagine, the sky proceeding further than you can see, the trees taller than you can climb. We can feel the breeze cool on our faces, the faint drizzle of water coming down from the sky and onto our heads. The grass is green and everything is peaceful. We can hear our classmates chatting as we wait to exit the bus. We touch the fabric seats, smooth and cold underneath our touch. We have arrived at that destination: camp.

As we look at the camp site through the window of the bus we see the brown wooden cabins standing in a straight line in the distance. We hear the waves,

Garden

This year we have been growing a garden! Everyone has learnt lots and many people have helped us. Mr Stevens helped us make the beds. We put nutritious soil and lime in to keep the weeds out. A week later Mr Stevens came again he bought seed tape and many different seeds.

Within a couple of weeks, the seeds came into sight. About a month later we harvested the lettuce and vegies and made some stir fry and other delicious foods.

We go to work in our garden every Tuesday and Helen (a horticulturalist) comes to help us. Our garden has helped us learn about how plants live and what they need to grow.

Antarctic Explorers

In Term 2 we looked at the science of Antarctica as well as the history of Antarctic explorers. We read a book called Race to the Pole, which narrated the hardship that many explorers had faced when trying to be the first to reach the South Pole.

The three men in the race were called Amundsen, Shackleton and Scott. In the end Amundsen won.

We also found out that Hobart has a strong connection with Antarctica.

Oskah Marshall, Angus Reid

Antarctica

This year, 5K has been studying Antarctica. We have kept temperatures of the Australian Antarctic bases, Macquarie Island and Hobart, comparing them to each other. We've looked at the Antarctic climate, the wildlife, past explorers, present scientists and the future of Antarctica. During our Antarctic work, we made a brochure about the connections between Hobart and Antarctica. We visited the places that we had learnt about in our brochure. We also went on the Aurora Australis and were given a guided tour of the ship by a crewmember.

Rainjan Blakers, Nicholas Thomas, James He

Camp 2009

Day 1

On the 7th of October, we left school to go to Southport. It was long bus drive. When we got there we organised ourselves into cabins. After that we went to the beach. Some of us swam but the water was icy cold.

Day 2

In the morning we took some canoes down to a beach and canoed over to the other side and walked through some bush to Southport Bluff beach. We played on the beach and on the way back we almost got run over by a train but no-one was hurt!

Day 3

On Day 3 we went on a walk along a beach before leaving. We had small chips from Legs 'n' Breasts in Huonville and got back to school at about 3pm.

Locky Gardner, Harrison Davidson-Lim and Stewart Jackson

Nick, Angus, Raonjan, Alex and Campbell decide to have a swim

YEAR 5K

Excursions

This year 5K went on a lot of excursions. One of them was going to Kingston to plant some trees because we are learning about the environment and how to protect it. Another one was the ride on the Wild Thing. We were planning to go to camp on Bruny Island but Mr Blackhall hurt his back and so camp was postponed but as we still had the booking we went anyway. Another one was, The Marine Discovery Centre; it is a good place to visit and to learn heaps about plankton and marine animals.

Nat Franklin, Ben Denduang and Aleks Folvig

Lining up for the Wild Thing

YEAR 5L

In Term 1 Year 5 went to the Marine Discovery Centre.

The first thing we did was that we looked under a microscope and saw different types of marine plankton. We spent some time room taken up mostly by a big pool full of different fish. There was flathead, zebra fish, a king crab an eel.

Then we did an experiment using dyed hot water and normal cold water. The result was amazing, the waters didn't mix, so half of a glass was red and the other was clear.

We made our own food web and then we were able to pat a baby shark. We had heaps of fun!

George Grover and Tom Macrossan 5L

For everyone in 5L the plane is just part of the classroom. In the first week of Term 1 you think 'Whoa! There's a full size plane at the back of the class.' By the end of the year it's just the plane that sits there with its wing hanging out over the desks ... until you get in, rest your hands on the joy stick and ignore the levers to the side which you have no clue what they do and take off.

Disappointingly you don't actually go anywhere ... it is a simulator after all but it is still awesome. My 'co-pilot' couldn't find the airport again so we tried a paddock landing. I landed then bounced up again with the brakes on and ended up with the nose stuck in the ground thankfully we emerged unscathed having had loads of fun.

Jack Reid 5L

At the last day of Term 2 our class went on an interesting walk around Hobart visiting all the historic sites of Antarctica!

First we went on a tour around the Aurora Australis. We got to visit the engine room; the bridge; the heli-pad; sit in a life boat and a lot more as well!

After the ship we had a long walk to Hadleys Hotel. The staff showed us the room where Roald Amundsen stayed when he returned from Antarctica having just reached the South Pole.

YEAR 5L

Excursion to Macquarie Island

Next we went to the Museum where we had a look at the Islands-to-Ice exhibition which is all about Antarctica.

After that we had an enjoyable lunch at Mures!

Finally we went to the Bernacchi Tribute before we walked all the way back to school, just as we got in the classroom it started to pour with rain. What an exhausting day!

James MacMichael and Michael Gentile

At the Hutchins Fair 2009 there was a lot to do for the adults and kids. For the children they could go on the Jumping Castles, Gee Whizzer, Tas Laser Skirmish, Climbing Wall, Trampolines, Trash and Treasure, have food and drinks and of course eat lots of lollies!! The adults could sit back and relax with friends and family and drink some wine while gambling on the Chocolate wheel.

The night was a great fun and we think everyone enjoyed themselves.

Sean Lowrie and Jack Green

During April Hutchins 5L went on the Wild Thing as part of camp. Before we departed we had to put life jackets on then these really big coats so we didn't get cold or wet.

First we headed down to Tarooma to look at the rock formations. It was cool. Then we did a couple of doughnuts and headed over to Blackmans Bay, and looked at some salmon farms in the Channel before we went up the coast line of Bruny Island. After that we hung a left and drove to Iron Pot Light House where 4 – 5 metre swells were building. They were massive and we thought the boat would be swamped. After that we went down to South Arm and used a special underwater camera, some people got to drive the camera.

Ewan Favretto and Liam James

The Term 3 social was a big hit with lots of schools turning up including Mount Carmel, Collegiate, Fahan and of course Hutchins. There was a small variety of food, drinks and glow sticks. A teacher from each school came to make sure the social didn't get out of hand. Some of the dances that the older girls taught us were the Macarena although we haven't done it since!

Julian Hudson and Jack Wallace

In Term 2 5L had decided to hold a soccer tournament for local Year 6 teams. We organised the competition in our lessons. We wrote letters to schools to invite them, we put a program together and also did the maths of how long it would last and how we could fit pitches on the WMO. When all of the teams had entered we ordered a cup and medals for the winners.

We also worked on the rules for the competition and organised referees and a BBQ.

Two days before the competition it rained and rained and rained. The tournament didn't happen.

YEAR 5W

Year 5 Webster

THIRD ROW: Will Burgess, Sam Horton, Dylan Stearn, Ian Hamilton, David Geary
 SECOND ROW: Thomas Skalicky, Connor Schmidt, Russel Taib, Rainier Roberts, Jack Field, Roan Gillam
 TEACHER: Mr Michael Webster

In Term 2, 5W had Learn to Swim for two weeks at the Collegiate pool. The reason we went was to get better at swimming and hopefully not to drown. There were three groups. While we were there we improved our swimming, diving, treading water and a lot more. During our time there we all had fun and the teachers there helped us a lot and made us feel like Ian Thorpe.

Russel and Louis

At the Hutchins School Fair it was crowded. There were huge lines at each activity like the Tas Laser Skirmish, the jumping castle and the rock climbing wall. It also had lots of stalls like hot food, lollies and the second hand shop. There was even a raffle. Everyone had lots of fun.

Jayden and Jack

In Term 1, 5W had family planning for one week. Our teacher explained how our bodies will change when we go through puberty. Mrs S also gave us a box so we could ask anything that we did not know. In the end every one enjoyed it.

David and Will B

Towards the end of Term 1, 5W went to Southport for camp. Before we left we went on the Wild Thing 2, a jet boat. While we were on it we went down the river and saw a seal and some of the waves were huge. Throughout the three days we went bush walking up Hartz Peak, we went fishing and caught nothing but seaweed, we also played table tennis due to some of the weather, some of us also played spotlight before bed and we did many more exciting things.

Thomas

Abe, Russel, David, Will B, Dylan and James at camp

YEAR 5W

Jack and Will S planting

Throughout the year we went to three socials. The first one was at Collegiate. When we got there we popped the balloons on the floor. They then put on the music and we started dancing. Then we had a drink break halfway through. The second social was at Hutchins. The dj played great music. All the boys got to dance with a girl and there was a tonne of lollies. The 3rd social was at Fahan.

Dylan and James

5W went on four excursions in 2009. The first was to the Marine Discovery Centre to learn about the sea environment. The second excursion was to The Tasmanian Museum and Art Gallery to learn more about Antarctica and its wildlife. On our third excursion we went to UTas to learn about electricity. The last excursion was on the Aurora Australis and lunch at Mure's and that was awesome.

Connor and Rainier

On the 22nd of May, Year 5 went to the Southern Christian College to see a play called Dr Seussical Jnr. It has some of the characters from Dr Seuss books, including Jo Jo, the Cat in the Hat and Horton the Elephant. The play had a lots of comedy, music and singing. There as an intermission and the beginning was like being at the opera. I thought the play had character and real imagination, it was a great play.

Sam

5W has had a lot of visitors this year and we have learned a lot from them. We had a visit from Aurora Energy talking about electrical safety

In Term 2, Dr So, a krill expert from the Antarctic division came to the conference centre to talk to us about krill because we were learning about Antarctica.

Sam Horton's mum, Margy, who works for DPIWE, also came in Term 2, to talk to us about whales. She told us one interesting story about a whale that got hit by a boat in Derwent River. Her talk was really interesting and the pictures in her presentation were fantastic.

Ian

On Friday the 17th of July we had Winter Sports Day. In the morning we got to choose from Footy or Basketball and in the afternoon we got to choose from Hockey or Soccer. In Soccer, Thorold had a thrilling win but in Footy Stephens took the points. While School came top in Basketball, Thorold dominated in Hockey. Overall Stephens just won.

It was a fun day and no one got injured.

Roan and Toby

This year we have been lucky enough to have had lots of people come in to perform plays and show us some awesome science experiments. In Term 1, two people came to show us a show about bullying. Then in Term 2, a man did a play on Odysseus, a Greek man who went to war for 10 years then it took him ten years to return. Recently in Term 3 some people from Questacon Science Circus came and showed us some cool experiments with liquid nitrogen and flight.

Abe and Will S

5W this year participated in the three different carnivals, Swimming, Cross Country and Athletics. First was the Swimming Carnival at the Aquatic Centre and everyone went really well. Three boys went especially well, David, Connor and Eddy all making the school team. Overall Stephens won. Next was the Cross Country at Dru Point which was 2.8 km, everyone finished at a flying pace and we were lucky enough to get three boys in the top six they were Connor, Russel and Eddy coming 3rd, 4th and 5th. In the end School House won with a small margin over the other houses. And the last carnival of the year was the Athletics Carnival. All of our boys ran, jumped and threw really well.

Year 6 Eaves

THIRD ROW: Jock Calvert, Allan Bakker, Ned Howe, Spiros Daglas, William Geason, Liam Johnston
 SECOND ROW: Henry Johnstone, Eden Noble, Jordan Foster, Michael Young, Harry Kokkoris, Andrew Hudson, Hamish Reeve, Zac Vassallo
 TEACHER: Mr Nick Eaves

One of my favourite moments in Year 6 was when we got to make our own circle designs only using a pencil, a compass and a ruler. I made a cube with a smaller cube taken out of a vertex.

Lachlan Paul

The best thing about this year was the trips we went on like the Canberra-Melbourne trip and the trip to Ben Lomond. And we did allot of projects like and about gold, deadly diseases and geology. But the very best thing was the socials and getting to do things with the other classes.

Ned Howe

I really enjoyed the ski trip, it was a highlight. I really enjoy being in Year Six because I have so many friends who stick up for me. I also have the best teacher, Mr Eaves.

Jock Calvert

The best thing about Year 6E: Going on camp and having a snowball fight. I also enjoyed walking to the top of Ben Lomond (summit). The quiz at Ben Lomond was also very fun. Our group won.

Spiros Daglas

One of my favourite things about Year 6 was the Mt Hotham trip. I really liked going skiing with my friends. It was fun, yet challenging. I really enjoyed Year 6!

Michael Young

My favourite thing about Year 6 was going to Ben Lomond. It went for a few days. The people who looked after us were called Terina and her son Magnus. My favourite part was throwing snowballs at people and the quiz night.

Jack Rasmussen

My favourite thing about Year 6 was going to Mt Hotham on the Year 6 ski trip. I really enjoyed skiing down the mountains and learning to turn. It started off being hard but it got easier once you learned how.

Patrick Ball

I liked so many things this year ...

My favourite thing about Year 6 was playing soccer and basketball with my friends. I also liked being Winter Sports captain and playing in Winter Sports day and I also liked the holidays!

Will Geason

The best thing about Year 6 was camp. In Term 2 we got a choice of going to Mt Hotham or Mt Field. I went on the Mt Hotham camp. Up there we got a choice of doing skiing or snowboarding. IT WAS FUN!

Jordan Foster

I liked so many things this year, but the one major reason why this has been a great year was because of our trip to Mt Hotham. It was so cool to ski and have fun in the snow. Sport this year has also been very enjoyable. I liked the Athletics carnival the most. My favourite race was the 400m.

Zac Vassallo

I liked making cubes and other things with my compass and all the sport activities and the camps that were been on. I really liked the ski trip. It was lots of fun learning to ski for the first time. It was a bit hard at times. Some of the maths was fun.

Hamish Reeve

One of my favourite parts of Year 6 was the camp at Mt Hotham because I went skiing for the first time. One my other favourite part was the socials. My other favourite part of Year Six was having Mr Eaves as a teacher.

Andrew Hudson

YEAR 6E

My favourite things about Year 6 were the socials, Mt Hotham and the best teacher in the school. My favourite thing to do in class is hands on activities. My favourite project would be the deadly diseases one.

Allan Bakker

My favourite bit of the year would have to be the ski trip at Mt Hotham, because I learnt how to ski, the deadly diseases project, the drama club and Speech Night.

Eden Noble

My favourite part of Year 6 has been the camp that went to Ben Lomond. Mr Eaves has been a great teacher. Another of my favourite part of the year was the cricket tour. Overall this was one of my favourite years of the Junior School.

Liam Johnston

My favourite thing in Year 6 was when we went to Mt Hotham for camp and learning to snow board. I also liked the deadly diseases project because got to choose a deadly disease.

Harry Kokkoris

The thing I liked most about this year was the Canberra-Melbourne trip. The best thing on the Canberra-Melbourne was going to Questacon and the Australian Institute of Sport.

Henry Johnstone

My favourite thing in Year 6 were the sport carnivals. My favourite carnival was the swimming carnival. I also liked the cross country carnival as well.

Carter Hansen

This year has been good. I especially liked the camps. I have learnt a lot this year like ... fractions, decimals, spelling, and Chinese. I've had a great year!

Taz Floyd

I've had a great year!

What I liked about year 6E: I like going to Mt Hotham and skiing down the summit. That was awesome. I also liked some of the projects like deadly diseases and tectonic plates.

Jayson Seaman

What I liked about year 6E: A highlight was Mt Hotham and learning to ski but I really enjoyed everything except the Government bits. Year 6 has been my favourite year with my first male teacher. Harrison Manton

My favourite part of Year 6 was playing soccer and basketball with my friends at lunchtime. I also enjoyed making three-dimensional shapes out of icy pole sticks.

Taz Slicer

Hamish leading the riders on Bruny Island

Snowboarders at the Big D

YEAR 6PO

My favourite memories of Year 6 have been making the cricket team, the friends I have made and the Canberra-Melbourne trip.

Caleb Berriman

Some of my favourite memories in Year 6 would include camp where we went to Mt Hotham for a week, it was really awesome and heaps of fun.

Lachlan Brumby

My favourite memory would have to be going to Mt Hotham, because it was my first time in snow for ages and learning to snowboard. It was great.

James Padgett

My favourite memories would be when I went to Melbourne to play cricket and going on the Canberra-Melbourne trip, we went to the AIS. It was awesome!!!

Jock Denehey

THIRD ROW: Sam Fergusson, Connor Spaulding, Daniel Himson, Caleb Berriman, Thomas Sonneveld, Jordan Hargrave, Ben Johnston

SECOND ROW: Patrick Lickiss, James Schmidt, Lachlan Brumby, Lewis Robotom, William Millhouse, Oliver Rodrigues Csokas

YEAR 6PO IN ACTION

My favourite memory was when we went on the ski trip because I didn't know how to ski and I learnt how and it was fun.

Thomas Sonneveld

My favourite memories are going snowboarding in Mt Hotham, because I had never done that before, and making the cricket team, also making new friends and having a good teacher.

Jake Morgan

My favourite memory of Year 6 was the camp to Mt Hotham. I really liked the skiing lessons and the food.

Robert Law

My favourite memories of Year 6 were on the Melbourne Cricket trip early on in the year. Another was on the Bruny Island trip.

Jordan Hargrave

My favourite memories of Year 6 were our camp to Mount Hotham and making our deadly diseases.

Dan Himson

My favourite memories of Year 6 are making new friends. I have enjoyed Year 6 because of the camps, like the ski trip and Bruny Island. I am looking forward to Year 7.

Tom Downie

My favourite memories of Year Six were the Canberra-Melbourne trip with all the great sights, the cricket trip because I got to be billeted and top scorer and becoming a Junior School Leader.

Patrick Lickiss

The best part of Year 6 for me was the camp to Mt Hotham in Melbourne, where we went skiing and snowboarding, I really enjoyed being in the snow. And I can't wait until next year in the Middle School.

Oliver Rodrigues

My favourite memories of Year 6 have been going on the cricket trip, becoming a Junior School Leader, the camps and meeting all of the good friends.

Sam Fergusson

And I can't wait until next year in the Middle School

My favourite memories of Year 6 were the camps to Canberra-Melbourne and Ben Lomond.

Lewis Robottom

My favourite memories of year 6 were the Canberra/Melbourne trip, the socials, and lunchtime and recess.

Ghislain Ndimanyi

My favourite memories of Year Six was being chosen to be the Buckland's swimming captain, and making lots of new friends, but my favourite memory was getting a very good report.

William Millhouse

My favourite memory of Year 6 is going to Mt Hotham (ski trip), it was so fun snowboarding down the summit with James Schmidt next to me but then we crashed.

Connor Spaulding

My favourite memories of Year 6 were on the Canberra/Melbourne trip. This was because it was fun and educational. I enjoyed New Parliament House.

Karl Beckett

Camp was fun, PE was also fun. Art, Design and Tech and Drama were interesting. Although, Design and Tech was difficult.

Alex Mc Farland

My favourite memory of Year 6 is the time when everyone was away sick except seven people in our class and we had a very relaxing day.

James Schmidt

My favourite memories of Year 6 were going on camp to Mt Hotham and skiing down the slopes.

Ben Johnston

 TEACHER: Mr Gary Prebble

6PR write about improvements and consider where they will be in ten years from now ...

Hopefully I will be in university doing a couple of things that interest me or be a cartoonist or a soccer player. I have a couple of options and I have interest in them but to be one of those things I need to work hard day by day. These things won't be easy to accomplish. You have to struggle at some point but you will achieve what you want to do at the end of the day and you will be happy because of what you accomplished, and you are doing what you want in life. There are heaps of things that will stop you from achieving those things at that young age – going to parties, having fun and all that. But you need to go easy at those things even though you want to do all those things.

Nazrwi Woldemicheal

I will be building a successful career as a writer, while continuing to pursue degrees that interest me in university. To get there, I will be working hard to improve my writing skills as well as staying in school for Year 12. I will also get a degree in writing in university. I will make sure that I am always writing to get the best chance of having a book published. I will persist if my books are rejected until one is published. I will try as many publishers as I can, although I will always aim to be published by famous ones such as Penguin.

Asher England

This year I have been able to work in a group better than I used to be able to. I have been able to help people on the computers with things they do not know how to do but I do. I have been striving for accuracy this year in my spelling and my handwriting. My handwriting is getting better than it was. I can write neater than last year. My spelling has gotten better. I have learnt to think before I speak and sit and think before I act so I don't get in as much trouble any more like I use to. I am more accurate in my maths. I have learnt about fractions and decimals and lots more. When I am older I want to work with computers because I think I would be good at it.

Braidon Brooks

I will be 22 years old and I hope I will be at university in Melbourne. My parents already have a house that they don't use there but only if I want to go to Melbourne. I might be studying for something like a banker or maybe I'll be in a band on tour. I really have no idea what I'll be doing but whatever I will be doing it will take a lot of time and effort and I hope I will be doing something I like and want to do. I'll want to have a good time in uni like go to parties but I also want to concentrate on my work so I will be able to get really good in whatever I will be doing.

Callum Foote

On the Canberra–Melbourne trip I think I gained confidence because it was interstate and we had to get on an aeroplane. I have always been nervous about getting on an aeroplane but because my parents weren't there I guess I had that feeling that I had to go. I think that going on the Canberra–Melbourne trip was a responsible risk because I got new experiences and did a variety of different things while being far away from home.

Grady Featherstone

When I was young I wanted to captain the Australian Cricket Team. Since then I changed my mind and wanted to learn how to fly a fighter plane (F18 Hornet F22) in the army. After that I changed my mind again and wanted to be a doctor. I have been developing my maths and science skills for the past few years. I want to be a doctor because I really want to help people that are fighting for their life. Lots of TV commercials, documentaries and family members have inspired me to become a doctor. Still, it is my dream job to captain the Australian Cricket Team and learn to fly a fighter plane (F18 Hornet F22) in the army.

YEAR 6PR

The two habits of mind I have improved on are Thinking Flexibly because I used to think what I heard first was always correct and I stuck with it but now I take in new information. The other one is managing my impulsivity. I take more time thinking about what will happen if I don't listen and what is going to happen if I don't pay attention so I listen more now than at the start of the year. In ten years I see myself in university and also working at my father's surf shop because I'll have to save up to get my life started and to get my own car and house.
James Drummond

I have a number of things I want to do. Here are some of them. 1) I would like to be a zoo keeper and look after all the animals. 2) Be a hockey player and play for Australia and be in the Olympics. 3) I would like to be an architect and design lots of houses and buildings. 4) I would also like to be a police officer and work with the police dogs. These are the things I would like to do in ten years but I would also like to be a builder, helicopter pilot, a snorkeller in the Great Barrier Reef, a professional jet ski rider, a boat builder, a cricket bat maker, a racing car driver, a fire fighter, a furniture maker, a music teacher, a chef in a restaurant and cyclist.
Liam Fitzgerald

After ten years I will go to the army, because Koreans have to go to the army. In the army I will do lots of exercise and we will learn how to use guns. After the army I will go to the university and learn to be a judge. I want to be a judge in Australia or Korea. Then I have to learn Korean rules, Australian rules and I need to know how to judge. If I can't be a judge I want to be a soccer player.

Jason Song

I want to be a yacht designer and design Volvo yachts that can go into the ocean. I want to sell them to big names such as ABN Amro. I want to have a wife, kids and a house that I will build myself with help from Wilsons Homes, who my dad works for. In the winter I would like to play football in the state wide league. Hopefully I'll play for North Hobart or Hobart. In the summer, I would like to wicket keep for Tasmania, and maybe Australia. This will take me all over Australia or the World. I would like to do the Sydney to Hobart with my dad and brother, in a boat I've designed and built, and try to win of course.

Oliver Burnell

In 10 years I think I will be studying for a degree in university to be a scientist/inventor. After university I plan to invent a teleport. I am also going to be the founder of a science committee to inventing new and exciting gadgets. I am also giving serious thought to teaching a Year 5 class also at Hutchins. I'm also thinking about getting a job with Questacon, CSIRO or the Helix science groups. I would also like to become an Olympic table tennis player as well as become the next Mozart or Beethoven in piano and trumpet.
Sam Jones

Applying past knowledge to new situations. Examples: In our first China poster, we had to present all the information that we knew about China. Another example was when we had to do our first earthquakes mind-map. Persisting – Examples: Even though I couldn't hand in my government assignment on time, I persisted to finish it. Thinking interdependently – Examples: In our Treasures of the earth assignment, Grady and I thought and worked together.
Himaushu Hardikar

Ten years from now I will be 22 and hopefully living the dream of a professional soccer player. I am not bothered who I play for I will just be happy living the dream but it would be nice to play for my home town of Leicester city football club. It basically started when my brother bought me a Leicester city season ticket for my third birthday. Since I was three I showed a passion for the game so my brother and father drove me down to the local soccer club, Groby Juniors, when I was five. Since then I have been scouted by Leicester city, Birmingham and Nottingham Forest all when I was eight.
Will Lambert

What I think I have improved on in the year would probably be persisting with my work like in tech class I persisted with my assignment to build a land yacht. In ten years time I think I will be training for the Air Force or at University studying to be a pilot. If not those two, I might be a cook or an electrician. I have also improved on working interdependently: When we were making roller coasters on the computer. I have improved on me being able to think flexibly – after I have made a draft and then changing the good copy to fit everything or to make it look better.
Liam Kelleher

In ten years I think I'll be in Uni studying to be an Architect. I'd need to be able to design and build objects. I'd also need to work hard or I won't be able to pass. If I don't become an Architect I'll become a trampoline coach so I can teach people how to become confident on the trampoline. This year I have improved on taking responsible risks. I have taken on challenges such as answering the extended questions in my projects.

STEPPING FORWARD – CITIZENSHIP IN YEAR 6

Year 6 boys participated in a school-based conference, Stepping Forward – Citizenship in Year 6 which aimed to support the development of a broader understanding of leadership and focused on decision making, recognising diverse talents and skills, collaboration and co-operation.

The boys investigated the Nine Values for Australian Schooling, discussing and exploring how these values may be exemplified in the school situation and beyond.

Three guest speakers gave the boys a snapshot of their vision of leadership and the qualities they valued. The Headmaster, Mr Warwick Dean, spoke about the power of leaders to influence what others think, say and do. A member of the business community, Mr Dominic Bury, spoke about how the culture of a place can influence leadership style and success and leading sports identity, Mr Mark Nash, spoke about the qualities that define leaders.

The boys participated in drama games to identify the key messages from the presentations and put together a short chant with actions to firmly embed the leadership messages in their memories!

The boys explored the notion of leadership by developing a list of characteristics which they saw as necessary in a good leader. They tried to arrive at an agreed ranking of the top three. The boys also participated in a problem solving session using scenarios describing conflict situations which might commonly occur in the classroom, playground and in friendship circles. In small groups they acted out and resolved the scenarios and then reflected on the styles of leadership which helped or hindered the resolutions.

The boys enjoyed the day and learned a great deal about themselves and their peers – as well as about leadership. They gained new insights into the qualities of a leader and became more aware that the 'badge' identifies one type of leadership role – they all carry leadership responsibilities.

HUTCHINS AuSSI SCHOOL REPORT

The Hutchins Junior School is seeking to apply a component of Environmental Education into the mainstream curriculum. While currently reviewing the K-6 Scope and Sequence for Science and SOSE, each year level has chosen at least one unit which includes a sustainability theme. During the early years the main questions are "How does our environment change?" "How can I look after living things?" "How can we walk quietly on the Earth?" The Year 2 classes have focussed on sustainable energy forms and their usage and have explored their carbon footprints and started a small garden.

Our Junior School curriculum also looks at wet and dry environments, answers questions such as "Is water the new gold?" and looking at ways to manage and conserve this precious resource. Year 5 classes spend most of their year looking at environmental issues. In Term 1 we looked at the Jason Expedition program "Resilient Planet" whereby we explored the threats to the planet, their impact and how the planet copes. We applied this idea to our local environment, using the River Derwent as an ecosystem under threat. In Term 2 we studied Antarctica as an Earth system under change and finally in Term 3 we looked at Primary Connections "It's Electrifying."

As a major extra Trisha Knight's Year 5 class have developed their own garden. We have five beds and have planted a variety of organic vegetables. We record their growth, harvest the produce and prepare nutritious lunches to share. We have conducted numerous Science experiments to look at the requirements of living things. We collect all the food scraps from the classrooms to make compost. Our Junior School is participating in the "Move Well, Eat Well" program and this links in well.

There is a growing trend for more vegetable gardens to be developed, with new raised beds to be installed within the ELC centre over the Christmas break.

The School continues to improve its paper recycling and mixed recycling program with the addition of cardboard recycling being introduced and the introduction of Bokashi compost bins to collect food scraps. New compost bays have also been purchased.

Hutchins is also placing a key focus on our energy consumption. An in depth energy audit was carried out within the Senior School campus and this highlighted several areas where the School can reduce costs, but also reduce our carbon footprint. A key initiative is to be the installation of a 6KW solar voltaic cell system on top of the new library learning centre. Apart from promoting green energy this system will also act as an important educational tool with power tracking devices being installed that can be directly linked into software that will allow student analysis of the effectiveness of this system in providing power, reducing greenhouse gas emissions and cost benefits.

Finally, we would like to thank our Green Team Members in all mini-schools and the Burbury House Green Team who have carried out the recycling program and a very special thank you to Alistair Court who is leaving Hutchins. His dedication has been outstanding.

OUR YEAR TOGETHER IN THE MIDDLE SCHOOL

In the downstairs corridor of our Middle School, there is a display of photographs taken during the year, showing our boys participating in the various activities that make up our yearly program. I have selected two of those photographs for specific inclusion in this year's magazine because they sum up the 'character' of the two year groups involved. The Year 7 photograph was taken at one of our house sports mornings. I chose it because it demonstrates the happy enthusiasm so many of our 7s brought to their school lives, this year. The Year 8 photograph was taken while the boys were on camp. The sense of sheer joy at being together displayed in that photograph is typical of our 8s in 2009.

Morrisby and his work expectations. Mr Morrisby took us for English and some of our class for Maths. He taught us how to write essays in preparation for future school years. We have written two essays so far: one on Remember the Titans, a movie about racial intolerance and one on The Cry of The Wolf, a book about the last wolves in England. On Moderation Day, we went down to Sandown Park where we took part in lots of things like cricket, AFL, Soccer, and Connor and Ed climbed a 50 metre tree to the top. Mr Morrisby showed some world class off-spin, clean bowling three boys in the same over. On the social side, our class got to meet with some classes from Collegiate, thanks to Mr Morrisby and Mrs Waters. We took part in activities similar to those on Moderation Day. We all in 7 LMo appreciate what Mr Morrisby has done for us this year and what he has done for the School in his personality which made the time spent in Mentor Group and the lessons taught by them more interesting. One third of our class arrived at Hutchins from other schools; this meant that we all needed a little time to get to know each other. Ms Britton, our first Mentor made sure that all the new boys felt relaxed in our Mentor Group and amongst their peers. Many class activities were organised by our Mentors throughout the year, like going down to meet with a class of Mt Carmel girls who we enjoyed soccer and ice cream with. Our Mentors were also our SOSE and French teachers; in both roles they were amazing and very helpful. Mrs Collis was magnificent in all areas of her teaching and we all wish her well in the future, after she retires from teaching at the end of this year. This year with the help of our Mentors has been a great year at Hutchins for 7RCO.

Seb Withers

Our Year with Mr Addison

Mr Addison was a fantastic Mentor in many different ways. He was a person, who we as students could put our trust in. We could ask him for help in Maths, Science or problems that were on our mind. He was an up-to-date teacher who knew what students like to do. We could have a joke with him as though he was one of our class mates and he would joke back. He was a sensible teacher who did fun science-based activities with us. Although he was a strict teacher, he was not too strict. If we did the wrong thing, he would talk to us in private and not shout at us in front the rest of the class. He liked his classroom neat and tidy and I think that he was genuinely happy with us in that regard. An understanding teacher who liked his Hockey, he was a really good teacher who loved his job and this reflected on how he interacted with our class. Mr Addison was a great teacher and Mentor, because he made school fun and exciting (even Maths). This year, in and outside the classroom, has been fun and I am sure that most of our class had fun and will look back in years to come and see happy memories.

James Burgess

As always, the variety of activities provided for our Middle School boys and the readiness to participate enthusiastically they brought to those activities were the result of the professionalism and dedication to pastoral care provided by our team of Mentors. This year, I thought it appropriate to ask some of the boys to give their own thoughts on the role played by those Mentors throughout their year.

Our Year with Mr Morrisby

Our year with Mr Morrisby was cut short due to having Mr Docking in Term 1 because of Mr Morrisby's having some well-deserved long service leave but when he returned, we quickly got to know Mr teaching career. So, from everyone, I say, thank you Mr Morrisby for a wonderful year.

Darien Turner

Our Year with Mrs Collis and Ms Britton

Our year began by changing Mentors on our very first day, to Ms Britton. Despite this hiccup, we all got along very well with her. After the first term was over, Mrs Collis returned from long service leave and was our wonderful Mentor ever since. If asked which Mentor I enjoyed the most being taught by, I could not answer because both were exceptional. Both Mrs Collis and Ms Britton have a fun

THE HUTCHINS MIDDLE SCHOOL

Our Year with Mr Prior

For 7APr this year with Mr Prior was really good. He organised many and diverse activities, including everything from a long mountain walk to a mini speed-chess tournament. Combining his roles as Mentor and PE teacher, he did a lot for us this year in the way of sport and health, mental and physical, and answered all our questions well. Mr Prior did all sorts of things with us in Pastoral, which everybody enjoyed. Because of his interest in sport, many of the students enjoyed talking to him about the sporting world, and he even did a football sweep on the AFL Grand Final. As a person, he has a good sense of humour and used it quite commonly, as well as being serious when he needed to be. He didn't usually shout in front of the class but sent someone overly silly outside. Even this happened only after repeated warnings. Mr Prior also let students do what they wanted in some Pastorals, as long as it was quiet and that was great. When we played games in sessions like this, Mr Prior was always a good participant and never made a show about losing. He was a very supportive Mentor, who always gave help where it was needed. He also is a tolerant person and virtually never gave a T for being late. This made him friends with his students and a great Mentor for the year, especially when added to his great aptitude for giving merits. Everyone has enjoyed this year. So, thank you Mr Prior, and all the best next year.

Nick Gribble

Our Year with Mr Sayers

Year 7 with Mr Sayers was great because he was a cool and humorous teacher. He joked around quite a bit but still kept us working; he really got involved with the class in activities in pastoral time. Some of the fun activities were a game of "Do you love your neighbor?", a class trivia quiz and the bottle game. He brought his electric guitar and keyboard in and even sang a few songs. This was very entertaining.

He also organised some activities with class from Mt Carmel; one was playing some party-ish games. We also went for a walk across the bridge over to a park and played a bit of footy and soccer and then we walked back; it was very tiring. This year at camp, we went down to Southport and did many activities like bushwalking, mountain biking and body boarding at the beach but Mr Sayers played table tennis with us and thrashed everyone. He taught us English, Personal Development and Religious Education and tried to keep the classes from being boring. One of the fun Religious Education activities we did was a play on a parable from the Bible. He was an excellent Mentor and really helped us get through the year in a fun-filled memorable way.

Gavin Yang and Jock Mure

Our Year with Mr McCammon

Our year with Mr McCammon was really good. He organised a number of activities for us including the camp, the lunch time activity with Collegiate and the Science exhibition. At the camp, he took most of our Mentor Group to Freycinet where we abseiled, rock climbed, cycled, camped, hiked and bush walked. It was great fun. At the lunch time activity with Collegiate, we ate our lunch with the girls and played a game of soccer: we all enjoyed it. The Science exhibition was when all the Collegiate Year 8s came to look at our science experiments and try them out. The boys did everything from playing musical instruments made from tubes to demonstrating optical illusions. Mr McCammon had a big involvement in this, because he is a Science teacher and was one of the major organisers for Science. We enjoyed our year with Mr McCammon, because he is a good teacher and because he let us do fun experiments in Science. Mr McCammon was the co-ordinator of Sailing throughout the School and got on well with the boating boys in our class. Sometimes our class was a bit naughty but Mr McCammon is a kind person so we always got on well with him.

Our Year with Mr Brown

How did Mr Brown do it? He had to look after 24 ratty kids who misbehaved all the time ... I'm probably bending the truth here. We were a good class, many of us hardly got into trouble. We got along well and we were blessed with a very nice classroom with large round tables and plush chairs. This allowed for some very interesting times with our Mentor. Table points were reintroduced, providing the opportunity to prove ourselves in new and different ways. During Pastoral, we would play Trivial Pursuit, theatre sports, watch videos and sometimes, we would be allowed to go outside. For our Year 8 fundraiser, we organized a pizza lunch which Mr Brown co-ordinated very well, so that it went without a hiccup. The kids of 8PBr were one of the best bunches of kids in any Mentor Group. We may have gone sideways once in a while, but we got back on track. We always looked towards the positive side of everything that came our way. So, maybe now I know how Mr Brown looked after 24 Year 8s. He didn't have to worry. It was us who looked after ourselves. But seriously, we discovered on camp that Mr Brown is a fun guy. And we've known all year that Mr Brown is cool, calm and collected and he rarely gets angry. So, overall, we firmly believe that being in 8PBr has been a huge privilege and all the boys in our Mentor Group wish him all the best, next year.

Our Year With Mr Geale

This year I have been privileged enough to be a member of Mr Geale's Mentor Group. It is widely known that Mr Geale is a popular teacher amongst staff and students alike, and I believe he is in every aspect deserving of this praise. Every morning we were greeted by Mr Geale's colourful personality and upbeat attitude, which made the year 2009 at Hutchins such an enjoyable experience. This year in 8GGe we were treated to many activities, such as the ever popular 'DVD Friday', where Mr Geale let us view DVD's spanning numerous genres and decades. Most activities we participated in were usually related to the Arts, all you had to do was look around at the famous paintings and other images from famous pieces of literature and films scattered around our homeroom to see that the Arts were a huge influence. But the activity that took the proverbial cake was the 'sno-cone' stall our Mentor Group ran at the School fair. It was in high demand all evening and was profoundly enjoyable. During the pastoral periods after lunchtimes Mr Geale ran an assortment of fun exercises, the most memorable being a general knowledge quiz with a brand-new 'man-bag' on offer for the winner. How very 'drama-teacher!' As the year slowly took course, I became more and more thankful for Mr Geale's involvement in my school life, and I am sure that this feeling was mutual amongst the other members of Mr Geale's Mentor Group.

Our Year with Mr Hyland

All of Mr Hyland's class had an extremely good year in 2009. Much of this enjoyment was because of our wonderful Mentor, Mr Hyland. Mr Hyland returned to teaching a Mentor Group this year and did a brilliant job in the position. There were many memorable moments that we had with him, such as the time when we went down to Lambert Park and Mr Hyland told us of the environmental difficulties occurring there. There was the time when it was not Mr Hyland who signed our diaries but a Gumby from Monty Python. He has also gave us some wonderful activities such as our trips to Zone 3 and a Golf Driving Range and the setting up of a sister class from Collegiate. A very kind and funny teacher who understands us all and was very friendly to each person in our Mentor Group, he was always determined to give our class a unique feel to it, as well as being very unsure about the way our desks should be arranged. Mr Hyland is also a very good Design and Technology teacher and his Computer Graphics classes were a wonderful introduction to CAD which many boys in the class are likely to continue throughout their Senior School years. He started the Green Team which was a group of dedicated boys who helped with our school's efficient recycling system. It was great to see that he has strong feelings for the environment as well as for his teaching. It was a wonderful year in Mr Hyland's class and I'm sure we will all miss him next year.

Our Year with Mr Kingston

Again this year Mr Kingston was a very influential figure at the helm of Year 8. On top of being a brilliant Year Head, he also taught many classes R'n'C (Resilience and Coping). As a Year Head, he was always supportive and took an interest in what every Year 8 student was doing in and out of the classroom. My personal experience with Mr Kingston was mainly through the leadership team. In these meetings, he would discuss with us issues facing our Year Group and our Middle School. He would raise the points which we would discuss to try to find solutions for. As well as this, he would give us some time to raise some issues that were troubling our Year Group as a whole. During the whole process, Mr Kingston was considerate and encouraged all leaders to raise issues. Mr Kingston gave up his own time to organise multiple activities with Collegiate, which were enjoyed by all. His efforts of helping to organise all manner of other events often went unheralded but he was always there to help out anyone who might need him. Overall, Mr Kingston was a brilliant figure at the head of Year 8 who tirelessly helped students all year.

Our Year with Mrs Waters

Year 7 this year was awesome, thanks largely to Mrs Waters! The year started off a bit wobbly because sometimes we didn't know where to go and of course, the new boys were starting a different school but we got the hang of things very quickly and so, everything went smoothly thanks to Mrs Waters who was always there to guide and correct us. Mrs Waters also taught SOSE and we had a great time learning and understanding history. At the start of Term 2, we began a major project on ancient civilisations which was a definite success with many boys hungry for knowledge of their chosen civilisation. We also had the chance to start debating with her. A large number of boys took up this opportunity and did so well that they made it to the semi-final, just being beaten by Ogilvie by just 4 points. Mrs Waters also ran the tennis skills program which took part on Friday lunchtimes and all the boys who entered that had so much fun improving their tennis skills. Mrs Waters was really nice and thoughtful, in my opinion, because she would give out many merits and some T's but she always explained why it was wrong. And so, a big thank you to Mrs Waters to a year we will never forget.

OUR YEAR TOGETHER IN THE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Our Year Together as a Multi-cultural Community

In keeping with this year's theme of having the boys report on 2009 in their own words, I thought it appropriate to include a speech given by Yash Makharia at our Multi-cultural Middle School Assembly:

Good afternoon, Mr McQueen and boys. Hutchins is a great school, like our great state and great country all of which are multi-cultural communities.

Hutchins hosts many boys from other countries. Some of these boys follow different cultures. These boys face challenges within our culture and community and yet are extremely strong in areas like sport, art or academics. Whatever it may be, we as Hutchins boys consider them as our friends and are loyal to them. Mr McQueen and I heard very positive feedback from some of the boys. We as a Middle School community have been excellent friends to these boys that feel a bit nervous in a different environment because some of them have grown up in a foreign country. All boys in this room have comforted, supported, taken care of and warmly welcomed these boys into our Middle School community. We as the Middle School community have stood up and encouraged these boys in times of difficulty and also applauded them in assemblies when they achieve their best. However, there are bad times where we all cannot always get along. It may be hard to do. But just put yourself into their shoes and see how they feel in a foreign environment when treated badly at times.

Some of these boys are far away from home and their family. It helps them a lot if the Middle School always welcomes them despite the mistakes they've made or mistakes we've made. As Alexander Pope wrote, "To err is human but to forgive is divine". Simply by being considerate to not just these boys but everyone, we can make our Middle School community much more enjoyable, especially for the Year 8s whose last term it is in the Middle School. Well done and thank you, on behalf of those boys.

Yashovardhan Makharia

2009 was a very significant year in the life of our Middle School because it marked the departure of four members of the Middle School Pastoral team.

After three years of dedicated teaching, energetic involvement in our co-curricular program and compassionate nurturing of the boys in his mentor groups, Mr Peter Brown is having a year's leave and we wish him every success with that.

The other three retiring staff members were very long-serving teachers who had made a huge contribution to the life of the whole school and so, they were paid the special honour of being farewelled at our Awards Assembly. The following tributes were made to them on that occasion:

Today, we farewell three very distinguished, long-serving staff members. It is inevitable on such occasions, that we feel a mixture of sadness at having to say goodbye but also of gratitude for having the privilege of being helped and guided by these teachers and for the fond memories we will always have of our time with them. Not the least of these memories is, of course, their contribution to our lives through their classroom teaching.

As Mrs Collis, comes forward to accept these tokens of our thanks and best wishes for her twenty-one years of service, there will be many boys here whose minds will flash back to the wonderful introduction to French and SOSE and Debating and Tennis she has given them. Thank you, very much, Mrs Collis.

Mr Morrisby has also given twenty-three years of service. True, we might actually be haunted by memories of his laugh but we will definitely remember the passionate support he has given so many rowers and so many struggling students over the years. Thank you, very much, Mr Morrisby.

Finally, Mr Dear who is retiring after twenty-nine years with us. We all know what a genuinely caring gentleman Mr Dear is. However, the very nature of his work means that many of us have very little concept of the huge influence he has been in the lives of so many staff and students over his thirty years at Hutchins but those people who have benefitted from his wisdom and compassion surely do know. Thank you, very much, Mr Dear.

2009 has been another very productive, pleasant year for our Middle School. That was made possible not only by the staff mentioned above but also by all the other staff who taught in the Middle School, Mr Docking as our in-coming Counsellor, Reverend Matthew Grey as our Chaplain, our new Academic Secretary, Mrs Ranalli and Mrs Dean in her absence, our bus drivers, groundsman and maintenance crew, our parents and carers and of course, the boys themselves.

From 'The Battle of Delphi'

Mark Astley, 7Rco

Winner, Hutchins Short Story Writing Competition

Lucas heard the hobnailed boots of soldiers and looked up. He saw row upon row of men with their armour gleaming in the midsummer sun. They carried a banner with odd letters, much different to the ones he saw the scribes use. Behind the banner he saw a man carrying a staff with a golden eagle perched on top. It was the Romans! He ran down the hill as fast as a gazelle escaping a lion. 'They're coming, the Romans are coming!'

Refugees fleeing the fighting in the north had told stories of how the Romans ripped out your guts and ate babies whole. 'But not here, not in Delphi, 'Lucas had vowed. Here in Delphi, home of the Oracle, the Greeks would stand high and fight the Romans back to the filthy cesspit of Rome itself.

The great iron gates were open well before Lucas got there. All the other shepherds were coming in as well, with looks of despair on their faces. Panting, Lucas started towards his house when a firm hand took him. He turned and saw a tall man, still young, only about twenty summers old. He had olive tanned skin and an athlete's body. 'Nike!' Lucas cried and hugged the man. 'Where have you been?'

'Up north, fighting the Romans.'

'Then why have you come back?'

'My entire phalanx was caught in a Roman ambush. Those who survived have come back to help the garrison.'

Before Lucas could reply a great horn blast rang out.

'Come on, we need to get you ready.'

'Ready for what?'

'War!'

'Twas the War

Cameron Allen, 7Rco

Winner, Hutchins Poetry Writing Competition

'Twas the war, the war it was, that took them by surprise.

The bombers roared in, making a din, four hours before sunrise.

Which would end their lives, for good, when the bombs hit the ground.

Sounds of death and destruction rattled through the cold night sky

Shivering men lay in their dugouts, praying that they would not die.

Floorless houses, sheetless beds, rubble all around

Burnt out para flares lying motionless, left there on the ground.

Spitfire shrapnel littered the ground, sprawled in all directions.

Telegrams came flocking in for the elderly needing pensions.

'Twas the war, the war it was, that took us by surprise.

The bombers roared in, making a din, four hours before sunrise.

An extract from 'Diary Entry by George Welsh, soldier under the command of Lieutenant John Bowen.'

September 13, 1803

The sight of green land looked absolutely remarkable as our boats sailed smoothly up the River Derwent to Risdon Cove. The voyage from Sydney was a long, cramped and wild boat trip but nonetheless it was definitely worth it to see land again, and especially on a day like today. The sky is blue, the sun is reflecting in the water making it sparkle like diamonds and the flora is beautifully lush and full of life. I am thoroughly worn out because I have had to attend to a number of seasick people and feed the passengers as well as take shifts watching the convicts.

Lieutenant Bowen has decided to land at a place called Risdon Cove. It is a place with a nice clearing and is surrounded by tall green trees ...

Spinach

The slime stares up at me from my plate

Mum says, 'Eat it. It's good. It's great.'

She says it's full of vitamins but I'd rather take a pill.

I don't need to eat spinach to get me up a hill.

When I put it in my mouth I know how it will taste.

A rotten, slimy, stinky lump I spit out with great haste.

While my mum's not looking, I have to find a way

To make the yucky cud-like mess quickly go away.

Will I put it in the plant or feed it to the dog?

Or will I put it in my mouth and rush off to the bog.

YEAR 7

2009 has been another vintage year for those of us in Year 7.

As I reflected on the many times I have written something similar in this magazine, I wondered whether I was being too generous. I'm not. Year after year we find that boys in Year 7 at Hutchins are a delightful mix of child and adult. Year after year they put their hearts and souls into the things that interest them, they have a strong sense of right and wrong, they are competitive but generous in their praise of others' success and they are quick to offer help wherever it is needed. They are enormously rewarding and great fun and 2009 has shown us, yet again, what a privilege and a pleasure it is to work with them.

'When I first came to Hutchins it was like being in an alien spaceship but now it's like a second home. Everybody made me feel welcome.' (Nick Chu)

From the very start, our motto 'What you do matters' made an immediate impact on the boys and their friendliness, willingness to work hard and zest for life in general rapidly created an atmosphere of harmony and goodwill that only strengthened as the year wore on. Buoyed by mentors, teachers and coaches, they began the process of filling their days with learning experiences, not only inside the classroom but on the sports field, exploring leadership opportunities, trying out extra-curricular activities, becoming accomplished musicians, actors and craftsmen and providing service in their spare time.

'Being in Year 7 is absolutely wonderful. The teachers are really enthusiastic, the atmosphere is lively and electric and people are ready to learn.'
(Daniel Larratt)

It is easy to forget the myriad of small events that go towards making a year a success, so let me list some: camp, assemblies, chess, collecting merits, Swap Days, Academic Extension Afternoons, the Green Team, the Errols, the School Fair and Open Day, Grandparents' Day, Winter Sports Day, House Debating, the Athletics Carnival, Colours, handball, dissecting eyes in Science, French and Chinese food, excursions, theatre sports ...

'Science day with Collegiate was super, super fun!' (Marco Lubiana)

'Merits help you strive for something, not just a mark.' (Johannes Peters)

'Doing the play 'A Christmas Carol' was awesome.' (Josh Williamson)

'Winter Sports Day: I loved the team spirit and the way everyone loved participating.' (Oli Jones)

'Chinese was brilliant!' (Luke Phillips)

'Getting my Colours was like receiving a great present.' (Duncan Kelly)

The enthusiasm with which the boys approached school life soon saw achievements mounting up. The first certificates for 100 Merit Certificates, 10 hours of service and typing were awarded in Term 1. By the end of the year there were prizes and high awards for academic competitions, awards for the Poetry and Prose Competition, and the winners of both the Short Story and Poetry Writing Competitions were boys from Year 7. There were some wonderful musical performances in assemblies, some notable successes in the Eisteddfods and of course many triumphs on the sports field. It really was another vintage year.

Best moment: 'The Music Tour. A few bands and choirs went to Queensland to play at other schools and got to stay at billets' houses.' (Matt Scaife)

The mentors, as ever, have been guides, counsellors, judges, coaches, supporters, occasional policemen but always wise teachers of their respective groups. To Jill Britton, Dean Docking, Ian Addison, Anthony Prior, Matthew Sayers, and particularly to Lance Morrisby and Robyn Collis who are leaving us, I extend my deepest and warmest thanks.

The Big Boys on the Block

This year I was luck enough to have some time away on Long Service Leave. My family and I departed after Easter on an Australian camping holiday through the 'Red Centre' to the 'Top End.' It was a great chance to see parts of our big backyard that I have not seen and to spend some precious time with my family. While I was away, Mr Graeme Geale did a fantastic job as Year Head and it was great to return to school and see the positive changes in the year group. I found it hard to believe that I had been teaching at Hutchins long enough to have Long Service Leave. Those years have gone by so fast.

In the same vein, two years fly by in the blink of an eye. Those fresh-faced lads coming into Year 7 full of hope and fear quickly find their straps and grow in size and confidence. The next thing you know, they are preparing to begin Senior School. Even though the time flies, the changes that these young men experience are significant.

As the leaders in the Middle School, the expectations quickly change. In Year 7 they are given opportunities but many are still finding their feet. In Year 8 there is a greater emphasis on independence and doing things for themselves. The support is still there but the boys are encouraged to take ownership, not rely on others to do things for them and to take on leadership.

The changes in these young men when they start to see themselves as individuals is exciting and sometimes confronting. The sense of freedom it gives to make decisions for yourself can sometimes lead to mistakes being made and the challenging of rules and expectations. I feel extremely lucky to work with these boys at such an exciting and sometimes tricky time in their lives.

One of the most heartening aspects is that these young men do get through and do mature and grow into sensible young men. The lessons learned and the guidance given early in this journey will stay with them.

This year will be the last for our Year 8 team as we know it. After a number of years with the same Year 8 Mentor Team, we will farewell Mr Peter Brown and Mr Graeme Geale. I thank them both for their significant contributions to Year 8 and to the boys who have had the benefit of their support and guidance. Mr Geale will remain on our Middle School Pastoral Team in Year 7, while Mr Brown is taking a year's leave.

SENIOR SCHOOL

Senior School students and staff have enjoyed another busy and successful year in 2009.

Thanks to all staff for their continued commitment to supporting boys in achieving their best in such a variety of academic and extra-curricular activities.

Academics

2009 should see some outstanding results following the TQA examinations. During the year individuals have excelled, not only in the classroom, but in national competitions.

Thomas MacDonald and Michael Short were the two top Year 11 Tasmanian students in the Australian Geography competition. Because Michael is studying Australia, Asia and the Pacific in 2009, his result in the competition won him a trip to Western Australia for Geography's Big Week Out along with other state winners.

Isaac Dalla-Fontana (Year 10) received a medal for his outstanding performance in the ICAS English competition.

Christopher Ryba's achievements are too many to list. Highlights include a High Distinction and medal for his results in the UNSW Mathematics competition and an invitation to attend the XXI Summer Conference of Tournament of Towns in Teberda, Karachaevo-Cherkesskaya Republika in Russia during August. The ten days routine was, he wrote: '... wake-up, food, maths, food, maths, food, samovar (tea-party), sleep'. However, he added: ... my peers and I liked it very much. It was great to spend this time solving exciting mathematical problems.'

Leadership

The student body was ably led by Edward Pascoe (School Captain), John Wilson (School Vice-Captain) and House Captains Thomas Reid (Buckland), Rohan Langford (School), William Colvin (Stephens), William Heath (Thorold) and Robinson Vignes (Burbury House).

In addition, fifteen School Prefects were appointed during the year. The large number reflected the outstanding quality of young men in this year group. Appointments were: James Lord, Jordan McCreary, Dougal Middleton and Henry Williams (Buckland), Stuart Ednie, Roland

Lawrence, Robert Mallett, and Connor Sweeney (School), Rohan Nanthakumar, Jack Saffin, David Stalker and Angus Ware (Stephens), Alexander Breckenridge, Benjamin Cross, and Matthew Kang (Thorold).

Sport

Like Christopher Ryba's academic achievements, the success of Hutchins sports teams this year have been too numerous to list. Win or lose, it has been great to see the spirit of participation: students have done well in maintaining their commitment and courage throughout the summer and winter seasons.

Some of the highlights have been: victory over New Zealand in the Inter Dominion Sailing, Water Polo Southern Schools Premiers (the final was an absolute 'thriller'), Hockey First XI SATIS State Premiers, Australian Rules Football SATIS State Premiers for both First and Second XVIII, First Basketball team SATIS Premiers, Badminton Ampol Cup Champions, Head of the River victory for Open Rowing, Sport Shooting State Invitational winners.

Drama

2009 has again seen Drama productions play a vital part reflecting the health of the Arts at Hutchins.

The Venetian Twins saw an outstanding performance from Robert Mallett with his very fast character and costume changes.

Third World Blues was the Year 12 production with Roland Lawrence, Connor Sweeney and Robert Mallett in the lead roles, supported by Jordan Graney.

The big surprise in House Drama was the guest appearance of Buckland Head of House, Mr Roy Servant. He will not forget the reaction of his fellow Heads of House who jokingly questioned the legitimacy of such an appearance. Nevertheless, Buckland House still won the competition!

The Dance troupe enjoyed a busy weekend in Sydney and was placed in two events at the eisteddfod in which they competed.

Mr Servant is 'arrested' in the Buckland House Drama play

Music

Significant events in the Music program this year included: the Queensland tour by the Big Band and Senior Choir performing at Dreamworld, The Southport School, Emmauel College and Hillcrest College; Matthew De Hoog's performance (accompanied by Mr Bainbridge) at Government House at the request of Mrs Underwood; and the Big Band's performance at the Tulip Festival in the Botanical Gardens.

2010

Changes in personnel (including a new Head of Senior School) and facilities (a new library and study centre) will be exciting for Senior School in the new year. Undoubtedly, the wonderful contribution of gifted teachers and students will continue, and next year's Virtus will again highlight an outstanding year for students at this school.

BURBURY HOUSE

Boarding is a lifestyle not simply a job. Kirsteen and I have lived and breathed boarding for six years and the time has come for a change. We leave with no regrets but will miss many aspects of boarding life. Unless you have experienced boarding you do not understand the connection you make with your fellow residents. It becomes your family with all the same trials and tribulations, joy and experiences. The only difference being most families do not have sixty boys.

2009 is our sixth and final year in Burbury House. In our time here, numbers in the house have grown from high 30s to low 60s. Although we will never again reach the halcyon days of 100 boys, due to reconfiguration of dorms, our community is thriving and all beds are full. Our diverse community consists of boys from the Derwent Valley, Midlands, East Coast, Peninsula, Hobart, Launceston, North West Coast, New South Wales, Queensland, Northern Territory, Western Australia, Singapore, Malaysia, Thailand, Korea, Vietnam, Hong Kong, China, Taiwan, Urumqi, Germany, France, Scotland, India and South Africa. In order to have the entire globe represented, we are looking to recruit students from Antarctica next year. Unfortunately, all we have found thus far is penguins!

Our successful year is due to the commitment and dedication of an outstanding staff. Our residential team of Mr Wayne Brown, Mr Adrian Finch, Mr Ryan Carstens, Mr Josh Hanek and Dr Peter Wilson have mentored, tutored, supervised and advised the boys in a manner that has ensured the house is relaxed, comfortable and enjoyable for all. The family atmosphere of the house is created by the warmth and involvement of our whole community.

Carmen Finch, Jane, Jacob and Fletcher Wilson and Alycia, Logan and Lyla Brown have also been instrumental in this cultural shift. Special mention to the Brown family, who also leave the house this year. The Browns has been in boarding for the last 2 ½ years and have been a major contributor to the development, success and culture of the house. The house will miss them almost as much and Logan and Lyla will miss 'their boys.' We look forward to seeing Lyla on the stage and Logan as 5/8 for the Wallabies in the years to come. Our catering team continue to provide outstanding quality and variety for the hungry hordes. We farewelled Mark Shea-Butler and welcomed back Adam Aitken to lead the team of Caroline Cross, Dianne Hilder and Sue Collidge. The house and boys have never been more presentable thanks to the efforts of Sue Barr in the laundry and Tina Clifford around the house. Last, but by no means least, is Mrs Andrea Bester. Andrea has been matron for over 20 years and is the life blood of the house. Together we have changed the nature of boarding at Hutchins and house culture. I also acknowledge the outstanding work she has done from a strategic plan perspective. We look forward to seeing our vision for boarding come to fruition in the next few years.

Our student executive team was admirably led by Robinson Vignes and Frederick Hamilton in 2009. Freddie is the only resident who predates me and has thus seen firsthand the transformation within the house. To all of our leavers we wish the very best of luck for their future endeavours.

The house is very proud of its academic achievements, sporting successes and cultural performances. Boarders were the heart and soul of many Open teams: Robinson Vignes and Ming Zheng (Jason) Sun, Basketball First V; George Burbury, Athletics, Rowing First VIII, Australian Rules First XVIII, William Bowden and William Hume, Rugby First XV and Chek Hui (Glenn) Tan and Chun Li (Jimmy) Lin, Badminton First IV. One of the most memorable cultural moments was Chek Hui (Glenn) Tan's performance for the Hungry Ghost Festival. Academically we were lead by Sarawood (Gab) Dejanipont and Yashovardhan Makharia, but most pleasing was the effort of all boys to improve.

Activities and excursions have kept the boys busy all year. Freycinet, Bonorong, Tasmanian Devil Park, Port Arthur, Mt Field, Mt Wellington, Launceston and Hastings Caves were the highlights. We had the opportunity to spend time with our friends from the other boarding schools in Tasmania at socials and activity days. Unfortunately, our bonfire night was postponed due to swine flu and then cancelled due to flood. Third time lucky in 2010.

The Burbury House Cup, the symbol of mentor group supremacy was hotly contested. This year saw the official naming of our mentor groups to recognise our links to boarders of the past. The names Macquarie, Ingle and St Albans, being sites of previous boarding houses were selected in addition to that of Hutchins' first boarder Frances Hudspeth*. The Cup came down to a tense battle between the four teams. Ingle, St Albans and Hudspeth were found to possess only half of the will and wits of the Macquarie juggernaut. Macquarie House, lead by Mr Finch and captained by Dominic Andrews and Yu-Shih (Johnnie) Chang gained bonus points for their construction of the house fire pit and for the awe inspiring performance of their team song 'Breakfast at Finchy's'.

Kirsteen and I have thoroughly enjoyed our time in boarding. We are humbled by the trust the parents of our boys have shown in us to guide and mentor their sons through their adolescent years. We hope that we have lived up to their expectations. We take with us happy memories and stories that will stay with us forever: permission to tickle, Jack cleaning the gutters, the view of the Derwent from the roof, Immunoman, dance offs, costume designing and our sixth sense.

Our legacy, we hope, is a compassionate, considerate and caring house that is based on leadership through service not on seniority.

A house, where all are welcome and treated with respect.

A community where individuality and diversity are valued.

A home where you feel safe, secure and loved.

John and Kirsteen Devine

*Frances Hudspeth describes his experiences:

On August 6 I was taken by some inhuman relations and delivered as the first boarder. There are moments of suffering in the ken of each human being over which he would fain draw a curtain. No martyr spasm could be more excruciating than the agony of that afternoon. Leaving the lively street, the pleasant sunshine, the beautiful ships and sea, which, being a country lad, I had seen for the first time, I was ushered direct into the awful presence.

DEBATING AND WRITING SOCIETY

Writing

Samuel Allender (Year 12) has won prizes in the Hutchins Poetry and Short Story competitions in Years 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12. The extracts on this page are from 'Broken,' his short story in verse, which won first prize in this year's competition. Other winners were: Mark Astley (Year 7), Cameron Allen (Year 7), Benjamin Armstrong (Year 9), Daniel Westbury (Year 9) and Julian Brown (Year 11).

Tom

I spent summers here
With my childhood crush.
Emma's my age.
In Kindy we'd link arms, with sand burning our feet,
and tear into the waves.

English Faculty Highlights

Isaac Dalla-Fontana (Year 10) won a medal in the ICAS English competition. Two Year 12 English Writing students, Daniel Jones and Cameron Willis had poems published in Traks 2009, an anthology of Poetry by Senior Secondary Students. Performance poet, Geoff Goodfellow visited Hutchins and proved that writing can literally save your life when he followed his oncologist's advice and wrote poignantly about his 'slow dance with cancer.' The Bell Shakespeare Company enlivened our study of Shakespeare with a performance based on Macbeth. It was a privilege for me to read impassioned and insightful exam responses from Years 9 and 10 students who chose to write on Romeo and Juliet, The Merchant of Venice, Macbeth and confirmed that Shakespeare has a place in our curriculum: there will always be something to say about love, prejudice and ambition.

Mother

At ten, Emma handed me a letter.
My songbird had been selected
For the Australian children's choir from thousands of applicants.
... I told my husband, Vitek.
He shattered her dream.
'We can't afford it,'
He barked in his grating Polish accent.
No discussion
To ease the pain of rejection.
The word 'no'
Still resonates in our lives.
Vitek's an island.
Family problems wash around him.

Speaking

Senior School Speech and Performance winners were Matthew Allanby (Year 10), who gave reasons why Australia should not become a republic; Milos Nikolic (Year 12), who spoke vehemently in support of euthanasia; and Connor Sweeney, who gave a dramatic recital of the poem, 'Nightfall in Soweto'. In the Middle School Poetry and Prose competition, Daniel Larrett (Year 7) took delight in the violence of Roger McGough's poem, 'The lesson;' and Timothy McQueen successfully defended his title of overall winner with a quirkily humorous performance from The Hitchiker's Guide to the Galaxy.

Patrick

He treats me like a leech he's given the flick.

Father

I am foreigner in this country.
To my children, I am joke.
Work mates sneer,
'Stupid wog! Can't speak English.'
I'm not wog. I'm Pole....
The war lasted for me
Until I emigrated here.
Now Emma's spoilt teenager.
Once she sang.
No future in music!
My brother, Adok, played violin.
He starved in Warsaw.
Now it's magazines and modelling.
Selfish, foolish girl!

Debating

Captain of Debating, Milos Nikolic writes: Hosted by Collegiate, our first debate, 'That women make better bosses than men,' saw Hutchins successfully arguing the affirmative case. As each school debated against the ability of their own sex to be successful as bosses, self-deprecating humour was the order of the day.

The annual Old Boys Debate was on the topic of whether 'Hutchins has become too pink.' Despite the high entertainment value of the debate put forward by the Year 12s, including an unforgettable video cameo by Mr Irons, Old Boys Marcus Turnbull, Josh Munnings and Sam Thompson won.

Milos Nikolic, Rohan Nanthakumar and Roland Lawrence regained their honour when they debated whether 'Generation Y is all about I' against Collegiate. Again, we relied on humour and self-deprecation, claiming that our generation is completely self-obsessed. This was demonstrated by Robinson Vignes' table dancing and singing 'I'm too sexy', and an interruption of a speech Kanye West style; both desperate grabs for attention by selfish Generation Y people. On behalf of all the boys, I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank Mr John Devine for his coaching throughout the year. He worked with us closely and tried to impart some of his considerable speaking brilliance.

Patrick

I'm caught in a place
Where I don't belong:
A rundown flat
that smells of vinyl, old socks and mould.
My sister shines.
I'm fourteen and forgotten ...
Then Emma was admitted to Westmead Hospital.
I knew this would happen.
What else could happen when you don't eat?
I'm the only one
Who's joined the dots.
Mum failed the puzzle.
Dad doesn't care.

In-house and Further Afield

Senior School House Debating points were shared by Stephens, Buckland and School. In the Middle School, first place was a tie between School and Thorold. Joska Romero was awarded Best Speaker at the Lions Youth of the Year Sandy Bay Club final. Hutchins was represented creditably by Lachlan Poslek (Year 11) at the United Nations Youth Association and by Milos Nikolic (Year 12), Thomas MacDonald and Thomas Whiteley at the Youth Parliament speaking events. Lachlan was selected to represent Tasmania at the national level of UNYA.

MARINE SCHOOL

Sail training has been occurring in the School since 1990 and before that dinghy sailing and of course rowing.

Harrison Hughes and Aaron Headley emergency steering

Tobias McShane and Michael Fletcher sailing downwind

James McMahon and Jamie Clark plot a course out of Hobart

Flags parading for the Mariners' Service

In recent years, the number of marine related experiences students could engage in has expanded greatly. This, coupled with developments from industry and government sectors, have provided an environment where there is huge opportunity to assist students in starting on career pathways and developing dreams. The Marine School at Hutchins is designed to capitalise on these opportunities and provide a vehicle where students can interact with industry, tertiary educators and researchers.

Currently under the Yachting Australia banner, courses are being run for the Inshore Skipper and Competent Crew certificates as well as the new yacht racing course. Timothy Clark, David Titchen and Thomas MacDonald are the first to undertake the Racing Crew Certificate. For the first time Aurora is the vessel the boys are racing on. Despite being an old yacht, she usually finishes mid field and at the time of writing was holding 4th place on handicap in the Division 4 pennant.

This year saw the largest group of students Hutchins has enrolled for the Coxswains' Course. This made the logistics of training on the water more complicated, but with enthusiasm and teamwork all on-water elements of the training were completed well. For the first time the fire fighting and survival elements were conducted in Hobart. The Tasmanian Fire Service took the students for the course to their fire ground at The Lea and navy trained survival instructors conducted the course in the Hobart Aquatic Centre.

Henry Goodfellow, Fletcher Caldwell and Aaron Zantuck participated in a three-day

introduction to marine industry careers. This program was piloted last year to provide a taste of careers available that involve working on the water. They looked at fish farming, oyster aquaculture, fishing, boat building, deckhand training and were given a meal at Mures as part of their experience.

Operation Seagull again gave some Year 10 boys a taste of navy life. Daniel Carr, David Titchen, Jonathan Olivier and Luke Allen spent a day on exercises with the navy at TS Derwent and on the river.

Hutchins was again heavily involved in the Mariners' Service. Numbers were down, unfortunately, as it occurred on show weekend this year. The Senior Choir and Mr Bainbridge on organ led the service, while Hutchins students provided the bulk of the parade of flags. Cameron Burnett and Michael Titchen lead the ordinary flags, which always add a splash of colour to the proceedings.

Next year promises to be an exciting year as the curriculum for the Marine School grows.

Faculty Report

This year we have offered Art, Dance, Drama, and Music Theatre. So what is the Visual and Performing Arts Faculty all about? It is so much more than just staging exhibitions, putting on plays and ‘prancing’ about! We still hear those clichéd statements, even today when society and education have come so far! There are many facets to the development of a good faculty and good teaching of the Arts. We assist our students in developing their skills. Without Arts skills, the works cannot develop and we have no product. As well as skills there is another extremely important element to our philosophy of teaching in this faculty. It is all about the relationships we develop. Problem solving, teamwork, building self-confidence and self-discipline and encouraging students to imagine what might be possible and to accept responsibility for it, are essential in the creative education of our boys. We ask them every day to articulate their vision in a creatively engaging way. But the best part is getting to know each other. Personally I have really enjoyed seeing students come into the Faculty and over the years of training with us develop into amazing young men who explore their creativity with professionalism and passion. Some of our students choose to follow the Arts dream and it is in these moments that we as Visual and Performing Arts staff are filled with pride. We wish all our students the very best in their creative pursuits.

Head of Visual and Performing Arts

DRAMA

The Venetian Twins

After a long process of preparation, gruelling auditions and truly mind-bending sessions of characterisation, the combined Year 11 and 12 Drama class produced The Venetian Twins by Carlo Goldoni. Under the guidance of Mrs Michelle Weeding, Head of Performing Arts, and with musical accompaniment by Aaron Powell, Performing Arts vocal coach and a brand new member of the Hutchins community, the cast mixed elements of the Italian Commedia dell'Arte style and modern theatre with an Australian flavour. The result was a fast-paced, manic, always surprising play of which the only complaint was: 'Why didn't you put on more shows?'

Roland Lawrence – Co-Captain of Drama

Third World Blues

Striking orange furnishings and images of napalmed children – David Williamson's Third World Blues is a black comedy from the 70s. It was a challenge for the Theatre Performance class to grasp the subtext ever present in this play. Supported by the creative strength of Mrs Michelle Weeding, the class waded into the swamps of Vietnam which haunted the minds of some characters, or milled rapturously amongst the avid protesters of the anti-war movement. In the pursuit of that contrast of experience the play depicts, the clash which alienated a generation of young Australian men, we pushed ourselves as a class to suffer the emotional convictions and tortures of the post Vietnam war period.

Soup

First semester's Year 8 Drama Production was a children's theatre play called Soup (Or how I learnt to stop worrying and love turnips.) It was the story of Bob (played by Timothy McQueen) a turnip farmer who lived in his homeland of Somerset. He loved his turnips. However, Bob had a special gift of making turnip soup. One day he is taken away by the orders of King Boris (played by Edward Burrows-Chen) who wants to sample soup. After a series of mishaps, the king rejects his soup because he does not have a spoon. This play was performed to a number of Junior School classes under the creative and engaging direction of Mr Geale.

Samuel Smeele

Year 7 Errols

For the fourth time, all Year 7 classes prepared for The Errols in August. The theme for this year was contrast. Each of the five classes were given the task of performing their own mini production. This would obviously prove to be an incredibly difficult task. Due to the help of the Drama and Art departments, parents and mentors, the difficult task was an enjoyable experience for all boys.

Out of all the Year 7 boys, two were chosen to be master of ceremonies. Preparation for the event was intense and it took many Drama lessons and many practise sessions to perfect it. In the end we were able to get it just right. Our presentations included a film, a black light puppetry show, a dance piece and some mask work. Of course when it came to show time the nerves were running for everyone involved in the production. Although we were all nervous we were equally excited.

The end result of all the effort was the entertainment of a packed auditorium.

The standard of performance was excellent with all mentor groups showing great talent. A big thank you to all involved.

House Drama

This year, the Senior School House Drama was the decider of the Cock House competition and each house was working furiously to secure the top prize. Adjudicating was Mr Graeme Paine OAM, local theatre great, and founder of the Hobart Summer Theatre School. The competition was fierce with each house presenting very contrasting pieces.

In 4th place was Thorold House presenting their adaptation of The Nickel, by Charles Webb. The nightmare play, performed with tongue-in-cheek humour and humorous characterisations, was received well by the audience.

Third was Stephens House. They presented a fairly compressed (two hours into twenty minutes) and slightly naughty version of the Disney classic Aladdin. The performers delivered a high-energy fast-paced performance and even blood on the stage did not slow them down.

Second was School House who presented an adaptation of Ben Payne's play The Last Laugh. This was one of the more serious pieces, with undertones of oppression and fascism. They made extensive use of dramatic techniques and multimedia to bring the audience a reflective piece of political comedy.

First was Buckland with their adaptation of Inspector Drake's Last Case by David Tristram. They brought the house down with hilarious one liners with the sheer incompetency of Inspector Drake. This combined with a special cameo by the head of Buckland House, Mr Servant as the murderer, secured Buckland their victory.

Congratulations must be offered to all participants: actors, directors, script editors, technical operators and everyone else in between for all their hard work for making another memorable night. Once again, the event would not have been possible without the help of Mrs Michelle Weeding.

Connor Sweeney – Co-Captain of Drama

Dance

2009 saw the Hutchins Dance Troupe grow in leaps and bounds. With numbers reaching up to 30 boys, our inaugural interstate trip and best results yet at competition, the troupe is gaining support and looks to have a promising future. Probably our biggest event for the year, other than Speech Night, is the Hobart Dance Eisteddfod. This year the Troupe was entered in a number of competitive sections. The outcome of the eisteddfod resulted in a Highly Commended for the Song and Dance Group, Third place for the Jazz Group, third place to Connor Sweeney for his Jazz Solo and first place to Connor and Robert Mallett for our Song and Dance Duo. Other sections we competed in were Open Champion Group and I competed in the Open Tap Solo.

Another way in which the Troupe has grown is in the Junior School. We have now started taking boys from Years 3 to 6. With small steps and easy timing, Mrs Jacquie Coad is working to get the boys up to scratch.

On the weekend of the 15 and 16 August, the Dance Troupe travelled to Sydney to compete in the McDonalds Performing Arts Challenge. This was a major step as it was our first trip interstate and we were competing in sections with up to 37 other groups. We competed in two sections, Jazz Group and Open School Dance Group. With fierce competition, the boys held it together to walk away with third place for the School Dance Group and a Highly Commended for the Jazz. In school boys sport the pinnacle of a season and of the competition is the grand final. Unfortunately there isn't such an event for dance so we looked upon this competition as our grand final. To place in both sections made the trip pretty special to all involved.

Robert Mallett – Dance Captain

SPA - Rat Pack Cabaret Night

This year saw a long overdue collaboration between the School of Performing Arts ensembles. The venture joined the forces of the Blue Note Ensemble, Musical Theatre, and Drama sections of SPA to create a magical performance based around the American gangsters and the Rat Pack.

Over the week coming up to the performances the auditorium was transformed from a hall to a happening

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

nightspot, complete with sparkling curtains and playing cards scattered over the tables, to create the Las Vegas atmosphere.

The night was a huge success, with sell-out performances each night. This was the first time some of the boys had sung in front of an audience and everyone performed admirably.

The Blue Note Band, led by Mr Scott Cashion played incredibly, with special guest Aaron Powell tinkling the ivories in the first and last songs.

Congratulations to the Performing Arts students and staff. I know that this endeavour was a triumph for all of us.
Connor Sweeney – Co-Captain of Drama

Visual Arts

The idea of taking up an opportunity often presents challenges as well as embarking on a pathway not yet undertaken. For others new doors open. Such has been the year in the Visual Arts Faculty in 2009.

In Term 1, I took Long Service Leave, leaving classes in the capable hands of Mr Josh Hanek. Josh has embraced the School and is now looking for a long-term career within the establishment. Mrs Rachelle Robinson, his colleague for Term 1, warmly acknowledges the support and fine contribution Josh made during my leave. I cordially thank Josh on behalf of everyone whom he supported in the art area.

On my return, I felt I was returning home. The boys' overt greetings and their questions of 'what did you do during your break?' speak highly of their genuine interest in us, their teachers.

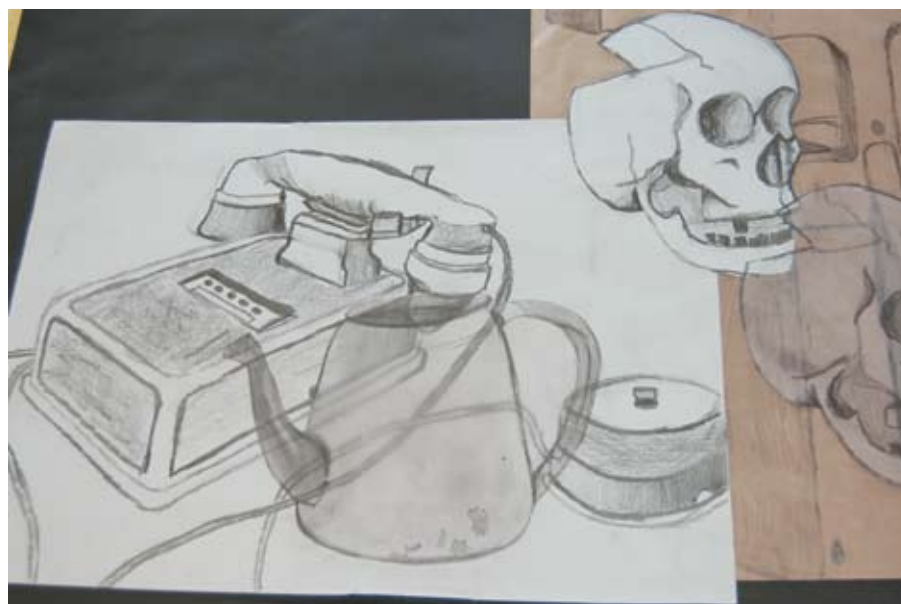

We have always taken pride in the achievements of our students. Last year we were able to congratulate Jeremy Yung on winning the Abel Tasman Art Prize for which he received a trip to Holland. This allowed him to engage with a different Art culture. We also congratulate William Heath on winning a scholarship to the National Gallery in Canberra where he was able to participate in art activities for a number of weeks. Both these prizes are highly sought. We wish both boys all the best as they now continue their education in related art fields.

It is also pleasing to note that Nathan Gray, and ex-student of our art department, was named the winner of the 2009 RACT Insurance Tasmanian Youth Portraiture Prize for his painting of FIN.

One of the goals of our Art Department is to nurture and identify students with talents and provide the inspiration for these students to pursue careers in the many and varied areas where their creative talents can be channelled.

'Music is a more potent instrument than any other in education.' Plato

Every child has a right to music education. At Hutchins, we endeavour to ensure that that right is passed on to each and every boy who enters our doors. From our Kindergarten boys discovering rhythm, to our Junior School boys playing an instrument for the first time, to our Senior School students learning to understand the elements that constitute a good performance, music enriches the lives of all our boys at Hutchins.

Throughout the course of 2009, there have been many performances that highlight how important music is at Hutchins. In many respects, we are an important element towards the marketing and promotion of the School. All boys across the School have performed well in their ensembles.

The Friends of Music have assisted our musical endeavours greatly and I thank all the members of this voluntary group of parents, for their support and commitment. Their contribution to such events as the Ensemble Showcase and Jazz@Hutchins are vital in allowing the staff and students to concentrate on the performance aspect of these concerts. Their assistance and financial support towards the Queensland Tour for the Big Band and Senior Choir goes to show how passionate these parents are towards their sons' music education and their performance endeavours. The Faculty is very thankful to Mrs Anne Haward and Mrs Helen West for their fine leadership, along with all members, for their dedication to the musical pursuits of the ensembles at Hutchins.

During the Anniversary Week celebrations, we were incredibly fortunate to host the debut performance of Raise the Flag – a show that tributes all the legends of Australian Rock and Roll. The line up of performers included internationally renowned artists Dave Gleeson and Paul Woseen (from Screaming Jets), James Morley (The Angels), Paul Wheeler (Choirboys) and Mick Adkins (Rogue Sharks). Students from Years 7 to 12 were entertained by the line-up and were given the opportunity to find out exactly what life is like as a full-time Rock and Roll musician. Hutchins is extremely grateful to Mr Keirran Downham (father of Morgan in Year 4) for his generosity in bringing this act to our stage.

... every child has a right to music education

The Senior School House Music competition always proves to be a popular event in the House Competition and 2009 was certainly no exception. From classical to jazz, string ensembles to rock bands, each house presented a whole array of musical talent. Through hard work, commitment and fine leadership from senior students, School House were worthy winners.

Our Music Captains for 2009 have served us well. Jack Saffin and Matthew De Hoog have not only led our boys by example through their own performances, they have also engaged the interest of our boys to be actively responsible in both rehearsals and concerts.

The development of music curriculum is a constant one. As technology improves within the Music industry, there is a strong need for us to keep up-to-date. This allows our boys the opportunity to learn and be familiar with the most recent trends in music technology and sound recording. Next year, we look forward to a significant upgrade to IT in the Audio Design area of the Dudley Clarke Performing Arts Centre as well as the introduction of a new Music Technology course in Year 9.

During Term 1 we farewellled Mr Allan Brown. Mr Brown served for over 20 years as a guitar tutor and was responsible for fostering a love of jazz in so many of our boys which developed into the very popular Jazz Guitar Ensemble. We were fortunate that Mr Brown returned to Hutchins one last time to perform with other members of staff at the Jazz@Hutchins concert in Term 2. Our Big Band Director, Mr Scott Cashion, took a moment during the concert to thank Mr Brown for his valuable contribution to Hutchins. We wish Mr Brown all the best for his future musical endeavours.

The Music staff are incredibly talented and are dedicated to fostering a balanced music education to our boys. Without them, what we do just would not happen. I am extremely indebted to each member of the Faculty for their warm welcome and assistance in guiding me through my first year at Hutchins. In particular, I would like to thank Mr Andrew Bainbridge, Director of Music Performance, and Mrs Rosemary Seddon, Performing Arts Secretary, for their support.

Tulip Festival – Big Band

Finally, I would like to thank all the boys who have played in our ensembles, sung in our choirs and studied in our classrooms. As we strive to develop our curriculum and further our repertoire, the boys that come through our doors are central in the realisation of every child given the right to a music education.

Senior String Orchestra

Senior Strings started the year with only seven members, but has doubled in size during the course of the year. Performances this year have included the Ensemble Showcase, Hobart Eisteddfod and Spring Concert. Careful choice of repertoire is vital in a group like this, and the group has played a wide variety of music, from Vivaldi through to Warlock's Capriol Suite, and Pirates of the Caribbean.

Technique on string instruments takes many years to develop, and many members of this group are playing strings as a result of the Class Strings program, having commenced in Year 3. It is our expectation that as this program grows in strength and expands through Year 7, so will the size of the orchestra.

The boys have been enthusiastic and attentive in rehearsals, have enjoyed their performances, and I would particularly like to thank staff members Ms Annabel

Watkins, Mr Brendan Conroy and Ms Kathryn Glover for their help and energy.

Senior Treble Choir

A small but dedicated group of boys in the Senior Treble Choir met each Friday afternoon during Terms 1 and 2. Under the guidance of Mr Andrew Bainbridge and Ms Kathryn Glover, these boys worked hard to produce performances in the Ensemble Showcase, Anniversary Service and Spring Concert. The group concluded early in Term 3, because changing voices meant most of the boys were no longer trebles! Many of these boys have moved on to the Senior Choir. A recruiting drive is planned for early 2010, and we should see the Senior Treble Choir build in strength.

Senior Choir

This has been a busy year for the Senior Choir. Membership has remained steady at about 25, with boys from Years 7 to 12. Performances have included the Commissioning of Revd Matthew Gray as Chaplain, the School Maundy Thursday Service, Anzac Day at the Cenotaph, Ensemble Showcase, ANCA Youth Concert, Hobart Eisteddfod, Fahan Winter Concert, Anniversary Service, Windows Dedication Service, Mariners' Service and the Spring Concert.

In addition to this, and a highlight of the year, was the Music Tour to Queensland in September. Along with the Big Band, 16 choir members spent five days on the Gold Coast and in Brisbane, performing at Hillcrest College, The Southport School, Emmanuel College and Dreamworld. This was a most rewarding and enjoyable time. An extended program of music required extra, longer rehearsals. This allowed the group to focus in greater detail on refining their performance, which has flowed on into performances since.

This year concluded with 11 choir members performing with the expanded TSO Chorus in a performance of Gustav Mahler's Second Symphony in December. Seven boys have also been selected to travel to Adelaide with the TSO Chorus in March 2010 for a performance of Mahler's Eighth Symphony at the 50th Adelaide Festival.

I would like to thank and congratulate the choir members for their dedicated efforts, and especially Choir Captain Matthew De Hoog for his assistance, fine leadership and example throughout the year.

Andrew Bainbridge
Director of Music Performance

The Hutchins Big Band

2009 has continued to see the Hutchins Big Band mature and develop into a versatile and exciting contemporary Big Band, with yet another busy and exciting year of performances. Term 2 saw the annual 'Jazz@Hutchins' Showcase Concert. The night showcased all the 'Jazz'-based ensembles that Hutchins has, including the Hutchins Brass Ensemble, the SPA Bluenote Ensemble and the Hutchins Big Band, a great night of food, refreshments and students performing. Two weeks later it was off to Queensland on our first mainland tour together with the Hutchins Senior Choir. We were hosted by the Emmanuelle College School Big Band who we hosted in 2008 and it was great to catch up with the Band again. Five days later and with other school performances completed, including one at Dreamworld, it was a very tired group of students and teachers who returned from 30° days back to 14° in Hobart. Good times.

MUSIC

The beginning of Term 3 saw the Band perform as part of the '2009 Tulip Festival' within the picturesque Royal Hobart Botanical Gardens. Another highlight of Term 3 was taking out first place in the 'Open Big Band' section of the 2009 Clarence Eisteddfod for the sixth year running. Hutchins should be very proud of the status of the contemporary jazz program here.

As always, we lose several key players from Year 12 and it's pleasing to know that there is now a waiting list for students wishing to perform in this ensemble. Thanks and goodbyes to William Colvin, Roland Lawrence, Hamish Coupe, Jack Saffin and Yannick Moore.

Hutchins Symphonic Band

The Hutchins Symphonic Band continues to develop in both size and range of repertoire. This ensemble has been developed to allow our increasing numbers of wind, brass and percussion players an ensemble to work within. The Symphonic Band covers material across various genres of band literature, from the Classics through to current Pop Music and has close to 40 players from Years 6 to 12.

The success and growth of this ensemble is also due to the impressive work of Mr Glenn Schultz with the Hutchins Brass Ensemble and Mr Les Johnston with the Hutchins Trombone Ensemble.

The Big Band performing at Dreamworld

SPA Bluenote Ensemble

Gautier Pavlovic-Hobba	Trumpet
Thomas Harrison	Trumpet
Thomas Macdonald	Trombone
Scott Cashion	Tenor Sax
Jacob Davey	Piano
Tarsi Hull	Keyboards
Hamish Stephenson-Elliott	Bass
Oliver Toombs	Percussion
William Colvin	Drums

2009 continued to see this talented ensemble of musicians, work on material that was recorded by artists on the famous 'Bluenote' recording label in the 1950s and 1960s. Most of the repertoire worked on this year was vocal based as recorded by Frank Sinatra, Bobby Darin and the famous 'Rat Pack'. Combining with the SPA Musical Theatre students, this music was presented at our first cabaret evening in Term 2.

House Captain's Report

For Buckland House 2009 has been another year of great success, winning a fifth consecutive Cock House shield. This achievement is unparalleled in the history of the School and is a credit to all those who have been a part of it. This sort of success does not come easily, but rather, takes a lot of hard work and dedication. The culture that exists within Buckland House is the perfect environment from which this success comes. The Buckland community is a great body to be a part of, and aims to include everyone regardless of their strengths, weaknesses, likes or dislikes. It is on this foundation of inclusion and participation that we collectively achieve and accomplish our goals.

Buckland House is more than just a group of boys who wear the same coloured tie; it is a team whose members have a common goal and work together to achieve what they desire. Sure the house can be divided into sections, mentor groups, year levels and sporting teams however when it comes down to it we are all striving for the same thing, and all share a common interest. Throughout the year this has become evident as Buckland members took on challenges on the sporting field, in the classroom, and on the stage. It is not always true that we have the most skilled athlete, or best debater, however it is a fact that we will always give our best and that is all anyone can ask.

It is at this point I would like to emphasise to all the boys who I am leaving behind, I have no better advice to give you than to immerse yourself in the culture of this great house, and make the most of every opportunity that presents itself to you. If that means running the cross country when you really don't want to, or volunteering to help out behind the scenes, then it is something you must do. Once the task is over I guarantee that you will be glad you did it, and will be better for the experience.

I would like to thank every member of Buckland for being active contributors to the success, tradition and culture of this house. Without you nothing of what I have written would have been possible. I think that sometimes we forget that it is our house, and we can do with is what we wish. Sure Mr Servant and the other mentors are there to give us a helping hand when we need it, and to offer support and guidance, but in the end it is us boys who have the power to call the shots.

This leads me into the excellent leadership opportunities that Buckland presents to its members. The House Executive is an excellent forum where boys can have their voice heard and contribute to the running of the house. I would like to thank all those who held portfolios this year and extend an invitation, on behalf of the house, to anyone who wishes to be involved in the future, you are always welcome.

Before I conclude I would like thank all those people have helped make my time in this house so enjoyable and fulfilling. Without everyone working together then this would not have been possible. It has been a pleasure to captain Buckland House this past year and I feel honoured that I could contribute to it in some small way. To all the boys returning next year, from the youngest to the oldest, I urge you to keep the tradition going, make the most of your opportunities and ensure that this great house remains so for many years to come.

Thomas Reid

HEAD OF HOUSE

The Power of Red ...

Whilst flying, I have the opportunity to gaze down upon our island, or what we have come to know as 'our' part of the world. The scene is dominated by an abundance of blue and a rolling expanse of undulating green, the two separated by a long ribbon of yellow sand. To the observer, there appears at first glance to be no visible sign of red...

Yet it is there, hidden away, a few shards of colour from the impressionists' palette camouflaged against a tapestry of pastel greens. Ultimately, it is red that brings vitality to our world.

Red concentrates the radiance of a flower in bloom, a juicy ripe fruit or the red breast of a beautiful bird. Red infuses the daily display of blushing colour signalling the transition between night and day. Red represents the very essence of life that flows in our veins. It is the heart of the flame that warms us. It is the colour that radiates power, instils passion, and evokes pride. It may be both friend and foe.

Could we in Bucks even begin to do justice to such an awesome colour?

For flames must be fed in order to survive; tended so that they create rather than consume.

*In what distant deeps or skies
Burnt the fire of thine eyes?
On what wings dare he aspire?
What the hand dare seize the fire?*

William Blake

The fire of Buckland has been tended by the energy, skill and commitment of so many capable young men in 2009. Their efforts have allowed Buckland to be awarded the Cock House Trophy for the fifth consecutive year.

Under the leadership of Thomas Reid, the Prefects and House Executive, Buckland weathered serious challenges from other houses throughout the year. With the culmination of the House Competition dependent upon House Drama, it could so easily have culminated in a three-way tie.

We did not dominate, however. Full credit must go to Thorold and School for the strength of their competition and together with Stephens for the spirit of their engagement. In the end I feel that all who participated have earned a respect that can only flow from the demands of a healthy challenge.

I return to the question of whether we are worthy of the colour red? You be the judge. Our continued survival needs to be fuelled by the energies and enthusiasm within all of us coupled with the strength and passion to face the vicissitude of challenges ahead.

I can only tender the fact that we have tried, not only to meet expectations, but to do so with the courage and compassion that forms the cornerstone of Buckland House.

To those leaving, take with you everything that we have to offer and leave behind, for us, the fond memories of many years of friendship.

House Captain's Report

As a house we again came agonisingly close to winning the Cock House. It all started way back in the second week of first term with the swimming carnival where we came a very well-deserved second although we were never in the hunt for winning the carnival.

Summer Sports Day was to be just another one of those days as Thorold showed their capacity to win as well, with Bucks coming in second and us third. Already after two events it was obvious that the competition was going to be very tight between the three leading houses.

Then came (what is I think) the highlight for School House in this competition for the year – our performance in House Music. It was not just a group of musicians up on stage to show their individual skills but a team of entertainers that were second to no-one. No-one even came close to the entertainment level that they provided.

The lead again seesawed in Cross Country as Buckland showed some athletic dominance to win Cross Country to regain the overall lead. We were incredibly lucky to finish where we did in third, as the points between us and Stephens were the difference of one person not running. All we needed was one person not to run and we would have finished last.

We had great results in House Chess and Debating and the finale was House Drama. As the story goes, however, it just wasn't to be. For the second year in a row we finished overall second in the Cock House. A good effort nevertheless!

The Beattie Trophy has been fantastic and I congratulate the winning mentor group, JSC. It is always a lot of fun competing in a competition that is always good natured and while taken seriously by some it is always enjoyable. I encourage everybody next year to keep at the Beattie Trophy and that you don't lost track of why it was created, in remembrance of Sam Beattie.

Thank you to the entire Executive that has worked with me through the year and for the support of the Mentors. It has been a great year. For all the School House boys next year, work hard, do your best and always look out for one another.

Rohan Langford House Captain

SCHOOL HOUSE

From the Head of House

Without a doubt, School House has once again proven to be the house in the School with the most spirit.

Upon taking up the position early in the year, it was evident that I was in a house whose students pride themselves on their ability to help each other out, be involved at all times, push themselves as hard as they can and to be respectful of each other. My congratulations go to the two previous Heads of House, Mr Andrew Webber and Mr Damian Green for setting up such a wonderful tradition that was carried out once again by the students of 2009.

There were so many highlights that it is hard to list them. The Executive of the House, lead by Rohan Langford, did a magnificent job in organising the day-to-day activities and getting the best out of the boys. I thank them all for their particular efforts they had made in opening up so many opportunities for their fellow students. They have definitely set a benchmark for the Executive of 2010! I would also like to add a thank you to all the Captains of the teams School House entered throughout the year. Your help was very much appreciated.

There has been an enormous amount of talent displayed within the house this year. In the sporting arena, we have had School House students represent Australia and Tasmania in the following:

- Thomas Chapman – Tas, Aus (Rowing)
- Rohan Langford – Tas, Aus (Sailing)
- Marcus Davies – Tas (Cricket), Tas (AFL)
- Jack Boon – Tas (AFL)
- William Bowden – Tas (Rugby)
- Matthew Clark – Tas (Cricket)
- Jack McGrath – Tas (Rugby)
- Lincoln Reynolds – Tas (Boxing)
- Nicholas Edwards – Tas (Rowing)
- Charles Haward – Tas (Hockey)
- Alexander Hay – Tas (Water Polo)
- Roman Marsh – Tas (Squash)
- Matthew Sonneveld – Tas (Trampoline)
- Eugene Smith – Downhill Mountain Bike (Tas), Rugby (Tas)

Marcus Davies completed his fantastic year in sport by being drafted to Carlton and we wish him the best there.

The boys have also excelled in the Performing Arts with Connor Sweeney winning eisteddfod prizes in Drama and Dance and Robert Mallett winning prizes in Drama, Music and Dance. Robert has now been accepted a much sought after position in The Western Australia Academy of Performing Arts and once again we will follow his career along with those of all our ex-house members with interest.

Community Service was prominent again this year with School House organising the annual Salvation Army Winter Clothes Appeal as well as trips to Oatlands to help with the Southern Midlands Council. This theme of giving back to the community was one that was obvious throughout the year.

SCHOOL HOUSE

As Rohan explains we were very competitive in the Cock House this year, finishing second. The Chess Team's demolition of the other houses proved that our talents are widespread and we could match it with anyone in any discipline. The spirit of the house was no more evident when 60-odd boys turned up for a meal aimed at gathering our collective support for the Drama students performing that night. It was just marvellous to see students stepping out of their comfort zone and putting their support in for others in the house.

Behind the scenes Mr Sam Nogajski has been a wonderful help as Administrator and all the Mentors have done a fantastic job in support of the boys in the house. I thank them all for the efforts they made this year above and beyond what is expected. Their caring approach to pastoral care has no doubt helped the boys be who they are today.

Finally to each and every boy in School House, thank you for all the efforts you have made this year. You have shown initiative and accountability. Your efforts continued to astound me as the year progressed and I am looking forward to more times like this in 2010. To the leavers – thank you for your support and lead by example attitude. You have all been exceptional School House men and I have enjoyed sharing your final year of school with you in this role. Good luck for the future!

STEPHENS HOUSE

House Captain's Report

This year has been tough on the mighty yellow house, an unfortunate situation we seem to find ourselves in a lot lately. We've continually finished third and fourth place in most house competitions.

So what do people think of when someone talks about Stephens House? Do they think of winning or athleticism? Absolutely not. We have spent several years at the bottom, and found ourselves last by miles this year. We were never going to earn much respect from the other houses. But Stephens House is not characterised by its Cock House efforts, or its academic record. Stephens House is about spirit and participation.

Due to our shocking record in the last couple of years, boys could have had every reason to feel dejected and give up. We knew how it felt to constantly lose, but we pushed and eventually, it paid off with a respectable year. What keeps this house together as a team is its ability to push on, no matter what the opposition. This year has been such an amazing improvement in teamwork and contribution. And that is truly more important than the odd win.

Our house symbol is the lion; the lion represents pride, courage and loyalty and those are the qualities we have displayed as members of Stephens House. Pride in our house, pride in ourselves and above all pride in our school and pride in our community. We have participated, with enthusiasm, with energy and with willingness. We may still be lacking numbers occasionally, but the progression from a fairly woeful 2008 has been great.

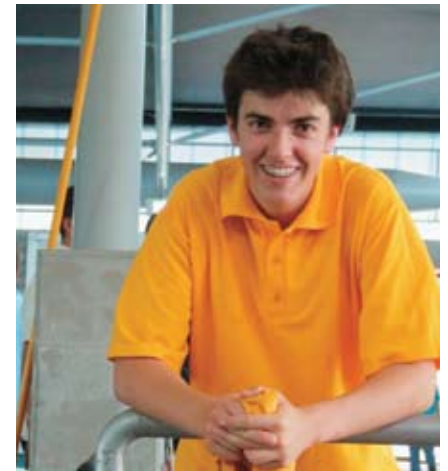

I said at the start of the year that I wanted to come away from this house with no-one feeling that they were not good enough or that they should not compete if they are not natural-born athletes. Stephens needs you to have a go and do your absolute best. For some of you, your absolute best is setting the School record in whatever athletics or swimming event, but for the rest of you, your best might simply be finishing a swimming race. I would rather you walk the pool in the 50m freestyle than us have no representative at all. Lack of involvement and lack of caring is just not good enough. And I am certain that this house now competes with such spirit and such force that the house is going to move up to bigger and better things.

To all of Stephens thank you for your support, your contributions, your opinions and your respect. This is not and never was my house, or Mr Starkey's or Mr McNamara's. This is your house. You are the success. Without you, Stephens is nothing. So thank you to everyone who helped the Mentors, the Executive and all the boys who found their niche whether it was on stage, on the field or at the chess board; your efforts and contribution make this house what it is, a competitor.

No longer is Stephens a joke; now when people think of Stephens House, they think of our compassion, our comradery and most of all, they now know we are a force to be reckoned with. To borrow a well-used phrase from our former house master, 'A champion team beats a team of champions.' We have shown glimpses of champion ability; work on this, improve it and couple it with a growing house spirit and Stephens has the ability to win. It has been a long enough stay down at the bottom. Get back on top.

From the outgoing Head of House

With the start of a new year many resolutions are made and there is the chance to do things differently.

A new influx of enthusiastic students from Middle School and a new House Executive eager to flex their muscles provided the chance to finally run the house with an effective 9 to 12 leadership structure. Armed with some leadership and management strategies, the Executive set up committees within their portfolios that consisted of students from Years 9 to 12. These were responsible for organising all house activities.

The vibrant embryonic nature was most evident in the Cock House competition. With enthusiasm and participation far exceeding recent efforts, the spirit in the house was prominent. While the score card showed last more often than not, the support and involvement augurs well for the future. Winning is a state of mind and participating in the spirit of friendly rivalry the most important attribute when educating the whole person. I am proud of the response of the house.

For the first time leadership at all levels of Senior School was recognised by a badge. All students involved in the organising committees were eligible for appointment as House Leaders, signified by the lion badge struck last year, or the higher appointment of Leader, identified by the newly struck black School badge. I was very pleased to see the number of students recognised for their leadership increase throughout the year, especially those who had been doing outstanding jobs in Years 9 and 10.

There have been a number of changes to the staff team this year. I thank all the staff and leaders for their ministrations while working with me. It is with mixed emotions, similar to a parent and child moving to the next stage of their lives, sadness at the parting, proud of the achievements and hope for the future, that I move to a new position in the School from Head of Stephens House. I wish Mr Roger McNamara and the house under his guidance a prosperous and enlightened journey. Virtutis amore.

From the New Head of House

Having only been Head of Stephens for Term 3, I all too quickly found myself in the position of having to farewell the Year 12s. The formalities of this final week inadvertently serve to remind each boy of their time at Hutchins. In Stephens House we had our traditional lunch river cruise where each boy was asked to speak about another member of the Year 12 Stephens group; this event highlighted the strength of relationships that develop in a pastoral system such as ours where there are numerous shared experiences. It didn't matter whether boys had been in the house for one year or fourteen, the genuine respect and warmth the boys felt for each other was memorable. Our second event was the final assembly. Having been reminded of the bond and camaraderie between the Year 12s I wanted to use this event as an opportunity to remind boys of the responsibility they have for getting the most out of Hutchins; for getting involved; for developing relationships and for putting themselves out there to see what they are really made of. In essence I wanted to reinforce what House Captain William Colvin had spoken of at the K-12 Assembly.

I took on this task with the aid of the Nickleback song ...'If today was your last day'. Below is an excerpt from that speech.

This is a song about opportunity and taking each one of those opportunities by the horns and running with it. It's about having no regrets, knowing that at any point in your life you can look back and be satisfied that you tried everything and gave 100%. It's a reminder that life can be short lived and if you haven't already given it your best shot it's not too late to put your game face on. For many of you this perhaps sounds like your last lot of report comments, if that is the case, don't dwell on them but rather treat them as an impetus for change, who you are is not determined by these comments, who you are is how you respond to these comments.

Hugh Sayers carrying the flag as usual

To me, the stand out verses in this song are ...

What's worth the price is always worth the fight

Every second counts 'cause there's no second try

STEPHENS HOUSE

To all the Year 12s, in your life after Hutchins, get out there and live life to the full, those dreams you have, those things you want to achieve, your success or otherwise in these endeavours rests with you. Have faith in yourself and when you decide to give something a go, commit to it fully. I want to say 'good luck' but really, luck has nothing to do with it. Remember, don't take the free ride in your own life.

With these words in mind, look forward to the future and thank you for all that you have contributed to Stephens. A special thank you to William Colvin and his Executive, they deserve to be proud of their achievements this year; they leave Stephens as a house whose spirit is beginning to soar.

For those of you still at Hutchins in 2010 – together, with the attitude mentioned above, we can do much to ensure your time at school, and in Stephens, is something that you can look back on with pride and satisfaction. This report speaks much of spirit and relationships and little of achievement, this has more to do with the culture that I wish to foster in Stephens and the feeling that is beginning to emanate from the house and little to do with the lack of achievement, so look out Thorold, Bucks and School, we are on the rise.

From the House Captain and Vice-Captain

Cock House competition for this year was fierce, with the final result depending on the last event. Our dominant house spirit clearly showed, with Thorold having the highest attendance rate for the events compared with the other houses. This attendance was a large contributing factor to Thorold having a fighting chance for Cock House 2009.

The highlight events for Thorold House were Winter Sports Day, Summer Sports Day and the Athletics where the 'Green Street Elite' claimed first place. We also came close second in Swimming and Cross Country. This was a clear evidence of the teamwork that was constant throughout the year.

House Drama and House Music were organised through the tremendous efforts of Christoph Speer. The two acts represented Thorold House well, and the boys had a chance to convey true house spirit through the combined support.

This year the Executive initiated many events, with six house lunches which included a variety of cuisine such as BBQ, Subway, pizza and kebabs. After many hours of organising, we managed to have a house night held at Collegiate with Reibey and Monty Houses.

The Executive's aim this year was to diversify our usual house events into something different for the boys to enjoy. For instance, we initiated House Badges for the first time in Thorold. Alexander Breckenridge played a key role in the success of this initiative. Wearing Thorold House Badges represented the pride we have in being Thorold House members.

William Heath and Matthew Kang

A personal note from the House Captain

This year we also organised the Year 12 leavers' singlets that were seen as a way of uniting the Year 12 in Thorold House in their last year. The singlets have made it possible for leavers to wear a bit of Thorold, and to allow for remembering the house in years to come. Matthew Kang had a major role in this initiative.

I have never been more proud to be a part of the mighty 'stags' than I have throughout this year. The amazing effort that all Thorold House members give it has become clear to me and this includes staff, outside supporters and most importantly, the boys. Thorold House is like a machine which could not function without all its individual parts. For this I thank everyone who has played their part for the house. I have thoroughly enjoyed having the privilege of being the 2009 Thorold House Captain. It has allowed me to form a special bond with the house and has created a pleasant memory that will not be forgotten. It was a definite highlight of my final year at Hutchins.

From the Head of House

It has certainly been a busy and interesting year for Thorold House. The house produced a very good performance in the Cock House competition, with strong performances coming from Years 9 and 10. This augurs well for the future. A highlight was the manner in which the workload was shared by the Executive, with many people stepping up to the mark when required. The lunches were a highlight with some experimentation in the types and variety of food and venues.

We were invited to a social function by our sister houses at Collegiate and it was great to see good numbers of boys from all year groups turning up for some outdoor activities, a BBQ and a quiz. It was an evening enjoyed by all and it will lay the foundations for bigger and better events in the future.

The Thorold Mentors maintain a consistent and supportive regime despite the fact that they are constantly challenged by factors such as changes in personnel, rooms, timetables and staff absences. It is a delight to work with all the Thorold Mentors, and appreciation of their efforts is continually being reinforced by Thorold students of all ages. Some great friendships have been forged between Early Learning Centre boys and Thorold students during the regular visits being made by Thorold Mentor Groups to the ELC. The house has remained active with community service and a focus of every house lunch is considering those less fortunate.

It is an exciting time for Thorold students. While next year we will be forced to cope with the impact of the construction works for the new Thorold wing and library, by September next year we will be moving in to a brand new state-of-the-art facility which will furnish our needs for many years into the future.

One of the most enjoyable aspects of my teaching job is being involved with Thorold House. This has been brought home to me once again by witnessing excellent student leadership from enthusiastic and helpful Executive members who have encouraged and motivated Thorold. It is great to see high achieving house members who enjoy themselves both working hard and playing hard. Go green, go Thorold!

Co-Curricular 2009

The Hutchins School Co-Curricular Program in 2009 has been extremely successful. From the sports arenas, drama studios, music halls, and debating and public speaking competitions, young men at Hutchins have travelled a path of self expression, gaining life time experiences, which will stay with them forever. Tours to New Zealand, Brisbane, and Sydney and countless intrastate trips have given our boys an opportunity to be the best they can.

Notable performances throughout 2009 were:

- Athletics Aggregate Boys Champions
- Australian Rules Football SATIS state premiers First XVIII
- Australian Rules Football SATIS state premiers Second XVIII
- First Basketball team southern premiers and SATIS state premiers
- Badminton Ampol Cup Champions
- Cricket SATIS state minor premiers and finalists
- Cross Country Junior and Aggregate boys champions
- Dance Troupe State dance eisteddfods and commendable mention in the Sydney Dance eisteddfod
- Drama productions with stars Roland Lawrence, Robert Mallett, and Connor Sweeney
- Debating finalists
- Hockey First XI SATIS State premiers and Hockey South premiers and successful tour to New Zealand
- Music tour to Brisbane and success in the Clarence and Hobart music eisteddfods
- Rowing numerous victories – far too many to mention HOR winners in opens and under 16. Most successful Rowing season in years
- Rugby U16 and U18 state finalists
- Sailing success at the Interdominion Sailing beating New Zealand
- Soccer First XI SATIS state shared premiers
- Soccer Second XI SATIS state finalists
- Sport Shooting state Invitational winners
- Swimming Aggregate Boys shield winners
- Tennis First Team southern premiers SATIS state finalists
- Tennis Seconds southern premiers SATIS state premiers
- Water Polo southern schools premiers

Thanks must go to our coaches, managers and assistants of groups in 2009. We have 123 outside coaches and supporters and without the assistance of these tremendous people our co-curricular programs could not go ahead. The strength and spirit of the co-curricular program at The Hutchins School is our teaching staff. Their dedicated, committed effort to our programs is to be commended.

ATHLETICS

The Athletics season had an unfortunate start with rain causing the cancellation of the Southern Independent Schools Carnival in Hobart. As a result, the team was reduced to just one competitor in each event to represent the School at the State Independent Schools Carnival. Hutchins had a strong team, particularly in the younger age groups, with many talented athletes joining the Hutchins team in Year 7. The State Carnival was held at the Domain Athletics Centre in Hobart with the traditional cold and windy conditions dominating. The School team performed strongly across the board with the senior boys winning the Aggregate Boys Shield and the U13 and U14 Junior boys winning their age-groups. The U15 and U16 boys narrowly lost their age groups and finished second in the running for the Junior Shield.

There were many outstanding performances from members of all ages in the team. In particular, Huw Peacock in the throwing events, Max Waldron in the U16 100m and 200m and Marcus Davies who had an impressive win in the Open 400m sprint. The U13 Junior boys relay team (Benjamin Robinson, Thomas Farmer, Rajat Rao, Jesse Usualli) put on a dominant display, winning by a considerable margin.

from members of all ages*

After making it through the southern and state rounds of the Athletics Australia Knockout Competition, the Junior boys team went to Melbourne to represent the State and the School in the Cup final. The team consisted of Max Waldron (100m, 400m, relay), Jarrod Hibberd (100m, shot putt, relay), Hugh Mathys (1500m), Benjamin Robinson (1500m), Callum Mitchell (200m hurdles), Brendan Hay (400m, relay), Max MacMillan (long jump, javelin, relay), Claude Alcorso (javelin, shot putt) and Edward Burrows-Cheng (200m hurdles, long jump). All members of the team performed at a consistently high level throughout the competition, finishing second to a very strong Ipswich team.

Special thanks to Mr Conacher and Mr Finch for all of their assistance and organisation of School Athletics in 2009.

AUSTRALIAN RULES FOOTBALL

Hutchins football experienced great achievement this year with both First and Second XVIII's coming away with state premierships. This has not been achieved at Hutchins since 2000, the last time a Hutchins second's team was fielded in the competition.

The First XVIII had a very successful season initially under the direction of Mr Chris Rae until he had to step down due to illness and Mr Adrian Finch took over. Training started early in the year with the team wanting to have the best chance it could of winning a premiership. This meant that the side became a close knit group with great team spirit.

The squad was full of many second and third year players which meant there was a lot of leadership not only on the field but also off the field. The example these players set was instrumental in the team's success; when there was a problem on the field there were enough leaders out there to fix it. The talent in the team was highlighted by the six Tasmanian U18 players it contained and was one of the strongest school football teams assembled in many years.

It has been nine years since a Second XVIII had been established at Hutchins and to come away with dual premierships is a huge accomplishment. The Seconds were under the direction of Mr Josh Hanek who was also in his first year at the School.

The season got off to a cracking start with a solid win against our main rivals St Patrick's College ... on their home ground. This gave the boys confidence and set the foundations for a strong premiership campaign. The season continued in this fashion with the team completing the roster season undefeated with all matches being won by comfortable margins.

and the Firsts came out firing

On 15 August both the Firsts and Seconds travelled to St Patrick's College to contest the state final. The day started with the Seconds blowing away St Pats. This set the standard for the day and the Firsts came out firing. The match was closely contested with the boys staying disciplined and determined all game. With only minutes remaining the scores were level when two quick clearances from Hutchins both led to goals and sealed the win.

The season got off to a cracking start with a solid win against our main rivals

This success could not have been achieved without the support provided by: First Manager – Gerry Clark, First Runner – Michael Conacher, Second Manager – Craig Bishop, Second Runner- John Devine, Second XVIII Coach – Josh Hanek and First XVIII Coach – Adrian Finch. Many thanks must also go to Mr Rae for his contributions to the team throughout the year.

BASKETBALL

First Basketball

Basketball in 2009 has seen much success throughout the age divisions with commitment, discipline and enthusiasm being shown by all players.

Although the open division had only three entered teams, both Guilford Young and The Friends' School offered great competition, with our Firsts team having to work to the best of their abilities to win some close games. Hutchins ended up winning the Southern SATIS Trophy over a strong GYC team.

At the end of Term 1 the First team had qualified to compete in the state championships held in Moonah in October. Due to injuries, three of our players were unable to play in the state championships, however, the team put in a great effort with our younger players readily adapting to the changed pace of the game and we were able to finish 5th out of the 13 places.

2009 was the first year a SATIS state final was held. Hutchins played St Patricks College for in inaugural shield. The game was very heated with both teams striving to win the match. It was a tough encounter for three quarters with the boys in front but not able to pull away from a gritty SPC team. However a 26-4 final quarter proved too good for SPC; we had secured the state final trophy, winning by 30 points.

Special thanks go to Mr Wayne Brown who coached us throughout the season, Co-coach Jack Leader, and to Mrs

Malarski for all her administration and tremendous support. Also I would like to thank the parents whose continual commitment and support have helped make Basketball in 2009 successful.

Robinson Vignes Captain of Basketball

Year 10 Basketball

Year 10 Basketball this year continued to improve playing well in both SSATIS competitions. In Term 1 the Hutchins Black team went down to a very strong SVC team. The Kingborough tournament team this year was a strong combination of Year 10s including George Gavalas, Rory Middleton, Francis Pascal and George Dargarville, coached by Mr Fishburn. The team had excellent wins in the pool rounds and came up against The Friends' School in the semi final, narrowly going down by 8 points.

Many of the boys will look forward to moving into the Firsts in 2010. A great deal of thanks must go to Mr Fishburn, Mr Brown and Mrs Malarski for their continuous work both coaching and administrating Basketball at Hutchins.

Year 9

Year 9 Basketball this year was filled with ups and downs. The first term was not as successful as we would have hoped, with a couple of close losses to finish the roster. However, the boys handled themselves well and played their best game in the grand final, losing narrowly to St Virgil's College.

The second half of the season was much more successful, with Jhobin Aflatooni returning to the side after playing with the Firsts in Term 1. Each boy improved considerably and by the end of the year the team was able to play much better Basketball.

Consistent performances throughout the year came from Matthew Respondek, Michael Manthey, and Georgiy Margvelashvili, but all boys contributed good efforts. Thanks must go to Mrs Malarski and Mr Brown for their ongoing support and also James McMahon for co-coaching the team in Term 1.

Ashley Ahokas-King Coach Year 9

Middle School

Basketball was a very popular choice for many Middle School boys in 2009 with over 40 boys contributing throughout the rosters in Terms 1 and 3.

Each individual played a significant role in their respective teams and the attitude on and off the court was outstanding. Some standout performances came from Daniel Larratt, Lochlan Fraser and James Burgess in Year 7 and it was a great effort by the Year 8 team to win the final of the Term 1 roster.

First XI

The season started with a fine win against the Old Boys and Lawrence (Larry) Owen was the destroyer with 6 for 42. We then reclaimed The Boot from Peninsula School with a win by 5 wickets despite rain washing out the second day. Marcus Davies, winner of the David Brammall Medal, bowled fast and accurately to snare 6 for 26. The team then set off to Perth to play matches against Scotch College, Hale School and Christchurch Grammar. Despite missing a few senior players the team performed well managing to win 2 out of the 4 games we played. Dougal Middleton, Vice-captain, Edward Pascoe and Aarron Headley provided the batting highlights in some very poor batting performances; only two scores of over 50 on great batting wickets. New boy Francis Pascal claimed 7 wickets, including a hat trick, in his first game for the School. Skipper Robb Macmillan chipped in well with bat and ball.

Guilford Young College pulled out of the roster leaving us with an eight game roster season. For the second year in a row we went through the season unbeaten, winning many of the games by a substantial margin. This allowed us to host the state final, playing against

Launceston Church Grammar School. We started as overwhelming favourites having defeated Grammar twice. LCGS were sent into bat and dismissed for 179. Joseph Carroll was the destroyer with 5 for 16. Our batting was brittle; too many batsmen simply got themselves out playing poor shots, all out for 139 despite a stubborn 34 not out from Aarron Headley. Rain was threatening as LCGS went in to bat again and were skittled for 79, Robb Macmillan claiming 5 for 25 and Marcus Davies 3 for 19. We had the relatively simple task of scoring 120 runs to win in about 35 overs. An opening stand of 42 put us in the driving seat. Once again our lack of application and willingness to build an innings saw us collapse – all out for 74. Matthew Clark 33 and Aarron Headley provided the only real resistance. Full marks to Zac Whelan (LCGS) and his team for never giving up; they deserved their victory in two days of gripping cricket.

The individual highlight of the season was the all round performance of Joseph Carroll. He topped the batting averages, 322 runs, including 108 not out against SOC, at 46 per innings, the bowling averages 26 wickets at 8.7 and also won the Richardson Award.

Other top performances came from Robb Macmillan with 23 wickets at 12.3 and Samuel Allender 88 against SOC.

CYCLING

The Hutchins Cycling squad has had another successful year of development, enabling Hutchins students to refine their skills and fitness in mountain biking and road cycling.

Throughout the year, the squad has trained hard and competed in a variety of events with all riders displaying skill, passion and determination. The training and competitive aspects of the squad were complemented in 2009 by a community service role, with members volunteering their free time to assist in a range of community-focused activities.

Early in the year, Ross Giblin, Henry West, and Matthew Sansom undertook the task of helping the Hobart Wheelers in the construction of a new state-of-the-art bike park in Clarence. Wielding their mattocks and spades, the boys helped construct sections of the cross country track under an intense, blazing sun. In addition, Ross Giblin coached novice down hill riders at the Lea Scout Camp, commenting that '...learning through example is one of the best ways to become more confident on the bike'. The novice riders were vocal in their appreciation of the support.

The talents of squad member Henry West have continued to emerge as he has competed in a variety of national road cycling events throughout the season. Henry won a hilly and rain-soaked stage of the multi-day Mersey Valley Junior Tour, eventually placing 2nd in the U17 division. This proved to be an indicator of things to come. During the Junior National Road Titles in Canberra, Henry placed 15th in the individual time trial, less than a minute away from the win from a field of 80 entrants. Henry later remarked: 'It was a tough race. The wind and heat played a real part in determining the outcome. The NSW boys had the advantage knowing the course and the conditions.' Riding in A grade, West continues to earn top three positions in local road races, including the fearsome 'Hell of the South' where he placed 2nd. Henry is part of the National Talent Identification and Development squad.

The Hutchins School was also represented at the Kellevie 24-hour mountain bike event. Riding in the schools division, Jack Pitt, Matthew Sansom, Harrison Hughes, and Henry West competed against hundreds of other riders over a technically demanding course that became more challenging as daylight was gradually replaced with the pale illumination of the moon. While they found the conditions challenging, they emerged from the event satisfied that they had learned a great deal about what the body is capable of when it is really pushed! The boys eventually finished 2nd in their division to a team that included the Junior National XC Champion.

Overall, the Hutchins Cycling squad has had a great year, laying the foundations for a successful 2010 campaign. Well done lads!

BADMINTON

Badminton in 2009 was very successful. After entering eight teams across Years 7 to 12, we ended with seven of these teams in their respective grand finals.

The First team won three and narrowly lost three. This placed us in first place on the ladder, finishing as minor premiers. Unfortunately, in the grand final the First team lost to The Friends' School.

The Seconds finished the season in third place. They then fought their way into the grand final where they met The Friends' School and lost by only two aces.

Our Year 10 team also had a hard fought year. They finished the season on top of the ladder and unfortunately lost the grand final to a strong Sacred Heart team.

The Year 9 team was another story. They finished in third place on the ladder and then fought their way to the grand final, where they overcame Sacred Heart.

There were two teams in the Year 8 roster. Both teams had a strong year but unfortunately due to sickness and school camps, both teams were forced to forfeit at some stage in the season. Consequently, the two teams played each other in the elimination final. Hutchins 1 won that game and proceeded to the grand final where they played Rosetta, and won quite convincingly.

We also entered two Year 7 teams. Hutchins 1 went through the entire season undefeated and Hutchins 2 went through the season only losing to Hutchins 1. In a very close grand final, Hutchins 2 won by six aces.

At the end of the Badminton season we had three teams placed first, four placed second and one placed third. I would like to personally thank Ms Schafferius for all her work as the Teacher in Charge, all of the coaches for their efforts throughout the season and all of the students for their performance throughout the year.

After all the hard work of the boys and staff, Hutchins won the Ampol Cup which is awarded to the Most Successful School. This is the second time in four years we have won it and the second time in its 44 year history.

ORIENTEERING

Orienteering, alternatively known as 'the sport for the thinking runner', was once again well attended by Hutchins boys, and participants were rewarded with the usual cardiovascular and intellectual benefits, but also competitive success on a number of levels. Orienteering is, of course, a sporting event requiring the participant to traverse a marked course on a map in the shortest possible time. The sport is therefore a test of map reading and navigational skills, athleticism and physical endurance, and being able to think quickly to choose the quickest route between two marked points. Locations for events this year were scattered all over the greater Hobart region, and participants were a diverse mix of seasoned orienteers, and first time competitors.

Highlight performances were from Timothy McQueen, winning his age division of the Southern All Schools Championships at Risdon Brook Dam in March, and George Williams, winning his division of the Tasmanian Schools Championships at Austins Ferry in April. Many thanks must go to Bert Elson and Jess Fuller-Smith who provided invaluable support and coaching on a regular basis, passing on their significant enthusiasm and knowledge for the sport to our boys.

CROSS COUNTRY

The Hutchins Cross Country team had a very successful year, and competed in two events. The first run was the Tasmanian All Schools Championships, held at Symmons Plains. We had an early start to the morning, and the conditions were tough by the time we got there. The track was soaked after heavy rain, but the boys coped well with the undesirable conditions.

Standout performances were from James McMahon, Hugh Mathys, Benjamin Robinson, Brendan Hay, Henry West, Charles Haward, Robb Macmillan and Harrison Hughes.

The Under 13 and 15 teams also did well in taking out second in the teams placing, and the Open team came third.

The run at Symmons Plains, coupled with many hours of training from the team, set us up well for the main run of the season, the SSATIS Cross Country at Rokeby Police Academy. There were many strong runs on the day; overall the team was very successful, winning the Aggregate Boys Shield and the Junior Boys Shield. Winning the Junior Boys Shield was a particularly good effort, as we had not won it since 1999.

Standout performers were Benjamin Robinson, Brendan Hay, Hugh Mathys, Henry West, Charles Howard, James McMahon and Robb Macmillan.

Thanks must go to Mr Conacher, Mr Prior and Mr Brown for their organisation and support.

HOCKEY

The Hutchins First XI Hockey team had great success this year, within the state and overseas. During the regular season the team was very successful under the watchful eyes of Mr McLeod, Mr Addison and the water boy/manager, Cameron Willis. We had an undefeated season in games against Rosny and Friends, taking out the Southern Independent Premiership. This took us to Launceston to play St Patrick's College in the state final. From the beginning we dominated the match, taking an 8-0 lead at half time. Things didn't stop there as we piled on more goals, finishing the game at 16-1. All of the boys contributed with multiple goal scores.

The following weekend we played Friends for the Southern All Schools trophy, the pinnacle for school boys' Hockey in Tasmania. After a shaky start, trailing 1-0 early into the half, the boys composed themselves, with Dylan Sault scoring our first goal off a penalty corner to level the match. From that point we commanded the game, and finished at 4-1.

The Hutchins side this year also had many state U21, U18 and U16 players. These included Dougal Middleton, Angus Boulton, Dylan Sault, Vaughn Bowen, Rory Middleton, James Thomas, Charles Haward and Jackson Willows.

New Zealand Hockey Tour

On 16 July, seventeen Hockey players, accompanied by Mr Brown, Mr Addison and Mr McLeod, embarked on a ten-day tour of New Zealand. It was an experience that we will all remember for a lifetime. School Hockey in New Zealand is very strong, with most students playing for their schools in men's club competitions. It is a great experience to play against New Zealand schools, with every team extremely competitive and absolutely determined not to let an Australian team beat them. Fortunately we were able to win four out of our five games, with every one of our victories a hard-fought game that brought the best out in all our players.

We began our tour on the South Island with a 6-2 victory over Christ's College, Christchurch. Our second game was against Christchurch Boys' High School which is rated fifth best Hockey school in the country. We had a 2-1 loss to them and while we were proud of our commitment we were disappointed that our poor finishing meant we could not manage at least a draw.

On the north island we scored a 3-2 victory over Wanganui High School and a 5-0 win against Wanganui Collegiate School.

Our final game of the tour was against Palmerston North Boys' High School which is rated one of the top three Hockey schools in the country. It was our fourth game in four days, our final game of the tour, against our strongest opposition. We treated it like a grand final. They took it seriously too. They began the game with a haka. Watching this up close was at the same time very exciting and remarkably intimidating. To conclude the haka, the captain fixed his gaze on us, walked forward, pulled back the head of one of his players and mimed slashing his throat. Yes, we knew then that we had a game on our hands. It must be a great way to rev up before a game. It is also a good way to rev up your opposition because after 25 minutes we were 4-0 up. We had played some of the best hockey a Hutchins team has ever played. They came back at us hard; we slugged it out for the remaining 45 minutes and ended up winning 4-2. It was a great way to finish the hockey-playing part of our tour.

The tour was not all about hockey as the boys were able to see many sights of New Zealand, taking in the host schools, and being billeted with a number of families. A few also experienced boarding life New Zealand-style. We visited some impressive cities, plus Hanmer Springs where we swam in pools naturally-heated up to 40 degrees on a 7 degree day. We also visited well known places such as Lyttleton Harbour, Kaikoura, Picton, Queen Charlotte Sound, Mokai, Gravity Canyon, and Wellington.

A few thrill-seeking highlights at Gravity Canyon included a 1.5km flying fox through Gravity Canyon, reaching speeds up to 160km. A few of the boys also went on a swing which involved a terrifying 80m drop before it started swinging.

It was an experience that we will all remember for a lifetime

The boys also enjoyed the opportunity to mix with the local people and eat the local and traditional food that was prepared for them. Mr Brown's brother-in-law had shot a wild pig and a few deer a week earlier and we were treated to an enormous feast, including venison, bacon boil up, wild pig, steak, chicken, sausages, vegetables and salads. The boys kept going back for more with the wild boar a highlight!

The Hutchins (Black) Seconds Hockey team had a tough year this year, often playing well short of a full squad due to the winter flu epidemic. Despite this, the boys who could play did so with spirit and a 'never say die' attitude. When playing with a full squad, the team was very competitive, achieving good wins against Hobart College, Elizabeth College and having a very tight tussle against Hutchins Magenta. Consistent performances were put in by Ross Giblin, William Mollross, Michael Healy and, Kiwi recruit, Nathan McMillan.

Hutchins Thirds Hockey team had a successful year. Although the team did not manage to reach the finals, they had a very good season. There were complications with player unavailability due to state competitions and tours, but the boys handled this well. Notable performances came from Jackson Willows, Sam Hunnibell, Samuel Keating and Isaac Woo. Of note were the younger boys who filled in for players while they were away, especially Henry Forbes-Smith who played well in his limited number of games.

The Hutchins 4 team made up of mostly Year 8s with some Year 9s, often played against Year 10 players. They qualified narrowly on goal difference as top team for the grand final with just one narrow roster defeat and the stage was set for an epic match against McKillop. Hutchins opened strongly and was rewarded with a brilliant goal from Shaun McMillan following a great team move. Their opponents fought back to level before half time, then edged ahead in the closely fought match. A powerful finish by Hutchins earned a classic winger's goal close in from William White, the 2-2 result was enough to claim the premiership in an outstanding team performance.

The fifth Hutchins team, an all Year 7 team, was coached by Ryan Carstens. They came up against tough opposition during the roster and struggled for wins. Improvements were evident from all players over a season in which Mitchell Haines and Jackson Turner lead the way. Tobias McShane and William Colbert shared the tough goalkeeping role, performing admirably, while Lochlan Fraser emerged as a major attacking threat.

Schoolboys Hockey has struggled to survive many competing influences and it has been great to see the sport still flourishing at Hutchins.

ROWING

Hutchins Rowing has had a very successful 2008/2009 season. Rowers from the Boat Club have competed in state pennants and championships, national championships and a range of school boy regattas.

Under 13s

The enthusiasm from the U13s this season was outstanding. Although it was their first year in the sport they proved they were fast learners as was evident when watching their performances in the singles sculls. They finished off their season in spectacular fashion by winning their Division 1 Quad Scull race at the Head of the River regatta. Overall the U13s had a very successful season and were a hit with the older age groups.

Under 14s

Most of the U14s returned from last year to further improve their skills, with more numbers joining as the year went on, and it was clear that Hutchins was in for another great season. The boys were dominant in all boat classes, capping off a successful season by winning the Quad race at the Head of the River. The U14s look set to be a very strong U15 squad next year.

Under 15s

The U15 age group was a smaller group this year, but nonetheless very competitive. The U15s had their first taste of pennant regattas and 2000m races with strong performances by all. The school season was very successful with all crews making the finals at the Tasmanian Schools Championships. The season was capped off with a good win at the Head of the River regatta.

Under 16s

The U16s had the largest age group this year and were clear standouts in their age group throughout the season in all classes of boat. With enough boys for two U16 eights there was fierce competition within the group. In every U16 eights race they rowed, including the Head of the River, the U16s finished first or second. The boys had their first experience rowing at national level in the Australian Championships held at Lake Barrington, narrowly missing out on claiming a medal in the U17 eights event.

Open Squad

The open squad had a large task ahead of them this year. With an almost brand new crew from last season, the boys had a lot to learn, but due to determination, commitment and improvement from all, they showed that they were a force to be reckoned with. St Patricks College were strong competition all season, but in a tense and nail biting race the First VIII again brought home the coveted Head of the River Trophy by 2/3 of a length. In the last regatta of the season, we won the All Schools race by almost three lengths.

A testament to the great performances by all rowers was winning the Junior and Senior Aggregate Trophies at both the Head of the River and the All Schools Championships. In total, across age groups, Hutchins won 22 trophies this season.

The Hutchins Rowing season was made all the more enjoyable with the huge support from the parents, coaches and the School. Incredible support from the Mure family was greatly appreciated as were the fine efforts of the parents operating the chip van at the Nationals.

Hutchins Rowing is clearly in a strong position with each age group winning their big boat category at the Head of the River regatta. I look forward to seeing Hutchins Rowing continue their strength in competition in the years to come.

The boy sat on the hard wooden bench, the sick feeling welling up in his chest. The sound of rain pounding the tin roof of the change rooms a constant reminder of what was about to unfold. His team mates milling about him, some vocal, some stretching, others deep in their own thoughts but each with the same dread and nerves for the upcoming game.

The coach barks at them to get out and start warming up. The boy gets to his feet and moves out with his friends. The freezing rain hits him like a horizontal waterfall, instantly numbing his senses forcing him to squint through slits. As he runs he takes short breaths in the cold. The captain decides to start with sit-ups, the boy shivers as the icy cold mud starts seeping through the number 15 on his jumper. 6 ... 7 ... 8 ... 9 the teams' voice dulled by the rain in the air as they did sit-ups. The boy concentrates on the snow on the mountain, barely noticing his own voice in the air. He lay back and closed his eyes; the sound of the squish and suck of a latecomer's boots running near him in his ears.

He was cold, terribly, terribly cold. His hands felt like the fingers were cut off and he was catching the ball with stumps as they continued the warm up. Still, nerves drilled a hole in his heart, his concentration; vision and ability seem overwhelmed by it. After what seemed like an eternity the referee blows the whistle ready to start the game. The teams set up, opposition to kick. The boy, standing centre field on the 22, can barely breathe due to the compounded effect of cold, rain, wind and nerves. His heart feels like it is pounding at 300 beats per minute. The whistle blows. The kick is up! As if in slow motion it sails up, arching over the inside backs towards the boy. He looks up, blinded by the rain, and sets himself up for the ball and ... He looks in his arms amazed and stunned that the ball is there. Then with the sudden realisation of what was about to happen, takes off! Well, that's what he has planned, although his legs feel like lead. He looks up at the swarm of black jumpers thundering down on him; he searches for a gap and then, with a mammoth effort, accelerates to meet his opponents. Driving through the first tackle his nerves instantly gone, he pumps his legs to dominate his opposition, but there are too many. Someone hits him from behind and he gets driven into the cold, icy mud, face first. Taking the contact he maintains the ball and reaches back for a long place while the thud of bodies above him battle the ruck. They slip, driving him further into the mud, getting some in his eye.

I think that any of us who have played and have been a spectator in Rugby in Tasmania can relate to this story. Dedication and love for the game has to be present to operate in these conditions. While other sports did not manage to have their full quota for games this year, Rugby did, playing in whatever conditions. In fact what I enjoy about the game is the fact it will be played in any weather – cancellation only happens with the real possibility of drowning on the field! Surprisingly the wet can make the game more interesting, slowing down backs, making a real muscle game for the forwards. I am sure Peer Cronze will forever remember his hat trick of tries in the semi-final against Glenorchy, one of which he slid for 10 metres to score.

The dedication of our boys and supporters this year in uncomfortable conditions really highlights outstanding Hutchins spirit and deserves congratulations and thanks, especially in the light of dwindling numbers state-wide in Rugby. We numbered down or more often donated players to the opposition. It even reached the point where boys would play a full game with us and stay behind in the rain to play for another team that was struggling for numbers. The boys who played against us played with vigour and determination that gained the respect of many of our opposition. I received many emails of how impressed people were with the boys' manner and goodwill. This together with the fact that we were the only club to have two teams in the finals was outstanding. We lost the finals but the excellent way we played them will be remembered for a long time. To quote the good Reverend 'It is better to have lost well than to win badly.' The boys can take a lot away from those games. We can be proud of our Hutchins men.

Captains' Reports

U18

For the First XV the 2009 season came across as one of mixed success. Before the season had begun even the Hutchins Rugby team boasted a prominent line-up with players showcasing a variety of individual talents and attributes. After a strong opening game against Taroona the team went on to secure the top place on the ladder and managed to maintain first position for some length of the season. Yet there remained teams we could not beat. This was not to our detriment however for we secured first place in the grand final against Devonport which we lost in what was a close yet heartbreaking end to the season. Such an outstanding season would not have been possible without the coaching and mentoring of Reverend Matthew Gray and assistant coaching of Trent Henderson. Thanks also to Mr Smith for his guidance and management.

U16

This year Hutchins U16 Rugby had many successes and few failures. We were a well-rounded team having a lightning fast back line headed fly half George Dargaville and our forward pack controlled by Jack McGrath and myself. The squad was full of great boys who bonded throughout the year and melded well to make a fully functional, determined, aggressive and probably most important, contenders for the premiership.

We made the most of our first game beating a very well-drilled Taroona Blues team 36-7. Our form continued into the next week taking out the Devonport Bulls 57-5, although we then lost our first match of the season to the Eastern Suburbs. During the last few games of the regular season we had our first game against Glenorchy. We won this game and all of the rest for the season where we ended in second place.

In our first finals game we lost to Easts and we had to face Glenorchy the next weekend, winning 25-10.

We then had to play the Eastern Suburbs in the grand final, going down 10-7.

I would like to thank Mr Smith for coaching and managing us, Luke Wilson and Dominic Andrews for coaching our forwards and backs, Mr Wilson for coming in and helping. I would also like to give a special thanks to our supporters throughout the year. You made the season much more enjoyable; and finally thanks to all the boys for playing this wonderful game.

Edward Spooner-Johnson

SAILING

Hutchins improved even further on its stellar performance of 2008 as the premier sailing school in Australia during 2009. We are now proud to be the home of the best school team in Australia and New Zealand.

At local level, our school's depth was demonstrated by our A Division teams finishing 2nd, 4th and 5th in the weekly team racing roster.

In April, three Hutchins teams competed in the Schools Yardstick Regatta/Tasmanian Youth Championships at Tamar Yacht Club with Hutchins again winning the overall shield for top school. The winning team comprised our quality Laser Radial sailors Rohan Langford, Elliott Noye and Christopher Jones. Christopher was also the highest-ranked Laser, while Alec Bailey and Charles Connor were the top Cadet crew.

Later in April Hutchins were back on the water competing in the Tasmanian Schools Team Sailing Championships. In a remarkable display of the depth of talent at our school Hutchins finished first and second against quality opposition.

Our performance qualified the School to represent Tasmania at the Australian Schools Team Racing Championship, sailed out of Royal Queensland Yacht Squadron on Moreton Bay in July for which the following team was selected: Elliott Noye (captain), Rohan Langford, George Jones, Thomas Kennedy, Lewis Noye, Nelson Brown and Luke Phillips.

The team's performance at the nationals was nothing short of superb. The Swiss League schedule used for this regatta meant that the top ranking teams consistently sailed against each other. Every race was like a final and there were no easy races. In mainly medium-strength breezes, our boys showed great composure to win 17 from 20 races, four races more than our nearest competition.

Hutchins were then joined by St Joseph's College from South Australia and Anglican Church Grammar School from Brisbane representing Australia in the Interdominion Schools Team Sailing Championship where we sailed against the top three New Zealand schools – Tauranga Boys College, Mahurangi College and St Kentigern College.

This regatta has two components: winning school and winning country.

An Australian school had not won the event for 13 years although we had managed to be winning country when Hutchins represented Australia in Hobart in 2007.

From day one, our boys demonstrated they were the team to beat. In 35 races, we only lost on six occasions which left us four races clear of our arch-rivals, Tauranga Boys College.

The weather varied from very light to over 20 knots. It didn't seem to make too much difference to our team, although we did lose a couple of heavy weather races mainly due to our confident boat handling which was perceived by the umpires as being too risky in the conditions.

The boys were not fazed by calls which went against them and it was that discipline and ability to move on which was a telling factor as the regatta progressed and other teams became a little ragged.

As a coach, I have been lucky to have boys who are not just talented, but so focussed and committed to a team plan. The three helms of this year's team have now won three consecutive national championships and now the Interdominion. Next year we lose at least two of those helms and the challenge will be to rebuild.

SAILING

A satisfying moment for me at the end of this year's Interdominion was when two of our forward hands, Thomas Kennedy and Lewis Noye, took the helm for the last race. Despite poor starts, they were able to fight back and clinch a win in a text book display of team sailing.

Other outstanding performances in sailing events outside the School by our boys this year include: Lewis Noye and Oliver Burnell 1st Australian Cadet Championships, Alec Bailey 2nd Australian Cadet Championships and Australian Team Captain for 2009 World Cadet Championships, Christopher Jones 1st Tasmanian Laser Radial Championships, 1st Queensland Mid-Winter Youth Championships, 13th World Laser Radial Youth Championships, Elliott Noye 42nd World Laser Radial Youth Championships, Rohan Langford 60th World Laser Radial Youth Championships, Zac Pullen 4th Australian Laser 4.7 Championships.

The Sailing team have once again enjoyed great support from the Hutchins Sailing Support Group, led by Garry Langford and Neil Noye. Thank you to the School for supporting Sailing, and to the many members of the extended Hutchins community who have supported our car washes and our quiz night.

SOCCER

The 2009 season proved to be the worst in recent years. The culprit was the weather with games cancelled regularly.

It was a disappointing end to the season as after a review of the 2008 season the ambitious decision to enter all teams from Year 7-10 in the midweek SATIS competition and the Saturday morning FFT competitions was made.

There were however some noteworthy achievements. The First XI shared the state premiership with The Friends' School after a series of postponements meant the final could not be played. The Second Black XI qualified for the state final against Launceston Church Grammar School but was defeated by a stronger team. The U14 Black team won the SATIS competition in an enthralling game against Dominic College. Trailing 2-0 at half time they rallied to win 4-2.

The 2010 season is a matter of months away and regardless of the way the sport is structured in school it cannot be any worse than 2009 ... surely?!

Finally, the season would have not taken place were it not for the willing band of volunteers that make up the coaching team.

This year proved to be more testing than most and their resilience and enthusiasm were severely tested. We salute and thank you.

Ivor Leonard

Hutchins First XI

The Hutchins First XI Soccer team started off the season hosting St Pats at home. Our newly formed team got off to a bad start conceding two early goals. However throughout the second half the team started to mould together and scored two late goals to secure a draw.

We then played league favourites Friends' as the underdog. The boys pulled together nicely and we managed to score late in the game to cause the upset win.

After mixed success during the middle of the season the team made third on the ladder securing a semi-final spot. The team now faced rivals St Pats and we finished with a 3-2 win.

SOCCER

This effort put us in the final against Friends' but the game was washed out several times and we could not play for the premiership.

Thanks must go to Mr Seb Milford for his dedicated coaching, Head of Soccer Mr Ivor Leonard and Director of Sport Mr Wayne Brown.

John Wilson
Captain of Soccer

Hutchins Second XI Black

The Hutchins Second XI Black team started the season extremely well with some early crushing wins, firstly over the Hutchins Magenta team and then over one of The Friends' School sides.

Unfortunately we had several washed out matches and finished out the SSATIS roster with some mixed results in our last few matches.

Despite this we still made it to the southern final and went on to play Launceston Church Grammar School in the state final, but lost 4-1.

Thanks must go to the whole team for putting in such great commitment throughout the season and especially to our coach, Mr Apted, who was constantly pushing us. Without him we could never have hoped to achieve the success we did.

Alexander Murphy

U16

There were two U16 teams this year: Hutchins Magenta (2nd team) and Hutchins Black (1st team). Many players were switched between teams throughout the season. Both teams played in two different leagues which were SSATIS on Wednesdays and FFT. Hutchins Black were quite successful in the SSATIS league winning it with Dominic. Unfortunately, due to illness and bad weather many of the games scheduled could not be played. We had three brilliant international players in the two teams – David Hilmer, Utkarsh Gupta and Nikhil Narain.

We would like to thank our coaches, Jim Patiniotis and Justin Carr for all they have done this season. Also, a big thanks to Hakiran Narulla for coaching during part of the season. We would also like to thank all the staff and parents who volunteered as linesmen and supported the team.

Daniel Carr and Constantine Patiniotis

U15 Black

The U15 Black team had a year of great challenges, victories and some unfortunate defeats. Over the year we improved and got our first win against Clarence United 3-1.

One of the highlights of the season, Joshua Symonds lashed a free kick from 30m in the rain (surprising!) straight onto the head of Jack McMeniman and into the back of the net, unofficially the goal of the season.

On behalf of the coaches I would like to thank the whole team and especially congratulate Rueben Hore-Waterhouse and Joshua Symonds on great performances over the year. Thank you to our two coaches, Robert Beadle and Jim Tsiakis. With their dedication and commitment we improved our skills over the season and they were a source of great encouragement from the touchline.

Tom Beadle

U15 Magenta

Hutchins Magenta put all they had into training and their games. We had many hard won games, thanks to our forwards Oliver Geale, Jacob Harris and Ethan Gray who kept the 'Goals For' column looking healthy.

Goal keeper, Timothy McKay made many saves and made a tight contest out of many fixtures. His work was lessened by the defence of Nicholas McVilly, Liam Palmer, Thomas Johnston, Samuel Crofts and Peter Humphrey.

Of course none of this would have been possible without the efforts of our coaches Stuart Harris and Hume Moase. They gave up a great deal of time and we all appreciated their efforts.

Peter Humphrey

U14 Black

U14 Black had an impressive season winning all games with the exception of one. The team also participated in the SSATIS competition.

In the FFT competition some of our best performances were against Kingborough – the highlight being a 16-2 victory. Another notable game was against Clarence at Cambridge which we won 5–1. We were contenders for the division title but as the competition was unfinished, no title was awarded.

Brendan Fahey sliding in

John Wilson in action

Second XI Black – state finalists

We only played four games in the SATIS tournament. The outstanding result was against Hutchins Magenta which we won 16–2. In the grand final we defeated Dominic and with a full team, we rolled over them to win the SSATIS premiership 4–2.

Thanks must go to Darren Jarvis for his coaching skills throughout the season. We realise it wasn't the easiest season to coach and would like to recognise his efforts.

Edward Burrows-Cheng

U13 Black

This year Hutchins Black had a quite successful season. Our team was coached by Alex Quinn, assisted by David Bessell. We played in FFT Div 2 and the SSATIS competition.

On Saturdays we had moderate success, winning three games in this roster.

In the SSATIS competition we had a great season, winning all but one of our matches, including a 5–0 grand final victory over one of the St Virgil's teams.

Finally it is important to thank our coaches Alexander and David Bessell. Well done to all our players for putting in wonderful performances and the dedicated parents for supporting our team and helping the players get to their games.

Alex Bessell

U13 Magenta

U13 Magenta participated in both the SSATIS and FFT. Thanks to the excellent coaching of Brett Mackay, the team developed several new skills and improved dramatically.

Unfortunately, many of our games were cancelled and many members suffered colds and other sickness; we were almost always struggling to field a team.

Fortunately, all players were able to attend the final few matches which resulted in some of our best results of the season. All in all, it was a fantastic season with all players performing to the best of their ability.

Andrew McKay

SPORT SHOOTING

We have had a great year with Sport Shooting, this year introducing our very own competition, The Hutchins Invitational which will run every second year in conjunction with the Launceston Church Grammar School. Co-Captains this year were Thomas Clark-Hansen and Thomas Jenkins.

Thomas Jenkins put together a wonderful report for our final gathering this year at Currawong Lakes. Here are highlights of his report:

... 'This year the number of boys shooting has perhaps come down from previous years, but we have certainly made up this fact with very positive results from our competitions.

Our first main event was the inaugural Hutchins Invitational between Hutchins and Launceston Grammar School. We started with skeet and trap at Hobart and then moved to the Derwent Valley Gun Club for the Sporting Clays. Hutchins ended up winning the day .

Aarron Headley and Anton Roberts drew overall in the down the line section and shot 77 birds in a shoot out. Anton Roberts ended ahead at the end. High gun for the day was Thomas Jenkins.

This event was a very successful one, and one aspect of it was the catering which was so well done by our parents.

The other major school event was the State Schools Championship at Evandale. Hutchins was the winner on the day by 9 targets with some very good shooting. Aarron Headley ended up in three shoot outs after an exceptional day.

Another very good effort came from Ryan McMann who ended up in the D Grade Skeet shootout – an outstanding effort.

On the following weekend Thomas King, Christopher Jenkins and Thomas Jenkins travelled to Evandale to compete in the State Skeet Carnival. There were shooters from all around Australia and, considering the weather conditions, a high standard of shooting was attained. A Junior State Skeet Shooting team was announced and Christopher Jenkins, Thomas King and Thomas Jenkins were announced as part of the team. We will be taking part in the Australian Skeet Shooting Championships in April/May next year at Wagga Wagga.

In the final major shooting event Hutchins brought the Director of Coaching of the Australian Clay Target Association, Mr Graeme Boyd, to Tasmania for a weekend training workshop at the Hobart Gun Club to help us improve our shooting.

I would like to thank Mr Moore for his organisation and co-ordination; we thank him very much for the time and effort he has put in this year. Mr Ray Williams, we appreciate greatly the time and effort you continually put into our shooting practices and competitions. Stuart Headley, thank you for the time you put into organising much of the behind the scenes things that need to be done.

As you all know, the sport of clay target shooting is quite an involved one, what with having to have licensed adults responsible for the guns and ammunition and there are also the safety issues to be considered. To this end I would like to thank, on all the boys' behalf, our parents.

I think we all appreciate the time and the cost involved in our sport and I would like to recognise the support from all of our parents in this regard. We can all consider ourselves very fortunate to have such a great support network of parents who are willing to lend a hand.'

SURFING

This season has had its triumphs and challenges. Possibly the greatest challenge has been for our First team, who made a dramatic transition from Junior Surfing into the Open Men's Division. This was both a challenge and an opportunity for the team at the first competition of the season at Marrawah. With only three Juniors and a majority of Open surfers, we hit Lighthouse Beach early on Saturday March 7. The conditions were daunting with onshore winds and a solid three metre plus swell. With some solid closeout sets, the competition started with the Open Men. Faced with the challenging conditions, everyone was given the opportunity to sit out Round 1. After a team meeting, all decided to take on the conditions. It was great to see the determination of the whole team to encourage each other and take on the situation. Everyone caught waves, posted scores and proved themselves in some challenging surf. It was a day that saw many other good surfers go waveless and have to surf through the repechage rounds.

During the state round, the team travelled to Bruny Island, Marrawah and Scamander to compete. This was the inaugural year for the Bruny Island Junior. A dedicated competition for U18s at one of Tasmania's most consistent surf breaks, Middle Bay, made for an exciting weekend. We were blessed with excellent conditions for the finals on the Sunday. William Polglase surfed well at this competition to boost his state ranking.

Aaron Critchlow surfed extremely well in the All Schools Championship. Competing in the Open College, Division 1, Aaron placed third in the state. His strong result, backed with solid performances by Jack Pitt, David Mulcahy, Henry Williams, Brendan Fahey and Ben Baynes. This competition sees students from all over the state converge on Clifton Beach. Just to progress is often a challenge in itself, with many surfers in Division 2 relegated to the less defined breaks. It was pleasing to see so many of our boys progress to their respective final rounds.

The Junior team will be encouraged to train hard next year, as they will take the place of the older surfers who will leave school this year. Max and Bon Macmillan, Sam Heron, Denver James and our newest recruit, Oscar Wyatt, will have some big boots to fill.

Thanks must go to our coaches, Mr Rob McCammon and Mr Alex Mirowski. Mr Mirowski brings a wealth of experience and expertise to our team after many years as State Training Manager for the Surf Life Saving Association. I also must thank our co-captains, Jack Pitt and Aaron Critchlow. It will be sad to see the Year 12 students move on as many of them have been with the team since Middle School. The ongoing support of the Critchlow family in hosting the team at their beautiful Mount Cameron farm was a highlight of the year. Their generosity and support is very much appreciated.

I hope the team make the most of the summer weather with warm water and good banks all across the south-east; it will be an important time to hone skills in preparation for season 2010. Happy days!

SWIMMING

On Wednesday 11 March at the Southern SATIS Swimming Carnival and Friday 27 March at the state-drawn SATIS meet, the Middle and Senior School boys participated well, and often courageously in their swimming finals at the Aquatic Centre. Hutchins won the Aggregate Boys Trophy at the first carnival and gained two second places and at the state-drawn carnival. Alec Guerzoni broke the U14 50m Breastroke event in the first carnival, having several winning races in all strokes in both events. Captain Nicholas Cannell also had outstanding swims in both events and congratulations must go to him for leading and coaching the team of over thirty SATIS competitors. In addition to the SATIS carnival preparations, Nicholas has tirelessly coached the Term 1 and Term 3 summer sports elective group of swimmers in their after school swimming seasons over two years, helping the boys get significant stroke improvements in their training as well as enjoy the sessions.

Many of the SATIS carnival swimmers are training all year round, with boys such as Nicholas Cannell and Alec Guerzoni competing in national competitions, such as the Australian Short Course, or Age Championships and Pacific School Games.

Nicholas Cannell was the recipient of the 'W. A. Webster Cup for the Most Improved Swimmer in Senior School' and Alec Guerzoni was the recipient for the 'J. S. Anderson Cup for the Most Improved Swimmer in Middle School.'

Andrew Robinson (IT Dept) assisted with the administration at the carnivals and stroke improvement at the summer swimming program.

TENNIS

The opportunities for students taking Tennis as a sport include skills tuition for beginners with the School Tennis Coach Mr Ray Harrison, an internal Tennis roster in Term 1 and an inter-club twilight pennant in Term 3 for Years 7–10, and the Open SATIS rosters for the Firsts, Seconds and Thirds.

The Open Squad

The Open Squad (comprising all Open First and Open Seconds players) continued this year with hitting practice once a week with Mr Harrison and fitness sessions with Mr Adrian Finch. Both the Firsts and the Seconds Black teams won through to their respective state finals with unbeaten records in their southern rosters.

Firsts

The Hutchins First IV of James Roberts-Thomson, Shaun Thomas, Jack Saffin (Capt), Jack McMeniman and Edward Pascoe were up against another strong Scotch Oakburn team in the state final. Unfortunately, due to a clash with the Cricket state final, Edward Pascoe was unavailable to play in the Tennis final. Edward had teamed superbly with Jack Saffin throughout the southern roster in doubles and his contribution would be missed in the final.

Doubles matches were played first, with the top Hutchins pairing of James Roberts-Thomson and Shaun Thomas winning a high standard match 7-5, 6-3. Scotch Oakburn was too strong in the second doubles defeating Jack Saffin and Jack McMeniman 2-6, 1-6.

In the singles matches there was some power hitting in all matches. Shaun Thomas at line 2, came from a set down to clinch a marvellous nail-biting victory 3-6, 6-4, 10-4. Jack Saffin played hard at line 3 but came up against a brick wall going down in two straight sets. Jack McMeniman also found it tough losing in two at line 4.

The day concluded however with a great win from James Roberts-Thomson (6-2, 6-4) at line 1 in another high quality match. This placed Hutchins at a dead even 3 rubbers all, but sadly after count back, Scotch were victorious winning 7 sets to 6 sets.

Hutchins Seconds

Hutchins had two teams in the SATIS Seconds roster. Hutchins Black (Harrison Hughes, Charles Dargaville, Julian Brown, Thomas Misson, Oliver Burke and Luke McKay) came top of the roster. Second were Hutchins Magenta, made up of the top Year 8 and 9 players – Samuel Crofts, James Briant, Connor Jimmieson, Nicholas McVilly and Justin Heatley-Hart.

The Hutchins Black team played Launceston Church Grammar in the Seconds state final. Harrison Hughes and Charles Dargaville had a great tussle in the top doubles going down 2-6, 4-6. Julian Brown and Oliver Burke, won 6-3, 7-6. In the singles Harrison led the charge, winning in a third set super tie-break 3-6, 6-2, 10-8. Thomas Misson played some power tennis to win in two sets 6-0, 7-6. The final was secured when Julian Brown prevailed in his rubber 7-5, 6-2. Charles narrowly missed out on making it a clean sweep of the singles losing his match in a third set super tie-breaker 3-6, 6-4, 8-10. The final match score saw Hutchins Seconds winning the state final by 4 rubbers, 9 sets to 2 rubbers, 5 sets.

Hutchins Thirds

Two Hutchins teams competed in the Thirds roster, the Year 12 Hutchins Black and the Year 11 Hutchins Magenta. Both teams performed very well and finished one and two on the ladder. In the final the Year 12 team of Alexander Murphy, Nathan Taylor, Raajaan Ram and Milos Nikolic were just able to secure victory in a close final match 4 rubbers to 2 against Alexander Colbert, Matthew Keep, Kok-Chang (Gary) Chow, Ehsan Soltani and Won Goh.

Years 9 and 10 Hutchins Pennant

James Thomas, James Wheller, Callum Sinclair-Gibson and Roman Marsh were too strong for their opponents, winning all their matches. Matthew Allanby had the best individual percentage, winning 77% of his games at line 1.

Hutchins Tennis Championships

Senior School Champion: James Roberts-Thomson defeated Jack Saffin 6-3. Middle School Champion: Patrick Noonan defeated Connor Jimmieson 7-6 (12-10).

Term 3 Friday Twilight Pennant

Congratulations to the Hutchins Division 2 team, Omega, who were the only Hutchins team to make the final play-off across 3 divisions of the Inter-Club Junior Pennant. Unfortunately the team of Mackenzie Clutterbuck, Oliver and Hugh Johnston, Benjamin Thomas, Benjamin Watkins, and Henry Forbes-Smith lost the final to Sunshine 6 sets to 2.

State Representatives

James Roberts-Thomson is currently ranked number one in Tasmania in his age group. Earlier this year he was selected in the Tasmanian Pizzezy Cup team.

WATER POLO

2009 has been a fantastic year for Hutchins Water Polo with a large number of teams experiencing success throughout the rostered season and in some cases the finals.

In Year 7/8 we entered two teams, one coached by Alexander Hay and Andre Postma and the other coached by Jack Bishop and James Waldron. The process all begins at a young age and this year both 7/8 teams showed endeavour to improve skills and team work both in and out of the pool. They both performed consistently throughout the season with the Black team making it to the semi final and the Magenta team placing sixth. Standout players included Cameron Brumby and George White for Black and Samuel Lopa for Magenta.

In the 9/10 roster we entered three teams rather than the usual two due to the large numbers of students wishing to play Water Polo, some for the first time. Magenta was coached by Simon Hay and 2008 Leaver, Tom Nesbitt. They had a successful season making it through to the grand final where unfortunately they were defeated by a powerful Mackillop team. Standout players included Alexander Hay, Andre Postma, William Polglase and Samuel Heron. Alexander Hay also won the competition's Most Valuable Player award, a fantastic achievement. The Black and Gold teams also had positive seasons showing great improvement and development as the year progressed. Gold was coached by James Heron, Nathan Holloway and David Stalker, while Black was coached by Nicholas Cannell and Beau Rogers. All teams put in a fantastic effort throughout the year and displayed high levels of skill. I have no doubt they will continue to do well in the future and carry on Hutchins' traditional Water Polo dominance.

The Firsts have had a mixed season with some fantastic victories and some equally devastating loses. With each player willing to work hard we developed into quite a powerful team combining players with vast experience and knowledge of the game with some new and skilful additions.

After a slow start to the season we began to improve and learn each other's strengths and weaknesses. The end of the rostered season saw Hutchins in third place, however we finished with a four game winning streak. We took this strong form into the first semi final defeating the Guilford Young College Year 12 team in a well fought out match. This pitted us against the Guilford Year 11 team for the final and they were definitely the favourites finishing on top of the ladder. The game was ferocious with Hutchins taking an early 2-0 lead before Guilford levelled the scores at half time. Another goal each saw the scores equalised again at 3-3 when in the final seconds of the game a penalty was awarded to Hutchins just as the clock expired. This penalty, if converted would win the game for Hutchins. Unfortunately the penalty narrowly missed, meaning two halves of extra time would be needed to break the deadlock. At the end the scores were again level, this time at 5-5. A penalty shoot out resulted and five of our best shooters were chosen; unfortunately both sides converted three of their penalties meaning the scores were still level.

For the first time in the School competition the final would be decided on a Golden Goal penalty shoot out, the first team to miss would lose the game. It was down to the wire with neither team missing until on the fourth Guilford penalty our goal keeper Beau Rogers pulled off a fantastic save giving us the win after an incredibly long and hard match. This victory was made all the more sweet by the fact that Hutchins had not won the shield since 2005. Jack Bishop was also named the College Boys Most Valuable Player. Special commendations also go to Lewis Stadler, Nicholas Cannell, James Heron, Jack Bishop, Beau Rogers and Simon Hay who were each awarded a Cap.

Special thanks must go to Scott Wilson and Nathaniel Symmons, both Old Boys of the School, whose skill and experience have proven invaluable as coaches, to Mrs Smithies for managing the 7/8 teams, to Mr McNamara who managed the 9/10 teams and Firsts and finally all the supporters who attended our matches – it was greatly appreciated.
